NEW YORK GIANTS ADMINISTRATION

WELLINGTON MARA
PRESIDENT & CO-CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER

No one in the history of professional sports has enjoyed a career quite like that of Wellington T. Mara. This is the 78th consecutive season in which he is associated with the Giants. The city of New York was introduced to professional football on Oct. 18, 1925, when the New York Giants played their first home game against the Frankford Yellow Jackets. It was on that day that Mara, then nine years old, began a lifetime in football that has been dedicated to the Giants and the National Football League.

In 1930, Timothy J. Mara, who had purchased the franchise in 1925, turned over the ownership to his two sons, Jack, 22 and Wellington, who was then 14. Thus began a storied career in ownership that continues today. During that time, Mara has been the foundation of the franchise, and for many years he was the chief decision-maker on all football matters. Although he now leaves most football decisions to others, he remains a strong and vital presence in the organization.

Because of his extensive background in the development and growth of the National Football League, Mara is recognized as one of the league's most respected and influential leaders. He has been instrumental in the outstanding accomplishments of the Giants: 18 NFL Divisional championships and six NFL championships, including the Super Bowl XXI and Super Bowl XXV championship titles. Mara was elected into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1997. Mara and his father, who was a charter member of the Hall of Fame, were the first father and son to be accorded pro football's highest honor. They now share that mark of distinction with Art and Dan Rooney of the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Mara has been involved in every aspect of operating the Giants during almost eight decades with the team. His first job was a ballboy at training camp. In time he graduated to the on-the-field operations to scouting and general organization, and eventually to the front office executive capacity, where he now serves as President and Co-Chief Executive Officer. The only interruption in Mara's Giants career was during World War II, when he served with distinction for more than three years in the Navy, seeing action in both the Atlantic and Pacific theaters aboard aircraft carriers and emerging as a Lieutenant Commander.

In addition to serving the Giants admirably for so many years, Mara has also been an invaluable contributor to league efforts as a member of many ownership committees. Indeed, he has always put the league's interests ahead of what was best for the Giants. From 1971 until 1977, he was Chairman of the Executive Committee of the NFL Management Council, the labor arm of the NFL, and it was under his leadership that the league achieved five years of labor peace from 1977 to 1982. Mara was elected President of the National Football Conference in 1984, succeeding the late George Halas in that role. Mara is currently a member of the Hall of Fame committee, as well as the Executive Committee of the Management Council. He was a member of the Competition Committee, replacing Vince Lombardi after his death, for one year before leaving to join the Management Council.

WELLINGTON MARA

In 1925, Wellington's father, Tim, purchased the Giants franchise to establish a New York entry in the fledgling National Football League. The Mara family's presence has been constant with the Giants since then. Jack Mara, served as the club's President until his death in 1965. After Jack's death, his son Tim served as Vice President and Treasurer of the team until Bob Tisch purchased the Jack Mara holdings in 1991. Today, two of Wellington's sons are important members of the organization: John as Executive Vice President and General Counsel and Frank as Director of Promotions.

Until 1965, Wellington Mara was responsible for the franchise's football decisions, while Jack Mara handled the business operations of the team. The Giants played in five NFL Championship Games from 1958-63 and a key to that success were trades engineered by Mara that brought Y.A. Tittle, Andy Robustelli, Del Shofner, Dick Modzelewski, Pat Summerall, Joe Walton, Dick Lynch, Erich Barnes, Bill Svoboda, Harland Svare, Bob Schnelker, Herb Rich, Ed Hughes and Walt Yowarsky, among others, to the Giants. Draft choices Frank Gifford and Rosie Brown went on to become members of the Pro Football Hall of Fame, as did Tuffy Leemans, whom Wellington recommended in 1936.

Wellington T. Mara, whose nickname is "Duke," was born on Aug. 14, 1916 in New York City. He graduated from Loyola High School before matriculating to Fordham University, where he earned his degree in 1937. His brother, Jack, preceded him to Fordham , where he earned a law degree. But Wellington was only interested in joining his father with the Giants and did so immediately after graduation. He has been with the organization ever since.

Wellington married the former Ann Mumm in 1954 and the Maras have 11 children: John Kevin, Susan Ann, Timothy Christopher, Stephen Vincent, Francis Xavier, Sheila Marie, Kathleen Mary, Maureen Elizabeth, Ann Marie, Meghan Ann, and Colleen Elizabeth. The Maras, who reside in Rye, N.Y., also have 37 grandchildren.

THE ORIGINAL GIANTS-THE 1925 TEAM

NEW YORK GIANTS ADMINISTRATION

PRESTON ROBERT TISCH
CHAIRMAN & CO-CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER

Preston Robert Tisch realized a longtime dream in 1991, when he became Co-Owner of one of New York City's and professional sports' premier franchises, the New York Giants. Soon after the Giants won Super Bowl XXV, Tisch completed negotiations with Tim Mara and his family for a 50% interest in the team. That commenced Tisch's career as an owner of a professional sports franchise, which is one of many careers he simultaneously pursues.

At Loews Corporation, one of the country's most successful financial companies, Mr. Tisch serves as Co-Chairman and Director. The Company, with 2001 revenues of $19.4 billion and assets exceeding $75 billion, owns and operates Loews Hotels; the Lorillard Tobacco Company; 89% of CNA Financial Corporation; 97% of Bulova Corporation; and 53% Diamond Offshore Drilling, Inc.

The Company's history dates back to a summer camp in New Jersey run by Mr. Tisch and his brother Laurence, followed by the purchase of a hotel in Lakewood, N.J. and the formation of Tisch Hotels, Inc.

In 1959, the Tisch brothers bought controlling interest in Loews Theaters, Inc., a real estate-rich theatre chain. In 1971, after Loews acquired Lorillard Tobacco, its name was changed to Loews Corporation.

Mr. Tisch served as Postmaster General of the United States from August 1986 until returning to New York in March 1988. Prior to his appointment as Postmaster, he served as President and Chief Operating Officer of Loews Corporation and its corporate predecessor, Loews Theatres, Inc., a position held from 1960 until his appointment as Co-Chairman and Co-CEO.

Throughout his career, Tisch has been a tireless and influential participant in civic affairs. In February, 2000, he helped found Take the Field, Inc., a non-profit corporation dedicated to renovating and rebuilding the athletic fields at New York City's public high schools. Tisch, a product of those schools, is Chairman of Take the Field, Inc. He helped launch the organization with a $1 million donation. The city contributes $3 to Take the Field for every $1 of private money the corporation receives.

Tisch served as Chairman of the New York Convention & Visitors Bureau for 19 years and currently serves as the Bureau's Chairman Emeritus. He was also founding Chairman of the New York City Convention and Exhibition Center Corporation and Chairman of the Citizens Committee for the Democratic National Conventions held in New York City in 1976 and 1980.

In May 1990, Mayor David Dinkins appointed Tisch New York City's Ambassador to Washington. Through 1993, he served as a liaison between the City of New York and his friends and colleagues in both the national government in Washington and the business community in New York City.

From 1990-1993, Tisch served as Chairman of the New York City Partnership, Inc. and the New York Chamber of Commerce and Industry, where he was instrumental in developing a campaign to enhance New York's position as an international business center. He remains an active member of both organizations, where he continues to serve on their Boards of Directors. A founding Co-Chairman of Citymeals-on-Wheels, he served as President of the Board of Directors for 8 years, and continues as an active Board member and Honorary Chairman, He also served as chairman of Public Private Initiative, a public private partnership that raises funds for important community programs from 1997-1998.

Tisch currently serves on the Board of Directors of Hasbro, Inc, and is a trustee of New York University. He also served on the organizing committee for the 1990 Economic Summit of Industrialized Nations held in Houston.

In addition to these involvements, Mr. Tisch makes considerable time for the Giants. In his role as Chairman and Co-Chief Executive Officer, he visits his office at Giants Stadium each week and attends every game, both home and away. As a member of the National Football League's Finance Committees, he's attained a prominence in the sports arena equal to his position in the world of business.

Mr. Tisch was born in New York City. He attended Bucknell University before entering the Army in 1944. After military service in World War II, he earned a B.A. degree in economics from the University of Michigan in 1948. Mr. Tisch is married to the former Joan Hyman, and they have three children: Steven, Laurie and Jonathan, who is Treasurer of the Giants. Mr. Tisch lives with his wife in New York City and Rye, New York.

THE 1933 TEAM

NEW YORK GIANTS ADMINISTRATION

JOHN K. MARA

In his present position, Mara, who joined the Giants in 1991, is responsible for all administrative, legal and financial aspects of the organization.

Mara also serves on the influential NFL Competition Committee, which studies all aspects of the game and recommends rules and policy changes to NFL clubs.

Mara was born in New York City on Dec. 1, 1954, grew up in Westchester County in White Plains, and graduated from Iona Prep High School in New Rochelle. He attended Boston College where he received a B.S. degree in Marketing, graduating with Cum Laude honors in 1976. NEW YORK GIANTS ADMINISTRATION

JONATHAN M. TISCH
TREASURER

Jonathan M. Tisch joined the Giants in February 1991 and immediately began his role as Treasurer. In addition to serving on the Giants Board of Directors, Tisch is Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of Loews Hotels, and he has been at the helm of the company since 1989. In addition, as part of a management succession plan that was announced in November 1998, Tisch was appointed to the newly created Office of the President for the Hotel's parent company -- Loews Corporation. Tisch also serves on the Corporation's Board of Directors.

During his tenure, Tisch has been instrumental in overseeing the company's largest expansion in its history, and its subsequent emergence as one of the country's leading luxury hotel chains. Blending a cutting edge approach to marketing and operations with a conservative development philosophy, he is recognized as one of the industry's leading authorities.

Underscoring his presence as an industry leader, Tisch has served since 1995 as Chairman of the Travel Business Roundtable, a prominent coalition of chief executives representing various sectors of the travel and tourism industry. Also since 1995, he has served as the Chairman of the Annual New York University International Hospitality Industry Investment Conference, considered to be one of the premier forums for the lodging industry's highest ranking executives. Tisch also served a five-year term as an officer of the American Hotel & Lodging Association, culminating in his Chairmanship of the organization in 1997.

In addition to focusing on the national industry, Tisch is committed to a vibrant tourism industry in New York City, where he serves Chairman of NYC & Company, the local convention and visitors bureau. Concurrent with his national efforts to help stimulate the travel and tourism in the aftermath of September 11th, Tisch was asked to serve as Chairman of "New York Rising", a task force set up by NYC & Company, to help rebuild the city by reviving the local travel and tourism industry. To further that effort, Tisch also serves on the Tourism Advisory Council of the Lower Manhattan Development Corporation, the entity established to rebuild Lower Manhattan.

As a result of his leadership and dedication to the travel industry, as well as for his commitment to social responsibility and community outreach, Tisch has received numerous honors and accolades and has been particularly recognized for his leadership in the aftermath of September 11th. He was recently named "Top 10 Most Influential Business People in New York" by Crain's New York Business and was previously recognized as one of their "All Stars". He was also selected as "Hotel Person of the Year" by Travel Agent magazine and one of the Top 25 Travel Executives of 2001 by Business Travel News, and one of Hospitality Design's "Industry 20", a selection of individuals who represent lodging's most innovative and cutting edge leaders.

Taking a lead role in one of the nation's current social issues, Tisch is the Vice-Chairman of The Welfare to Work Partnership and has served on its Board of Directors since 1997. He is also actively involved in several community and philanthropic activities. Tisch currently serves on the Board of Trustees for Tufts University, as well as the

JONATHAN TISCH

Board of Directors of the Elizabeth Glaser Pediatric AIDS Foundation, the VH1 Save the Music Foundation, and the Business Council for the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

Continually seeking opportunities to boost New York City's image as the mecca for the entertainment industry, he spearheaded several efforts to bring the Grammy Awards to the City, including their return in February 2003. As in previous years, Tisch will serve as Co-Chair of the Host Committee. In recognition of his commitment to New York City, Tisch recently received the "Leadership Award" from New York Cares and in previous years, he received the "New Yorker for New York" award from The Citizens Committee for New York City and the New York Society of Association Executives' "Outstanding New Yorker" award.

A graduate of Tufts University, Tisch was the recipient of the Alumni Association's 1996 "Distinguished Alumni Award." During his years in Boston, Tisch's affection for the television and film industry was ignited. He received two Emmy nominations for his work as a cinematographer/producer at WBZ-TV.

NEW YORK GIANTS ADMINISTRATION

ERNIE ACCORSI
VICE PRESIDENT & GENERAL MANAGER

Ernie Accorsi is beginning his fifth year as general manager of the New York Giants. He joined the club in 1994 as assistant general manager to George Young and became general manager on Jan. 8, 1998. He previously served as general manager for two other National Football League clubs, the Baltimore Colts (1982-83) and Cleveland Browns (1985-92).

In his last 11 years as a general manager with the Browns and Giants, Accorsi has had six playoff teams, including five division champions. He is one of only four general managers who have had teams play in four championship games, won a conference championship and had a team play in the Super Bowl. The others are Don Klosterman, Bobby Beathard and Bill Polian.

Accorsi, the senior G.M. in the NFL, passed the 100-victory mark as an NFL general manager last season. The Giants, Browns and Colts have won a combined 104 games under his stewardship.

"I believe this job is a privilege," Accorsi said. "For someone who first saw the New York Giants play in his hometown of Hershey, Pa. in a preseason game in 1951 against the Philadelphia Eagles, the dream that you could be in this position is really more than you could ever expect."

Although the Giants were 7-9 last season, Accorsi helped give the team a promising future by drafting talented youngsters such as Will Allen, William Peterson and Jesse Palmer.

Accorsi enjoyed an outstanding and memorable 2000 season. The Giants were 12-4 and NFC East champions in the regular season and defeated Philadelphia and Minnesota in the playoffs to reach the Super Bowl for the first time in a decade – with a roster in which 66 percent of the players were acquired by Accorsi after he succeeded Young.

Following the season Accorsi received many honors. He was named the winner of the Lamar Hunt Award as the Pro Football Executive of the Year, which is presented by the All-American Football Foundation. Accorsi was also named Football Executive of the Year by the New Jersey Sportswriters Association, which said Accorsi was the "unsung hero" of the Giants march to the Super Bowl.

Accorsi was the recipient of the first John Steadman Award presented by the Ed Block Courage Award Foundation, an award that honors an individual who "continually demonstrates professional excellence and epitomizes the values of courage, character, compassion, commitment and service to the community." Accorsi was a close friend of Steadman, the much-loved Baltimore sports columnist who passed away in January, 2000. Accorsi had been affiliated with the Ed Block Foundation since its inception in 1978.

In addition, Accorsi received the Jack Horrigan Award, which is presented by the Professional Football Writers Association of America to the NFL official who is most helpful and cooperative to reporters covering the league. Accorsi is widely known as one of the most accessible, candid and personable executives in professional sports.

Accorsi was Executive Vice President/Football Operations for the Cleveland Browns from 1985 until he resigned in 1992. During that time, the Browns made five straight playoff appearances, including four AFC Central titles and three appearances in the AFC Championship Game. With the Browns, Accorsi made the delicate and important supplemental draft trade that gave Cleveland the rights to then sophomore Bernie Kosar in the spring of 1985. Kosar joined the team in the summer, and the Browns went on to win four AFC Central titles and made the playoffs a fifth time as a Wild Card team.

ERNIE ACCORSI

After leaving the Browns, Accorsi served as a special advisor to Maryland Governor William Donald Schaefer on NFL expansion. In that capacity, he was responsible for selling all 100 sky suites for the proposed NFL football stadium, as well as all 7,500 club seats. The sky suites were sold out in six weeks, while the club seating sold out in eight weeks. In addition, he also raised commitments of $51 million for Baltimore's Expansion Efforts Premium Seating Campaign. Immediately before joining the Giants, Accorsi was Executive Director of Business Affairs for the Baltimore Orioles of Major League Baseball.

Accorsi began his NFL career as the Baltimore Colts public relations director in 1970 and has since worked in virtually every phase of the football business. After working in Baltimore for five years, he went to the NFL office, where he worked on Commissioner Pete Rozelle's staff as assistant to the president of the National Football Conference in 1975 and 1976. He returned to the Colts organization in 1977 as the team's assistant general manager. Accorsi later became the Colts last general manager in Baltimore for two years, 1982 and 1983, prior to joining the Browns organization.

Accorsi was born in Hershey, Pa., where he played baseball all the way to the American Legion level. A 1963 graduate of Wake Forest University, Accorsi worked as a sports writer for the Charlotte News, Baltimore Sun and Philadelphia Inquirer. One of his first assignments in Charlotte was to interview Archibald (Moonlight) Graham, then 86, a former Charlotte minor-leaguer who played in one major-league game in 1905. A quarter-century later, Graham achieved some measure of fame in the movie, "Field of Dreams" as the obscure player upon whom Burt Lancaster's character was based. Five years after writing about Graham, Accorsi broke the story of Wilt Chamberlain's trade to the Los Angeles Lakers.

After leaving the newspaper business, Accorsi worked in the athletic departments at St. Joseph's University in Philadelphia and Penn State University before joining the NFL.

Accorsi is a passionate sports fan with a strong sense of history and an appreciation for the games themselves. He relishes retelling stories of an event he attended 40 years ago or a nugget he heard on a sports highlights show the previous night. His first NFL game was a pre-season contest in Hershey between the Detroit Lions and New York Bulldogs. A year later he traveled to Philadelphia for his first major league baseball game and saw Jackie Robinson steal home. He still regrets not being in Hershey the night Chamberlain scored 100 points there in 1962; Accorsi was away at college.

One of his most memorable moments as a sports fan occurred when he was with the Colts in 1982, and the producers of a film to be set in the city gave the Colts a quiz about the team that was to be used in the movie. In the film a prospective bride had to answer the questions before her Colts fan boyfriend would marry her. Accorsi read the test, deemed it far too easy, then rewrote it. The quiz scene became the one of the most memorable in the hit movie, "Diner."

Accorsi has three children: Michael, a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh who holds a Master's degree from the University of Virginia and currently teaches history at Junipero Serra High School in San Mateo, Calif.; Patrick, a graduate of the University of Maryland, is a buyer with QVC at their headquarters in West Chester, Pa.; and Sherlyn, a graduate of Penn State University, who is a sales and marketing director for J and J Haimes Co. in Mountville, Pa.

NEW YORK GIANTS ADMINISTRATION

KEVIN ABRAMS
ASSISTANT GENERAL MANAGER

Kevin Abrams begins his first season as the Giants Assistant General after serving for three years as the team's salary cap analyst.

"The promotion of Kevin Abrams signifies the vital importance of cap management in our business now," General Manager Ernie Accorsi said. "Kevin's expertise has been a valuable addition to the Giants."

In his new position, Abrams' responsibilities will include salary cap management and forecasting, contract negotiations and coordinating the Giants' compliance with the NFL's Collective Bargaining Agreement.

In July of 1999, Abrams was hired to fill the newly created position of Salary Cap Analyst. He came to the Giants from the NFL Management Council, where he helped to monitor the league-wide salary cap and analyzed all new player contracts with respect to the rules and regulations of the Collective Bargaining Agreement.

Abrams was born in Toronto on Aug. 18, 1971. He completed his undergraduate degree at the University of Western Ontario, and earned his Master's of Sports Administration from Ohio University.

HEAD COACH

In five seasons with the Giants, Jim Fassel has established himself as one of the finest coaches in the NFL and one of the most successful coaches in the long history of the Giants. He has led the Giants to two NFC East championships, a conference title and an appearance in Super Bowl XXXV and an overall regular season record of 44-35-1.

Fassel will enter the 2002 season as one of just seven coaches to remain with the same team for six consecutive years. The others are Denver's Mike Shanahan, Jacksonville's Tom Coughlin, Tennessee's Jeff Fisher, San Francisco's Steve Mariucci, Pittsburgh's Bill Cowher and Atlanta's Dan Reeves. Fassel joins Mariucci and Reeves as the longest-tenured coaches with one team in the NFC. With his 44 victories, Fassel is the fifth-winningest coach in Giants history, trailing only Steve Owen (153), Bill Parcells (77), Allie Sherman (57) and Jim Lee Howell (53). In addition, Fassel, who is 2-2 in the playoffs, joins Owen, Parcells and Howell as the only Giants coaches to win more than one postseason game.

The Giants have composed several impressive accomplishments under Fassel. They are 15-4 in regular-season December games in the last five years, a .789 winning percentage that is the best in the NFL over that span. Fassel is 26-13-1 in games against NFC East opponents, a .663 winning percentage in division games that is the third-highest among active coaches with more than 20 division games. Only Marty Schottenheimer, at .672, and Brian Billick, at .667, have a higher winning percentage in division games (minimum 20 games). Under Fassel, the Giants are 29-3 in games in which they lead at halftime, 34-4 in games in which they lead after three periods and 32-8 in games in which they score first. They are 32-12-1 when they rush for more than 100 yards and 36-10-1 when they hold the opposition to less than 100 yards on the ground.

Few teams have taken care of the football as well as the Giants have under Fassel. In his five years at the helm, the Giants turnover differential is +25, placing them third in the NFC and seventh in the NFL in that important category. In Fassel's 80 regular season games as head coach, the Giants have committed 128 turnovers, or 1.60 a game. According to the Elias Sports Bureau, Fassel is fifth among head coaches who began their career since 1970 in fewest turnovers per game, trailing only Steve Mariucci, Tom Coughlin, Barry Switzer and Wade Phillips.

Fassel's Giants have also played well defensively. In his first five seasons the Giants totaled 230 quarterback sacks, the NFL's third-highest total. Over those same 80 games, the Giants allowed an average of 96.4 rushing yards per game, placing them first in the NFC and fifth in the NFL.

In 2001, the Giants were 7-9 and finished third in the NFC East. The Giants enjoyed their finest season under Fassel in 2000, finished the regular season with a 12-4 record, the division title and the conference championship. That was also the season Fassel made one of the most famous guarantees in recent sports history. On Nov. 19, 2000, the Giants fell behind Detroit, 28-0, on their way to a 31-21 loss to the Lions. It was the Giants second home loss in as many weeks and left the team with a 7-4 record. The Giants were in danger of missing the playoffs. But three days after the Detroit game, Fassel stepped to the podium at his regular Wednesday news conference and made the startling announcement that turned the season around. Fassel guaranteed that the Giants would make the playoffs. That demonstration of faith in his team set the tone for the rest of the season. Imbued with greater confidence, the players responded by winning the final five games of the regular season to win their second NFC East championship under Fassel and earned them the top seed in the NFC Playoffs. The Giants then defeated Philadelphia and Minnesota to advance to Super Bowl XXXV against Baltimore.

Although the Giants suffered a 34-7 loss to the Ravens, Fassel is as determined to win a championship as he was the day he made his guarantee.

Last year, the Giants opened the regular season on Monday night, Sept. 10, against the Denver Broncos in brand new Invesco Field at Mile High. They trailed, 7-0 and 14-7, and tied the score each time on a Kerry Collins touchdown pass to Amani Toomer. But the Broncos scored 17 unanswered points in the second half to win, 31-20 loss.

Shortly after dawn the following morning, the Giants charter flight landed at Newark Airport. Within hours, the world had changed because of the terrorist attacks in New York and Washington. Some players have homes with a view of Manhattan and watched the disaster unfold. Everyone on the team was profoundly affected by the events of Sept. 11. As citizens, the Giants' response was exemplary. They spent hours and hours with families and children and visiting firehouses and hospitals.

As football players, they took a week off with the rest of the NFL. When they returned to work, it was difficult to focus on football. "I don't know how much Sept. 11 wore on the team," Fassel said. "But it was hard for anyone to concentrate."

When play resumed, the Giants won three consecutive games, beating Kansas City, New Orleans and Washington. They then suffered back-to-back heartbreaking 1-point losses to St. Louis and Philadelphia, as well as a defeat in Washington, to fall to 3-4. The Giants rebounded with victories over Dallas (overcoming a pair of 17-point deficits to win in overtime) and Arizona to lift themselves back into playoff contention. But the Giants then suffered losses to Minnesota, Oakland and Dallas. They returned home to pull out dramatic, last-minute victories over Arizona and Seattle before closing the season with losses to Philadelphia and Green Bay.

In 1999, the Giants finished an injury-plagued season at 7-9. The Giants entered the final three weeks of that season with a 7-6 record, but dropped their last three games to go 7-9. A three-game winning streak in October, capped by a 23-17 overtime victory at Philadelphia, left the Giants 5-3 midway through the season and positioned them for a run at their second NFC East title in Fassel's three seasons.

After the bye week, however, the Giants lost three straight to fall to 5-6. Fassel improved his December head coaching record to a sparkling 9-0 after victories over the New York Jets and Buffalo Bills, but the season-ending three-game losing streak dashed the Giants postseason hopes.

In 1998, the Giants finished 8-8. After starting the campaign with a 3-7 record, Fassel's leadership was evident with a 5-1 finish, which included a 20-16 victory over the previously undefeated and eventual Super Bowl Champion Denver Broncos. The Giants entered the final week of the season needing a victory over the Philadelphia Eagles, combined with a loss by Tampa Bay and Arizona, to qualify for the third Wild Card spot in the NFC playoff field. The Giants beat the Eagles at Veterans Stadium, but the Buccaneers and Cardinals were victorious to end the Giants playoff hopes.

Fassel was named the 15th head coach in Giants history on January 15, 1997 and led his squad to a 10-5-1 record and a berth in the playoffs while capturing the NFC East Championship. He became only the 12th NFL head coach to win a division title in his first season since the 1970 merger. Although they suffered through key injuries (Brian Williams-eye, Ike Hilliard-neck), the Giants overcame a 1-3 start and went 9-2-1 over the rest of the year. Fassel was named NFL Coach of the Year by numerous media outlets, including The Sporting News (as voted by NFL coaches), after helping the Giants improve from a 6-10 record and a last place finish in the NFC East in 1996. Under Fassel's guidance, the Giants became the 15th team in NFL history to finish in first place in their division the season after finishing in last place. The worst-to-first turnaround has occurred 13 times, including the 1997 Giants, since the 1970 merger. Fassel's group finished with a 7-0-1 Division record and became the first team ever to go undefeated in NFC East Division play.

COACHING HISTORY

The 1997 season marked Fassel's return to the Giants organization. He entered the NFL as an assistant coach with the Giants in 1991 as quarterbacks coach, then as offensive coordinator in 1992. Following his service with the Giants, Fassel spent two campaigns as assistant head coach/offensive coordinator for the Denver Broncos in 1993 and 1994. He spent the 1995 season as quarterbacks coach for the Oakland Raiders and was offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach for the Arizona Cardinals in 1996.

Since Jim Fassel became coach in 1997, the Giants are 15-4 in regular season games in December, the best record in the major leagues.

Before coming to the Giants as head coach, Fassel built a reputation for an ability to develop quarterbacks. Under Fassel's guidance, Broncos quarterback John Elway enjoyed his finest season as a pro in 1993, earning honors that included the AFC Player-of-the-Year and Most Valuable Player. Elway led the AFC in all six major passing categories. The Broncos offense ranked third in the AFC and fifth in the NFL and scored 373 points to rank first in the conference and third in the league. In 1996 with the Cardinals, Fassel tutored Kent Graham into a solid player and helped rejuvenate veteran Boomer Esiason. The Cardinals finished sixth in passing offense in 1996.

Fassel earned the label "quarterback guru," but upon his return to the Giants, he quickly showed that he is a complete coach.

"Anybody who's a first-time head coach in this league and gets the job from the assistant ranks -and primarily it's from a coordinator's job - you're on one side of the ball or the other, and you're labeled," said Fassel. "You're either the defensive guy or the offensive guru. You have to establish yourself beyond that."

A former collegiate quarterback at Fullerton College, Fassel began coaching in 1973 at his alma mater, then was a player-coach for the Hawaii Hawaiians of the World Football League in 1974. He coached quarterbacks and receivers at Utah in 1976, then served seven seasons as offensive coordinator at both Weber State (1977-78) and Stanford (1979-83). At Stanford Fassel was credited with recruiting and coaching Elway, who finished second in the balloting for the Heisman Trophy as a senior in 1982. It was also at Stanford that Fassel's offensive system began to take shape. Fassel adapted his offense from Stanford head coach Bill Walsh, who would later lead San Francisco to three Super Bowl titles.

Fassel's second stint in professional football was in 1984 as offensive coordinator for the New Orleans Breakers of the USFL. From there he returned to Utah as the school's head coach from 1985-89 where he recruited and coached future NFL quarterback Scott Mitchell. En route to the NFL under Fassel's tutelage, Mitchell set 10 NCAA and five Western Athletic Conference records in addition to virtually every school passing record. Fassel's Utah experience taught him to be more hands-on in his approach to handling the team.

"The one thing I said when I took the Giants job that was very, very important to me was that I'm going to be around, and I'm going to coach this football team, and I'm not going to be an aloof head coach," said Fassel. "I'm going to be active on the field, I'm going to be active in the meetings. That gives me a better sense for them."

BACKGROUND

A native of Anaheim, California. Fassel was a standout quarterback at Anaheim High School before leading Fullerton College to a 25-1 record over two seasons and winning the junior college national championship in 1967. He also spent one season with Seattle Seahawks head coach Mike Holmgren at Southern California during the Trojans' Rose Bowl Championship season of 1969. Holmgren did not play in any games that year due to a shoulder injury. Fassel was a junior backup behind Jimmy Jones after transferring from Fullerton College.

He was drafted by Chicago in the seventh round of the 1972 NFL Draft and went to camp with the Chicago Bears, Houston Oilers and San Diego Chargers.

THE COACH AND HIS FAMILY

Fassel's arduous journey to the top of his profession includes 12 moves since he began coaching in 1973. Fassel and his family have made three stops in California and two in Utah. They lived in Hawaii, New Orleans, New Jersey, Colorado, Los Angeles and Arizona.

"Our family has always enjoyed new expriences," Fassel said. "For our kids, the world is not intimidating to them. They can go anywhere, talk about anything."

After his stint with the Hawaii Hawaiians, Fassel took a job as a saleman for an air-conditioning company in 1975. Miserable in the sales business, Fassel took his first full-time coaching job as quarterbacks and wide receivers coach at Utah, starting a career path that would culminate 22 years later when he was named head coach of the New York Giants.

Born August 31, 1949 in Anaheim, California, Fassel and his wife Kitty, have four children, John (1-10-74), Brian (12-22-75), Jana (10-31-78) and Mike (6-19-81).

It is an accomplished family. Jim received a Distinguished Alumnus award from Fullerton College. Kitty has a degree in Social Sciences from Ramapo College. John, who coached with the NFL Europe League last year, is teaching physical education at Idaho State University. Brian, who has a degree in communications from Seton Hall, works in production for NBC sports. Jana attends Fairleigh Dickinson University, where she is a member of the women's basketball team. Mike is junior at Boston College where he is a member of the football team.

BUD AND DOROTHY FASSEL

Jim Fassel's late father, Bud, was the assistant fire chief in his native Anaheim until his neighbor Claire Van Hoorebeke, the Anaheim High School football coach who would become a legend in southern California, hired the elder Fassel as a full-time equipment manager. Bud Fassel wanted to be a coach but he had been in the war and did not go to college to get his teaching certificate.

"If some kid wanted to quit, the coach would tell him to go turn in his uniform to my dad," said Fassel. "Nobody ever quit. Guys didn't get past my dad. He talked them out of it.

"I learned everything about how to relate to people from him. How to observe and get along with them, too."

The 1999 season was a difficult one for Fassel as his mother Dorothy passed away in November after a lengthy illness. Fassel likes to tell a couple stories about his mother, who was the receptionist for the California (now Anaheim) Angels in the 1980s. "Management decided that the players were making too many personal calls from the team's clubhouse just before games," says Fassel. "They wanted the players concentrating on the game. So they told my mom not to give anyone an outside line for a phone call if it was an hour or less before the game. Reggie Jackson called up one day and asked for an outside line and my mom wouldn't give it to him. Reggie said, 'Come on, Dorothy, it's me, Reggie.' But my mom said, 'You know the rules, Reggie.' Reggie hung up, and two minutes later the clubhouse boy called up and asked for an outside line. My mom said, 'Tell Reggie he still can't have an outside line.'"

Fassel also likes to recall the time when his father would ask his wife to make an extra sandwich each day to bring to school for lunch. Concerned that Bud had been gaining weight, Dorothy said, "Bud, you're eating too much and we can't afford it." She told him she would no longer make the sandwiches. Bud confessed that he wasn't the one eating the sandwiches. He was sneaking them in for a football player who didn' have enough money to purchase lunch. "When my mom heard that, she said, 'Well, I guess we've got enough money for that,' " says Fassel. "That's the kind of woman she was. She was very, very special."

HAL SHERBECK, FASSEL'S COACH AT FULLERTON

The team concept that no single player is bigger than the whole is an important element of Fassel's motivational technique. It was a lesson he learned from Hal Sherbeck, who was Fassel's head coach at Fullerton Junior College.

"We were going to play for the 1967 national championship," said Fassel. "And we used to dress 100 guys for each game. It was a big team, but coach Sherbeck never excluded anyone. He told us we were one team. The week before the game the officials told us that the rules said no more than 60 players could dress.

"They wouldn't budge on that rule. Coach Sherbeck told the guy in charge: 'Fine. We forfeit. You go give them the trophy for winning right now.' But then we're playing the game anyway. And we are dressing all 100 guys."

Jim Fassel is the fifth-winningest coach in the 78-year history of the Giants franchise.

ASSISTANT COACHES

JOHNNIE LYNN
DEFENSIVE COORDINATOR

Johnnie Lynn was named the Giants defensive coordinator on Feb. 7, 2002. He replaced John Fox, who left the Giants to assume the position of head coach with the Carolina Panthers. Lynn had spent the previous five seasons as the Giants secondary coach. With Lynn tutoring the defensive backs, the Giants consistently had one of the NFL's finest pass defenses. And they succeeded despite a cast of players that constantly changed.

Last season, Lynn incorporated two newcomers into his group: cornerbacks Will Allen and William Peterson, the team's top two draft choices. Allen started 12 games and led the Giants with four interceptions, while Peterson started three games and was a valuable contributor in the secondary.

Lynn was hired on Jan. 31, 1997 and joins Denny Marcin, Dave Brazil, John Dunn and Craig Stoddard as the only holdovers from Jim Fassel's original Giants staff. He was instrumental in the development in the Giants defensive backs, including Jason Sehorn, 1998 first-round draft choice Shaun Williams, Omar Stoutmire, Allen, Peterson, and former Giants Sam Garnes and Percy Ellsworth.

Last season, the Giants secondary helped hold eight opponents to less than 200 yards passing. Six different defensive backs intercepted at last one pass, led by Allen's team-leading total of four picks.

In the 2000 NFC Championship season, 10 opponents, including three in the playoffs, failed to gain 200 yards through the air.

Under Lynn, the secondary's finest moment occurred in the 2000 NFC Championship Game, when the Giants limited Minnesota to just 60 yards through the air. The Vikings had averaged 243.2 passing yards in their first 17 games. Minnesota's outstanding receiving duo of Randy Moss and Cris Carter combined for only five catches for 42 yards.

The defensive backfield enjoyed many fine games in 2001. On Oct. 7, the unit helped limit the Washington Redskins to only 124 net passing yards. Quarterback Tony Banks completed only 13 of 31 passes and Sehorn had two interceptions, including one he returned for a touchdown. The following week, the powerful St. Louis Rams failed to complete a touchdown pass against the Giants. In the next game, the Philadelphia Eagles were also limited to 124 passing yards. Arizona managed only 135 yards through the air and late in the season, Dallas, Arizona and Seattle failed to reach 200 passing yards in consecutive weeks.

Lynn's secondary also distinguished itself in the 2000 championship season. On. October 5, the defensive backs accounted for four of the Giants five interceptions of Troy Aikman in a victory over the Dallas Cowboys. In Week 16, Dallas played without Aikman and managed only 70 passing yards, a regular-season low for a Giants opponent. On October 29, Philadelphia quarterback Donovan McNabb was held to 10 completions in 31 attempts. The following week, the Cleveland Browns had just 152 net passing yards.

In 1997, Lynn's first season with the Giants, the team led the NFL with 27 interceptions, despite a secondary that was riddled with injuries to key personnel. Lynn's squad opened the season in dramatic fashion as Garnes intercepted a pass and returned it 95 yards for a touchdown to seal a win over Philadelphia in the season opener on Aug. 31, 1997. Sehorn intercepted a career-best six passes, the most by a Giant since Everson Walls' six thefts in 1990. He returned one for a 35-yard touchdown against the Washington Redskins on December 13.

Before joining the Giants, Lynn spent the 1996 season coaching the San Francisco 49ers defensive backs. He served in the same capacity for the Tampa Bay Buccaneers in 1994 and 1995.

ASSISTANT COACHES

Lynn spent seven seasons coaching in the collegiate ranks at the University of Arizona, beginning as a graduate assistant in 1987 before coaching the outside linebackers (1988-91) and defensive backs (1992-93).

Lynn was a standout defensive back, playing both cornerback and safety positions in the NFL for eight seasons with the New York Jets (1979-86) following his fourth-round selection out of UCLA. He instantly was a member of the starting defensive lineup as a rookie, and ended his career tenth on the Jets career interceptions list with 17 thefts. A four-year letterman at UCLA, Lynn played on four bowl teams and garnered All-Pac 10 Honors as a senior. Lynn earned his bachelor's degree in history.

Born Dec. 19, 1956 in Los Angeles, Lynn and his wife, Laurie, are the parents of three children: Ashley, Chazz and Cameron.

SEAN PAYTON

OFFENSIVE COORDINATOR/QUARTERBACKS

Sean Payton, regarded as one of the NFL's finest young offensive coaches, is in his fourth season with the Giants and his third full season as the offensive coordinator. Under Payton's tutelage, the Giants have had one of the NFL's most productive offenses, and quarterback Kerry Collins has posted franchise-record passing numbers.

Last season, the Giants finished ninth in the NFL in total yardage, averaging 333.4 yards a game. It was the Giants' highest ranking since the 1985 team finished fifth in the NFL in offense with an average of 367.8 yards a game. With Payton calling the shots, the Giants finished tied for eighth (with the Tennessee Titans) in passing yardage with an average of 222.4 per game.

Under Payton, Collins has become one of those most productive quarterbacks in Giants history. In 42 games with the Giants, including 39 starts, Collins is fourth on the team's career lists in pass attempts (1,428), fourth in completions (828), fifth in passing yards (9,692), and fifth in touchdown passes (49). Last season, Collins established team records with 568 pass attempts and 327 completions while throwing for a career-high 3,764 yards. Collins set an NFL record by becoming the first quarterback in league history to throw every one of his team's passes in two consecutive seasons.

Payton solidified his reputation as one of the NFL's best young offensive coaches in 2000 when the Giants captured the NFC Championship in his first full season as offensive coordinator. With Payton constructing game plans and calling plays, the Giants scored 328 points, the team's highest total since the 1990 Super Bowl champions scored 335. The Giants rushing yardage jumped from 24th to 11th in the NFL rankings, fueling a rise from 17th to 13th in total offense. Collins enjoyed one of the finest seasons of his career, throwing a career-best 22 touchdown passes. And in the NFC Championship Game, the Giants scored 41 points, including 34 in the first half.

Jim Fassel added Payton to his staff as the quarterbacks coach on Feb. 3, 1999, replacing Rod Dowhower, who left the Giants to become offensive coordinator for the Philadelphia Eagles. Prior to joining the Giants, Payton spent the 1997 and 1998 campaigns as the Eagles' quarterbacks coach.

Payton was first assigned play-calling duties by Fassel prior to a game against the Jets on Dec. 5, 1999. In that game, the Giants scored 41 points and gained 490 yards, both regular-season highs in the Fassel era. He retained that assignment through the season's final five games, then was appointed as the offensive coordinator after that season concluded. He remains the team's quarterbacks coach.

In Payton's first two seasons as the offensive coordinator, the Giants' passing attack ranked 13th and then tied for eighth in the NFL. In the 10 seasons prior to his arrival, it had never ranked higher than 20th.

The Giants offense enjoyed its finest hour under Payton in the 2000 NFC Championship Game against the Minnesota Vikings. With a berth in Super Bowl XXXV on the line, Collins completed 28 of 39 passes (71.8 percent) for 381 yards and five touchdowns. The completions, yards and touchdowns were all team postseason records.

The receivers have also flourished under Payton. In the last three seasons Amani Toomer has caught 229 passes (79 in 1999, 78 in 2000 and 72 in 2001) to become the first player in Giants history to catch at least 70 passes in each of three consecutive seasons. Toomer has totaled 1,183, 1,094 and 1,052 receiving yards to become the third Giant in history to have three consecutive 1,000-yard seasons.

ASSISTANT COACHES

Ike Hilliard has caught passes in 62 consecutive games in which he's appeared, a franchise record. Running back Tiki Barber established a franchise record for total yards in 2000 and has caught 208 passes and rushed for 2,129 yards the last three seasons.

Payton sandwiched two coaching stints at San Diego State University (1988-89, 1992-93) around a stop at Indiana State (1990-91). During his second term with the Aztecs, Payton served as the running backs coach, working directly with Heisman Trophy runner-up Marshall Faulk, now with the St. Louis Rams, before becoming the quarterbacks coach. In the latter role, Payton guided Tim Gutierrez to All-WAC honors in 1993.

Following the 1993 season, Payton moved to Miami of Ohio (1994-95) where he was the quarterbacks coach and offensive coordinator. He spent the 1996 season as quarterbacks coach at Illinois prior to entering the NFL with Philadelphia.

Payton earned a degree in communications at Eastern Illinois, where as a quarterback he amassed 10,665 yards passing, which was then the third-highest total in NCAA Division I-AA history. After leading all Division I-AA quarterbacks in passing in 1986, the three-time Associated Press All-American selection had brief stints with Chicago of the Arena League, Ottawa of the Canadian League and the Chicago Bears in 1987. Payton was inducted into the Eastern Illinois Hall of Fame in September of 2000.

Payton was born Dec. 29, 1963 in San Mateo, Calif. and raised in Naperville, Illinois. He and his wife, Beth, have a daughter, Meghan, who is five years old, and son, Connor Thomas, who is two.

DAVE BRAZIL
SENIOR DEFENSIVE ANALYST

Dave Brazil enters his 11th season as a Giants assistant coach, the longest tenure of any member of the coaching staff. He joins Johnnie Lynn, Denny Marcin, John Dunn and Craig Stoddard as the only holdovers from Jim Fassel's original staff in 1997.

Brazil joined the Giants staff in the spring of 1992 as the team's linebackers coach under Ray Handley. From January, 1993 through the 2001 season, Brazil served as the team's defensive quality control coach, first under Dan Reeves and then Fassel. Brazil and Fassel coached together on Handley's staff in 1992. This season, Brazil becomes the senior defensive analyst, with Rod Rust taking over as defensive quality control coach.

Prior to joining the Giants, Brazil was defensive coordinator of the Steelers in 1990 and 1991 under Chuck Noll. He joined Noll's staff in Pittsburgh as linebackers coach in 1989. The 1990 Steelers defense under Brazil finished first in the NFL, allowing the fewest overall yards and fewest passing yards in the league.

From 1984 through the 1988 season Brazil was a member of the Kansas City Chiefs coaching staff, first as secondary and then linebackers coach.

Before entering the NFL in 1984, Brazil was defensive coordinator at Kent State (1981-1982) and Boston College (1980). Brazil's first pro coaching experience was in the World Football League with the Detroit Wheels (1974) and the Chicago Wind (1975). Prior to joining the pro ranks, Brazil coached at Eastern Michigan (1971-1973), Tulsa (1969-1970) and Holy Cross (1968).

Brazil was born in Detroit, Michigan on March 25, 1936. He graduated from the University of Detroit with a business administration degree. Brazil has five children: daughters Kathleen and Mary Ann and sons Daniel, Thomas and Patrick, who works with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers as Assistant Video Director. Brazil's oldest son, Michael, passed away unexpectedly in July, 2000. Brazil's wife, Bridget, passed away in August, 2000.

JOHN DUNN
STRENGTH AND CONDITIONING

Since Jim Fassel's arrival in 1997, the Giants have had one of the NFL's best-conditioned teams. One of the important factors that enabled the Giants to win the 2000 NFC Championship was their good health. Because the Giants suffered few serious injuries, they were able to keep their best players on the field throughout the season. Part of that was due to good fortune. But much credit deservedly goes to John Dunn, the strength and conditioning coach who designed the off-season program that prepares the players for the long season ahead.

Dunn joined Fassel's staff on Jan. 23, 1997 and immediately installed the highly-successful program, which combines conventional exercises with higher-intensity exercises, which put less stress on the joints.

"We put our athletes in safe anatomical positions and work their different muscle groups to exhaustion," Dunn said. "We want to keep our players healthier by not wearing down their joint systems."

Dunn came to the Giants after serving as the strength and conditioning coach for the San Diego Chargers from 1990-96 and the Los Angeles Raiders from 1987-89. Dunn began his career in the NFL as an assistant strength coach with the Washington Redskins from 1984-86. He is currently one of just five holdover coaches from Fassel's original Giants staff. The others are Johnnie Lynn, Denny Marcin, Dave Brazil and Dunn's assistant, Craig Stoddard.

In 1994, Dunn was voted the National Football League's Professional Strength and Conditioning Coach of the Year by his peers.

Dunn graduated with a degree in health and physical education from Penn State University in 1978. He played defensive line his first two seasons (1974-75) before switching to offensive tackle as a junior and then to guard as a senior. He was nicknamed "Mother" during his freshman season by his senior teammates at Penn State. He was named offensive co-captain for the Nittany Lions his senior season. Dunn signed as a free agent with the Philadelphia Eagles in 1978. He returned to Penn State as the team's assistant offensive line coach in 1979.

He operated "Mother Dunn's Nautilus Club" in York, Pa., and Goshen, N.Y., before coming to the NFL in 1984.

Dunn was born on July 22, 1956 in Hillsdale, New York. He was a three-sport star, including a nationally-ranked shot putter, for Taconic Hills High in Philmont, New York. Dunn and his wife, Julia, have two daughters, Jessica and Taylor.

DENNY MARCIN
DEFENSIVE LINE

Since joining the Giants as their defensive line coach in 1997, Denny Marcin has helped make that unit one of the best and most consistent in the NFL.

In Marcin's first five years with the team, the Giants recorded 230 sacks, the third-highest total in the league over that span. Only New Orleans (270) and St. Louis (243) have more sacks since the start of the 1997 season.

Under Marcin's direction, left end Michael Strahan has been selected to four of the last five Pro Bowls and posted 66.5 sacks, including an NFL single-season record of 22.5 in 2001. Keith Hamilton remains an outstanding tackle as he enters his 11th season. He had perhaps his finest season when the Giants won the NFC Championship in 2000, when he posted 10 sacks. Cornelius Griffin is emerging as an outstanding young lineman.

The Giants have also been strong against the run during Marcin's tenure. In those five seasons they allowed an average of 96.4 rushing yards per game, making them one of just eight teams with an average of less than a hundred yards. That figure is first in NFC and fifth in the NFL.

Marcin was hired by Jim Fassel on Feb. 10, 1997. The Giants sack total increased from 30 in 1996 to 54 in 1997, a season in which two Giants finished with double-digit sack totals: Strahan tied for third in the NFL with 14 sacks and DT Robert Harris notched 10. It marked the first time the Giants had two players with double-digit sack totals since 1986. The feat was duplicated during the 1998 season when Strahan tallied 15 sacks and DE Chad Bratzke had 11, both career-highs, and the Giants led the NFL with 54 sacks.

Prior to joining the Giants staff, Marcin's coaching career saw him travel far and wide not only across the United States but also to the far reaches of the globe. He spent two seasons (1993 and 1995) as a "guest coach" for the Konan University football team in Japan.

Immediately before joining the Giants staff, Marcin spent nine seasons (1988-1996) as the defensive line coach for the University of Illinois. In addition to his defensive line responsibilities, he spent four seasons (1992-95) as defensive coordinator before becoming assistant head coach for the 1996 season. His expert tutelage helped mold the careers of future NFL players Simeon Rice, Kevin Hardy, both NFL first-round draft choices, and Moe Gardner, a two-time All America and 1991 fourth round draft choice of the Atlanta Falcons.

Prior to coaching the Illini, Marcin was the defensive coordinator and later assistant head coach for the University of North Carolina Tarheels (1978-87). During his decade at Chapel Hill, the Tarheels sent 24 defensive players to the NFL, including Hall of Fame linebacker Lawrence Taylor. The North Carolina defense was ranked No. 1 in the country at the conclusion of the 1981 season.

Before joining North Carolina, Marcin was an assistant coach at his alma mater, Miami of Ohio (1974-77), where he served as defensive coordinator and then assistant head coach for the 1977 season. Marcin graduated with a B.S. degree in education in 1964 from Miami of Ohio, where he played on the defensive and offensive lines.

Marcin literally wrote the book on defensive line play, as he penned, "Coaching Football: Tilted Nose Technique," a book designed to aid coaches in instructing a technique often used in defensive line play.

ASSISTANT COACHES

A native of Cleveland, Marcin and his wife, Betsey, have four children - Jeff, Denny (married to Lynn), Melinda and Susie - and five grandsons.

JIM MCNALLY
OFFENSIVE LINE

Long regarded as one of the finest offensive line coaches in the NFL, Jim McNally this year will again be asked to mold a group comprised of both veteran holdovers and relative newcomers into a cohesive and successful line.

McNally has met that challenge before. In 2000, he received three new players (Dusty Zeigler, Lomas Brown and Glenn Parker) and had a fourth (Luke Petitgout) playing a new position, yet the offensive line played superbly and was an important factor in the Giants' rise to the NFC Championship.

Last year, guard Ron Stone made the Pro Bowl for the second straight year and Petitgout was selected to Sports Illustrated's All-Pro team under McNally's tutelage.

Brown, Stone and Parker have all departed the Giants. McNally will work with Petitgout and Zeigler, plus a group of youngsters that includes Jason Whittle, Chris Bober, Mike Rosenthal, Rich Seubert and rookie Jeff Hatch.

In 2001, McNally's line helped the Giants finish ninth in the NFL in total offense, with an average of 333.4 yards a game. It was the team's highest ranking since 1985, when the Giants were fifth in the NFL in total offense with an average of 367.8 yards a game. The Giants averaged 111.1 rushing yards a game and were tied for eighth in the NFL with 222.4 passing yards game.

Quarterback Kerry Collins had a record-setting season, thanks in part to the protection he received from the line. Collins established team records for pass attempts (568), completions (327) and most 300-yard passing games, with five.

McNally is entering his fourth season with the Giants and 23rd in the NFL. He also coached with the Carolina Panthers (1995-1998) and the Cincinnati Bengals (1980-1994).

He first earned his reputation for excellence in Cincinnati, where he coached Hall of Famer Anthony Munoz, considered by many to be the best offensive tackle in league history. The Bengals established one of the league's strongest rushing attacks, finishing 2-4-1-1-6 from 1986 until 1990 in league rushing. During his 15 years with Cincinnati, the Bengals advanced to two Super Bowls.

McNally joined Cincinnati in 1980 after spending 15 years in the college ranks where he was an assistant at Wake Forest (1978-79), Boston College (1975-77), and Marshall (1971-74). Prior to joining the Marshall staff, he was an assistant coach at his alma mater, the University of Buffalo, for six seasons (1965-70).

ASSISTANT COACHES

McNally played guard at Buffalo from 1961-64. The combination of his playing career and his coaching expertise earned him a spot in the university's Hall of Fame.

McNally was born on Dec. 13, 1943 in Buffalo, N. Y. He graduated from Kenmore (N.Y.) West High School and is in the school's Hall of Fame. Nationally, McNally is known for his clinics on offensive line coaching, which he conducts in the off-season. McNally and his wife Carolyn have two daughters, Jenny and Betsy, and a son, Jon. Jenny works for the Cincinnati Reds of Major League Baseball, Betsy is a high school teacher and Jon is an entertainer.

TOM OLIVADOTTI
LINEBACKERS

Tom Olivadotti is entering his 35th season in the coaching ranks, 18th in the NFL, and third as the Giants linebackers coach. In his previous 17 NFL seasons, Olivadotti's clubs have made the playoffs 11 times, won six division titles and one conference title and compiled a 163-108 (.601) record. He has been associated with only two losing seasons in the last 21 years.

Last season, several of Olivadotti's linebackers distinguished themselves. Jessie Armstead was selected to his fifth consecutive Pro Bowl, Mike Barrow set a team record with 135 tackles, and Brandon Short played solidly on the strong side in his first season as a starter.

In 2001, the Giants finished eighth in the NFL in rushing defense, allowing 96.6 yards per game – the third consecutive season they held opponents to less than 100 rushing yards a game.

This year, Olivadotti is expected to integrate Dhani Jones into the departed Armstead's weakside spot and he has three draft choices to work with in Nick Greisen, Wesly Mallard and Quincy Monk.

In his first season with the Giants in 2000, Olivadotti helped tutor a defense that was second in the NFC and fifth in the NFL in points allowed (246), fifth in the league in yards allowed per game (284.1) and second against the run (72.3 yards a game).

ASSISTANT COACHES

Olivadotti's coaching career began on the high school level in New Jersey in 1967. After working as an assistant at three high schools, he became the head coach at Salesianum High School in Wilmington, Del. in 1972.

Olivadotti graduated to the collegiate ranks when he joined the staff at Princeton University (1976-77) where he coached the linebackers in 1976 and the offensive line in 1977. He went on to serve as the defensive coordinator and coach linebackers for Boston College (1978-79), where he oversaw several future NFL players, including Pro Bowlers Fred Smerlas and Joe Nash. He then became the defensive coordinator and linebackers coach for the University of Miami (1980-83). Olivadotti helped turn the Miami program into one of the best in the country. In his final season with the Hurricanes they beat Nebraska to secure the first of the school's three national championships in the 1980s. During his tenure, Olivadotti coached 18 players that were drafted into the NFL.

Olivadotti got there himself as the Cleveland Browns linebackers coach in 1985 and '86. In his first season in Cleveland he helped the Browns capture the AFC Central title. Among those under Olivadotti's tutelage were Pro Bowler Clay Matthews and Chip Banks, who finished sixth in the AFC with 11 sacks in 1985.

In his second season with the Browns, Olivadotti coached defensive backs. The Browns posted their best season since 1969 with a 12-4 record as they advanced to the AFC Championship game. Olivadotti's star pupils - Hanford Dixon and Frank Minniefield - were both voted to the Pro Bowl.

Olivadotti moved back to Miami in 1987, this time as the Dolphins' defensive coordinator, a post he held through the 1995 season. His expertise helped the Dolphins defense finish the 1990 season ranked seventh in the NFL in fewest yards allowed (284.2), the first time since 1983 that the Miami defense was ranked higher than 19th in the league. Miami also ended the season second in the league in touchdown passes allowed (14), tied for second in touchdowns allowed (26), ranked fourth in points allowed (242), tied for fourth in sacks (45) and fifth in pass defense (169.8) en route to a 12-4 1990 campaign. Miami's 1994 defense finished tied for the league-lead in interceptions (23).

His best statistical season in Miami was in 1995, when he coached a Dolphins defense that tied for second in the NFL in fewest rushing touchdowns allowed (7) and finished sixth in the league in third-down defense (34.2).

Olivadotti made his debut in the NFC as the inside linebackers coach for the Minnesota Vikings in 1996. In each of Olivadotti's four seasons with Minnesota, one of his proteges led the club in stops. In 1996, Jeff Brady, who had started seven NFL games prior to that season, achieved a career-high in tackles (146) and fumble recoveries (3), leading the team in both categories. In Olivadotti's second campaign, Ed McDaniel led the team in tackles (135) and tackles for loss (11). Olivadotti's troops led the Vikings in tackles again in his final season in Minnesota as Ed McDaniel made 166 (110 solo) tackles and Dwayne Rudd finished second with 152 (102 solo) tackles.

As a player, Olivadotti was a four-year letter winner at Upsala College (1963-1966) where he was a starter at defensive back, linebacker and wide receiver. He also lettered in baseball and track. Olivadotti earned his degree in business from Upsala. After graduating, he played semi-professional football while coaching high school football in New Jersey.

Olivadotti and his wife, Karen, have a daughter, Kari Anne (9/30/70), and a son, Kirk (1/1/74). Kari Anne married Ben Peters in February, 1999. Kirk played wide receiver for Purdue University. He married Keely in February, 2001, and presently works for the Washington Redskins.

MICHAEL POPE
TIGHT ENDS

In two stints as a Giants assistant coach, Michael Pope has been with the team for all three of its Super Bowl appearances. He has coached in 21 postseason games and is one of the few assistants to make four trips to the Super Bowl, having also gone with the New England Patriots in 1996.

Pope, who was hired on Feb. 11, 2000, is entering his 20th season as an NFL coach. He played a major role in bringing a new vitality to the Giants offense when his second tour with the team began in 2000. Pope, who has a history of developing outstanding tight ends, will play a leading role in the development of first-round draft choice Jeremy Shockey.

Four of Pope's young pupils (former Giants Zeke Mowatt, 1983; Mark Bavaro, 1985; and Howard Cross, 1989; and Cincinnati's Tony McGee, 1993) have made the NFL's all-rookie team. He is not only successful at grooming young talent, but he is also adept at guiding his veteran students to elite status. Three of his players have made the Pro Bowl – Bavaro, Rodney Holman (Bengals) and Ben Coates (Patriots).

Pope was a member of the Giants coaching staff from 1983-91. His first season with the Giants was as an assistant special teams coach; he became the tight ends coach the following season. Pope's second Giants tour followed three seasons with the Washington Redskins (1997-99) as tight ends coach. Pope began his Patriots tenure in 1994 as running backs coach before moving to tight ends coach in 1995. Prior to joining the Patriots, Pope spent two seasons with the Cincinnati Bengals. He served as the team's tight ends coach his first season before being promoted to offensive coordinator in 1993.

Prior to coaching in the NFL, Pope spent 13 seasons in the collegiate and high school ranks. His first coaching position was at Lenoir (N.C.) High School in 1964, and he coached at high schools in Charlotte, N.C., Jacksonville, Fla., and Lake Wales, Fla.

His first job in college football was with Florida State from 1970-74 as a graduate assistant. He then moved to Texas Tech (1975-77) where he served as an assistant coach and recruiter. From 1978-82, Pope was on the coaching staff at the University of Mississippi, where he coached the receivers, as well as punters and kickers.

ASSISTANT COACHES

During his playing days, Pope played quarterback for Lenoir-Rhyne College where he won all-conference honors three consecutive seasons. He led the team to a national title and a combined 34-8-3 record during his playing career.

Pope was born March 15, 1942 in Monroe, N.C. He has two sons, Travus and Daron. Both work in the financial district in New York City.

BRUCE READ
SPECIAL TEAMS

Jim Fassel is determined to improve the Giants special teams in 2002. Toward that end, he hired veteran specials teams coach Bruce Read on Jan. 24 to be the team's third special teams coach in as many years. Read succeeds Fred von Appen, who followed Larry Mac Duff.

Read spent the last three seasons as the special teams coach in San Diego, where the Chargers had consistently strong special teams.

Under Read, the Chargers led the NFL in 2001 with a kickoff return average of 26.0 yards. That was 4.4 yards more than the NFL average of 21.6 yards. The Giants were 31st in kickoff returns with an average of 17.7 yards. San Diego's average drive starting position after a kickoff was the 33.1-yard line, the best in the league. The Chargers' Ronny Jenkins led the NFL with a 26.6 kickoff return average. He had two touchdowns, including a 93-yarder.

The Chargers' punt return average of 9.4 yards placed them 16th in the league. Tim Dwight was fifth in the AFC with an average of 11.3 yards a return.

San Diego's punt coverage team was seventh in the NFL in net average, and their opponents' average starting position following kickoffs was the 28.5-yard line, placing the Chargers seventh in the AFC.

San Diego did not allow a touchdown on a punt or kickoff return in 2001, while the Chargers scored four special teams touchdowns

In the 2000 season, San Diego's Darren Bennett was a Pro Bowler after leading the NFL with a 46.2-yard gross average. The previous year, Bennett's 38.7-yard net average topped the league. In 2001 Bennett's 36.9-yard net average was seventh in the NFL. The Chargers did not have a punt blocked in his three seasons in San Diego.

Read has spent the last 15 seasons coaching special teams. Prior to his three-year stint in San Diego, he spent two years (1997-98) as the special teams coach at Oregon State, where he worked under Mike Riley, who brought him to San Diego. In his 22 games with the Beavers, Oregon State's special teams blocked 15 kicks (eight field goal or PAT attempts and seven punts).

Read coached at the University of Montana for 11 seasons (1986-96) as the school's special teams coach.

During Read's tenure at Montana, the Grizzlies broke 20 special teams records as a team and 11 individual special teams records. His Montana teams blocked 27 punts and 22 PATs or field goals. The Grizzlies won three Big Sky championships (1993, '95 and '96) as well as the NCAA Division 1-AA title in 1995.

Read was born Jan. 21, 1962 in Santa Rosa, Calif. He attended the Oregon Institute of Technology in 1981-82 before finishing his college education at Portland State, earning a bachelor's degree in Social Science in 1986.

Read and his wife, Christina, have two sons, Justin (July 12, 1986) and Joshua (Aug. 2, 1992).

JAY ROBERTSON
OFFENSIVE QUALITY CONTROL

Jay Robertson, entering his third season with the Giants, rejoined the coaching ranks when he was hired by Jim Fassel to serve as the team's offensive quality control coach following the departure of Jim Skipper on Aug. 24, 2000. Former assistant Mike Gillhamer replaced Skipper as running backs coach, and Robertson assumed Gillhamer's responsibilities as quality control coach

Prior to joining the Giants, Robertson had served as an Indianapolis Colts defensive assistant coach on two occasions: 1992-93 and 1997.

Robertson's first coaching job was as an assistant at Northwestern in 1967. Over a nine-year stint at the Big Ten school (1967-1975), he coached the offensive and defensive lines, outside linebackers and receivers. He moved to Northern Illinois in 1976 as defensive coordinator and secondary coach. Robertson tutored tight ends and receivers at Wisconsin from 1980-81. He was defensive line coach at Notre Dame from 1982-83 before moving to West Point and serving as linebackers coach at the United States Military Academy (1984-91).

Robertson was a three-year letterman at center at Northwestern. He was a senior captain for Ara Parseghian in 1962 when Northwestern posted a 7-2 record. He played in the East-West Shrine Game and the Southwest Challenge Bowl. Robertson holds a bachelor's degree in history and a master's degree in business administration from Northwestern. He entered the U.S. Marine Corps following graduation and was a player/coach for the Quantico Marines. He attained the rank of captain and served one year in Vietnam as a rifle platoon and infantry company commander.

Robertson was born Feb. 20, 1940, in Chicago, Ill. He is married to the former Kathy Aluise of Huntington, W.Va. They have a son, William (5/7/87).

JIMMY ROBINSON
WIDE RECEIVERS

Returning to his roots is a theme in Jimmy Robinson's life. So when Jim Fassel hired Robinson as his wide receivers coach on Feb.13, 1998, Robinson was returning to his childhood home in the New York City area and to the team with which he enjoyed his greatest success as a player.

More importantly for the Giants, their passing attack has since flourished. In 2001, Giants wide receivers caught a team-record 186 passes. They accounted for 2,680 yards (14.4-yard average) and 15 touchdowns. They helped Kerry Collins establish franchise records with 568 pass attempts and 327 completions and set a career high with 3,764 yards.

Under Robinson's guidance, Amani Toomer has become one of the most productive wide receivers in franchise history. Toomer caught 72 passes in 2001, increasing his three-year total to 229 receptions. He is the first player in Giants history to catch at least 70 passes in each of three consecutive seasons. During that span, Toomer's receiving yardage totals were 1,183, 1,094 and 1,052, making him the third Giant in history to have three consecutive 1,000-yard seasons. His 3,331 yards is the second-highest three-year total in team history. Del Shofner had 3,439 yards from 1961-63.

In 1999, Toomer and Ike Hilliard combined to total more than 2,000 (2,179) yards receiving, a feat no other tandem in Giants history had ever accomplished. Toomer set a career high with his 1,183 receiving yards, while Hilliard contributed 996 yards. While Toomer set a record with his 79 catches, Hilliard put himself in third place on the team's list of most receptions in a season with 72, a total equaled last season by Toomer and Tiki Barber.

ASSISTANT COACHES

Prior to joining the Giants, Robinson served as the wide receivers coach for the Indianapolis Colts (1994-97) and the Atlanta Falcons (1990-93). With the Colts he helped Marvin Harrison become the third rookie in Colts history to lead the team in receptions. In addition, Sean Dawkins' receptions steadily improved under Robinson's tutelage. While in Atlanta he guided Andre Rison and Michael Haynes to the top of the NFL touchdown receptions tandem list in 1991 and 1992 and Rison combined with Mike Pritchard in 1993.

Perhaps it was destiny that brought Robinson to the Giants. He played with the team from 1976-79 and scored the first Giants touchdown in Giants Stadium history on a 30-yard pass from Craig Morton against the Dallas Cowboys on Oct. 10, 1976. Before joining the Giants, Robinson was drafted by Atlanta (1975). After leaving the Giants, Robinson played for San Francisco (1980) and Denver (1981).

Robinson began his coaching career in the USFL as receivers/tight ends coach for the Memphis Showboats from 1984-85. He returned to his alma mater, Georgia Tech, as a wide receivers coach from 1987-89 before he joined the Atlanta Falcons in the same capacity.

A standout receiver at Georgia Tech (1971-74), Robinson amassed 101 receptions for 1,633 yards and 13 touchdowns. He was selected to the school's Hall of Fame in 1981 and named to the school's All-Time Team in 1992. He earned a bachelor's degree in Industrial Management at Georgia Tech.

Robinson was born Jan. 3, 1953 in New York City. He is married to the former Karen Gresham of Rome, Ga. The couple has four children. Jamie, 24, is employed as a business analyst with DeLoitte Consulting in Atlanta. Jessica, 21, was the recipient of the 2000 Mara Scholarship, a $5,000 grant given annually to the child of a former Giants player. She is a senior at Georgia Tech. Jim, 16, and Katie, 14, attend Wayne Hills High School.

ROD RUST

DEFENSIVE QUALITY CONTROL

After a nine-year absence, Rod Rust returns to the Giants coaching staff this season as the team's defensive quality control coach. Rust was the team's defensive coordinator in 1992 – the season that head coach Jim Fassel was the offensive coordinator.

Rust, who has been a head coach in the NFL, the Canadian Football League and at the collegiate level, replaces Dave Brazil, who is now the Giants' senior defensive analyst.

Rust began his coaching career as the defensive line coach at the University of New Mexico in 1960. Three years later, he began a four-year stint as the defensive coordinator at Stanford. From 1967-72, Rust was the head coach at North Texas State.

Rust entered pro football in 1973 as the defensive coordinator for the Canadian Football League's Montreal Alouettes under Marv Levy. He remained there for three seasons before becoming the Philadelphia Eagles' linebackers coach in 1976 and 77. Rust then joined the Kansas City Chiefs for a five-year stint as the team's defensive coordinator.

ASSISTANT COACHES

He left Kansas City to serve the New England Patriots in the same capacity for five seasons, then returned to the Chiefs as defensive coordinator in 1988. Rust was the defensive coordinator for the Pittsburgh Steelers in 1989, then the head coach of the Patriots in 1990. He spent a season as New England's coordinator of pro scouting before joining the Giants in 1992.

After leaving the Giants, Rust spent a season as a defensive assistant with the Winnipeg Blue Bombers. He then joined the Atlanta Falcons, first as a defensive assistant in 1995, then as defensive coordinator the following season.

In 1997, Rust returned to Montreal, where he served in a variety of roles, beginning as linebackers coach before becoming the defensive coordinator and finally the head coach. The Alouettes had a 9-2 record before injuries decimated the team.

ERIC STUDESVILLE
RUNNING BACKS

Eric Studesville enters his second season as the Giants running backs coach. He was hired by Jim Fassel on Feb. 28, 2001 after serving as the Chicago Bears offensive quality control coach the previous four seasons.

Under Studesville, Giants running backs rushed for 1,659 yards and caught 123 passes for another 922 yards in 2001. Tiki Barber enjoyed an extremely productive season, leading the team with 865 rushing yards and tying with Amani Toomer with a team-leading 72 receptions, despite missing two-plus games with a hamstring injury. Another running back, Ron Dayne, led the Giants with seven touchdowns. When Barber and Dayne both suffered injuries, Damon Washington, whom Studesville had first coached in Chicago, responded with a career-high 90 rushing yards.

Studesville joined the Bears coaching staff prior to the 1997 season. His responsibilities included overseeing offensive research and quality control as well as assisting with the coaching of Chicago's running backs.

Before joining the Chicago staff, Studesville coached in the collegiate ranks. He was the defensive backs coach at Kent (1995-96) and at Wingate University in North Carolina (1994). He also served on the coaching staffs at North Carolina (1992-93) and Arizona (1991).

A native of Madison, Wis., Studesville earned a degree in physical education with a minor in coaching at the University of Wisconsin-Whitewater, where he played defensive back. He received a master's degree in exercise physiology from Arizona. He worked with the Bears coaching staff during training camp in 1996 as part of the minority fellowship program.

DEWAYNE WALKER
SECONDARY

DeWayne Walker was hired as the Giants new defensive backs coach on Feb. 8, 2002. He succeeded Johnnie Lynn, who was promoted to defensive coordinator. This is not the first time Walker has followed Lynn. He was three years behind Lynn as a student at Muir High School in Pasadena, Calif.

Walker comes to the Giants from the University of Southern California, where he spent the 2001 season as the secondary coach and associate head coach. The Trojans were ranked 16th among the nation's 115 Division 1-A schools in pass defense, allowing 179.2 yards through the air per game. USC was tied for seventh in the country (with Nebraska, Ohio State and Virginia Tech) with 19 interceptions (plus one in the Las Vegas Bowl). Twelve different players had at least one interception for the Trojans in 2001.

Prior to joining the staff at USC, Walker spent three seasons as a defensive backs assistant with the New England Patriots. During his tenure, Patriots defensive back Lawyer Milloy and Ty Law each made the Pro Bowl.

Walker began his coaching career at Mt. San Antonio Junior College in Walnut, Calif., from 1988-92. He was the secondary coach for the first four seasons, then became the defensive coordinator in 1992. Mt. SAC played in the Southern California Bowl in 1988 and the Simple Green/Orange County Classic in 1992.

Walker moved to the Division 1 collegiate level in 1993, when he coached the defensive backs at Utah State. He developed a pair of all-conference cornerbacks in Damon Smith and Donald Toomer. The Aggies beat Ball State in the Las Vegas Bowl that season.

In 1994, Walker coached the secondary and punt returners at Brigham Young, where cornerback Pat Mitchell was an all-league selection. The Cougars defeated Oklahoma in the Copper Bowl that season.

Walker moved to Oklahoma State in 1995 where he coached the secondary, including cornerback R.W. McQuarters, who was a first-round choice in the 1998 NFL draft.

Walker spent the next two seasons (1996 and '97) as the secondary coach at the University of California, where he coached future NFL defensive backs Kato Serwanga and Marquis Smith. The Golden Bears played in the 1996 Aloha Bowl.

From 1998-2000, Walker assisted with the secondary for the Patriots, first under Pete Carroll for two seasons and then for one year under Bill Belichick. He left to go to USC and re-join Carroll, whom he had met while serving a minority coaching internship with the San Francisco 49ers in 1996. He had a similar internship with Carroll at the Patriots in 1997.

Walker spent the 2001 season as the defensive backfield coach and associate head coach under Pete Carroll at the University of Southern California. Two of his former players were selected in the 2002 NFL Draft: Kris Richard in the third round by Seattle and Chris Cash in the sixth round by Detroit.

Walker starred at Muir High School. He was a defensive back at Pasadena City College in 1978 and '79, earning all-conference honors his second season. He then started at cornerback for two seasons (1980-81) at the University of Minnesota. Walker earned a bachelor's degree from Regents College in Albany, N.Y.

Walker played professionally for three seasons with the Edmonton Eskimos of the CFL in 1982 and the USFL's Oakland Invaders in 1984 and Arizona Outlaws in 1985.

He was born Dec. 3, 1960. He and his wife, Zan, have three children: daughters Kesha, 21, and Kendra, 9, and a son, Kevan, 12.

After Super Bowl XXV in 1990 Ceglio founded the Giants Broadcast Productions Department, which partnered with CBS to produce "GIANTS TODAY" featuring Greg Gumbel and Phil McConkey, the Giants' first television show produced in-house. "GIANTS TODAY" was honored with Emmy Awards in the category of Outstanding Sports Programming at the New York Emmy Awards for two years running in 1995 and 1996.

The Giants were the first team in the NFL to put this system on line - the same year that the Giants reached the Super Bowl for the first time. Ceglio also co-authored the official NFL rules for the video taping of games and game tape exchange, and he was elected chairman of the NFL Video Directors for three consecutive years until resigning his position in 1990 to pursue broadcasting.

The former record of 533 passes was set by Phil Simms in 1984. Collins has thrown 1,428 passes as a Giant. Collins' 59 passes were the second-highest total in Giants history; Phil Simms threw 62 passes on Oct. 13, 1985. Increased his streak to 1,371 consecutive regular season passes thrown for the Giants, including every pass in the 2000 and 2001 seasons. According to the Elias Sports Bureau, he is the first player in NFL history to throw every pass for one team in two consecutive seasons. Intercepted by Darren Sharper on his third pass of the game, ending a streak of 121 consecutive passes without a pick, the longest such streak of Collins' career. NFL: One of the very best players in the NFL, Strahan has also established himself as one of the finest defensive players in Giants history...Set an NFL single-season record with 22.5 sacks in 2001, boosting his career total to 84.5, second in Giants history behind Lawrence Taylor's 132.5...Enters the 2002 season fifth among active players in career sacks, trailing only Bruce Smith (126.0), John Randle (125.0), Trace Armstrong (99.0) and Robert Porcher (85.5)...Was selected to his fourth Pro Bowl last season, the most by a Giants defensive lineman since Andy Rubustelli was chosen for five from 1956-62...Although he receives much acclaim for his sacks, Strahan is also an outstanding all-around player, one that consistently helps the defense stop opposing running games and puts constant pressure on the quarterback when he's not registering a sack...Has missed only 1 game in the previous 6 seasons and 3 in the previous 8...Moved into the starting lineup in his second NFL season in 1994 after missing 7 games as a rookie due to a foot injury...Named Giants 1998 Most Valuable Player and 1997 Defensive Player of the Year...He is one of the most visible and popular Giants, a player the television networks constantly seek out for interviews. STRAHAN LED THE NFL WITH SEVEN FORCED FUMBLES IN 2001.

2001: Started all 16 games at defensive left end, the fifth time in six seasons he started every game...Set an NFL single-season record with 22.5 sacks. Taylor, who had 20.5 sacks in 1986...Strahan's 4.0 sacks at St. Louis (10/14) was .5 shy of the team's single-game record of 4.5 sacks by Pepper Johnson at Tampa Bay on Nov. 24, 1991...Led the NFL with 7 forced fumbles...Scored the third touchdown of his career on a 13-yard fumble recovery against Seattle on Dec. 23. Taylor received the honor in 1981, 82 and 86...Was named NFC Defensive Player of the Month for October after recording 9.5 sacks in 4 games...Was named NFC Defensive Player of the Week twice in three games: St. Louis and New Orleans...Finished tied for fourth on the team with 73 tackles, including 61 solo...Also had 2 passes defensed and 1 fumble recovery...A 7-yard, fourth-period sack of Brett Favre vs. Green Bay (1/6) boosted Strahan's total to a single-season NFL record 22.5. Finished game with 4 tackles (3 solo)...Enjoyed outstanding game at Philadelphia (12/30) with 6 tackles (5 solo), 3.5 sacks and a forced fumble. Strahan became the Giants single-season sacks record-holder with 21.5. The previous team record was 20.5 set by Taylor in 1986. Sacked Donovan McNabb for an 8-yard loss in the first quarter. On the next play Strahan forced a fumble to split a sack with Mike Barrow for a 14-yard loss. His second full sack of the game came later in the first quarter for a 1-yard loss. The final sack of McNabb came in the second quarter for a 6-yard loss...Finished with 5 tackles (3 solo), 1 sack and a recovered fumble for a touchdown vs. Seattle (12/30). His 13-yard touchdown off a fumble recovery in the second quarter was the Giants' first such score since Sept. 12, 1999, when Christian Peter picked up a fumble and ran it back 38 yards in a season-opening victory at Tampa Bay. The touchdown was the third of Strahan's career and his first on a fumble recovery. He scored on interception returns of 24 yards against Washington in 1998 and 44 yards at Philadelphia in 1999. Had a 7-yard sack of Matt Hasselbeck to increase his career total to 80 sacks, moving him past Leonard Marshall (79.5) and into second place on the franchise's career list. Tied his season high with 7 tackles (6 solo), 1 sack and 1 forced fumble. Sack of Jake Plummer was his 15th of the season and tied a career-high. Forced a fumble by Plummer that was recovered by Kenny Holmes, who lateraled to Mike Barrow, who returned it to the Arizona 42-yard line. The turnover set up the Giants second touchdown of the game. Strahan stopped Pittman for a 1-yard loss in the third quarter and another 1-yard loss after the running back caught a shovel pass in the fourth period...Had 6 tackles (4 solo) and 1.5 sacks vs. Dallas (11/4). His 1.5-sack performance gave him 14 in 6 games, an NFL record for a 6-game span. The previous record for sacks in a 6-game period was 13, which was set by Chicago's Richard Dent from Oct. 14 to Nov. 18, 1984 and matched by Hall of Fame Giant Lawrence Taylor, who did it in two overlapping stretches in 1986 when he set the franchise record with 20.5 sacks. Taylor had 13 sacks in the six games from Oct. 5 to Nov. 9 and Oct. 12 to Nov. 16. Strahan sacked Clint Stoerner for no gain on the Cowboys first drive of the game. The former record of 12 sacks over 5 games was set by Chicago's Richard Dent in 1984 and matched by the late Derrick Transactions: Originally a second round (34th pick overall) draft choice by the Giants in 1996.

NFL: Toomer is one of the most productive wide receivers in franchise history...In the last 3 seasons he has caught 229 passes (79 in 1999, 78 in 2000 and 72 in 2001) to become the first player in Giants history to catch at least 70 passes in each of three consecutive seasons...During that span he has totaled 1,183, 1,094 and 1,052 receiving yards to become the third Giant in history to have three consecutive 1,000-yard seasons. His 3,331 yards is the second-highest three-year total in team history. Del Shofner had 3,439 yards from 1961-63. Toomer is ahead of Homer Jones, who had 3,310 yards from 1966-68...Toomer has 273 career receptions, placing him seventh on the franchise's career list, 11 behind Tiki Barber...Needs 27 receptions to reach 300 in a Giants uniform, a feat accomplished by only five players: Joe Morrison (393), Frank Gifford (367), Chris Calloway (334), Bob Tucker (327) and Kyle Rote (300). Of those players, only Calloway was a wide receiver...Has 24 career touchdown receptions and 11 career 100-yard games...Toomer has caught at least 1 pass in 51 consecutive regular season games (plus 3 postseason games)...Used primarily as a punt returner and third and fourth wide receiver in his first 3 NFL seasons...Is fifth on the franchise's career list with 1,060 punt return yards on 109 returns...Has 3 career punt return touchdowns...Promising rookie season was cut short by a knee injury...Showed immediately that he has the ability to be an impact player as he returned two punts for touchdowns as a rookie, including a team-record 87-yard return vs. Buffalo in the season-opener.

TOOMER IS FIFTH ON THE GIANTS CAREER LIST WITH 1,060 PUNT RETURN YARDS.

2001: Played in all 16 games for the fifth consecutive season, with 14 starts...Did not start vs. Dallas (11/4) and vs. Green Bay (1/6)...Caught 72 passes, tying Tiki Barber for the team lead...Became the first Giants player to catch 70 passes in three consecutive seasons...Led the team with 1,054 receiving yards...Caught five touchdown passes, 1 behind team-leader Ike Hilliard...Had 2 100-yard games...Also had 3 rushing attempts for 8 yards... Returned 8 punts for 41 yards...Caught 5 passes for 79 yards vs. Green Bay (1/6) before leaving the game in the third quarter with a concussion. Game-long reception of 27 yards came in the first quarter and helped set up Kerry Collins-to-Hilliard 8-yard touchdown pass. The 27-yard reception brought

Toomer to two milestones. The catch was his 70th of the season, making him the first Giants receiver to reach that plateau in three consecutive seasons. The reception also put him over 1,000 yards for the third consecutive season...Had 3 receptions for 69 yards and a touchdown at Philadelphia (12/30). 60-yard touchdown reception came on a flea-flicker after a lateral from Barber to Collins. It was Toomer's longest catch of the season...Had 8 receptions for season-high 124 yards vs. Seattle (12/23). Toomer's game-long, 28-yard reception began the Giants 96-yard game-winning touchdown drive. Toomer (124) and Hilliard (105) each caught passes for more than 100 yards. It was the third time Toomer and Hilliard exceeded the century mark in the same game. On Dec. 5, 1999, Toomer had 101 yards on 6 catches (including 3 touchdowns) and Hilliard had 121 yards on 6 catches in a 41-28 victory over the Jets. Scored the Giants first touchdown of the season on a 43-yard pass from Collins that tied the score at 7-7 in the second quarter. 2001 SEASON GAME REVIEWS

At Denver, Sept. 10, 2001

The Giants began the defense of their NFC Championship by falling to the Denver Broncos, 31-20, in the first regular season game in Invesco Field at Mile High. The Giants tied the score early in the third period but were unable to stop a 17-point scoring binge by the Broncos. Head coach Jim Fassel had been 4-0 in season openers. It was the Giants first defeat in an opening game since they lost to Buffalo in 1996 and their first such defeat on the road since losing at Chicago in 1987. The loss ended the Giants five-game regular season winning streak. Denver rolled up 473 yards of total offense, the most allowed by the Giants in almost 13 years. Brian Griese got 330 of those yards by completing 21 of 29 passes, including touchdown strikes of one yard to Patrick Hape, 16 yards to Ed McCaffrey and 25 yards to Rod Smith (nine catches for 115 yards). Griese was not sacked and was seldom pressured. Terrell Davis rushed for 101 yards on 21 carries. The Giants gained 308 yards, but only 63 on the ground. Kerry Collins threw three touchdown passes - two to Amani Toomer and one late in the game to rookie Marcellus Rivers - while completing 19 of 34 passes for 258 yards. Like Griese, he was not intercepted. The Giants played without cornerback Jason Sehorn, who was placed on the inactive list because he was not fully recovered from the arthroscopic knee surgery he underwent on Aug. 27. Rookie William Peterson, the Giants third-round draft choice this season, started in his place and was credited with a team-high seven solo tackles. The Broncos put the game away with 17 unanswered points after the Giants had tied the score at 14-14 early in the third period. The onslaught started when Griese found Smith for a 25-yard score, capping a 66-yard drive that gave the Broncos the lead for good at 21-14. Denver needed just five plays to travel those 66 yards, including an 19-yard pass to McCaffrey - who suffered a fractured left leg on the play when he was pulverized by a Shaun Williams hit. Davis followed with an 18-yard run. The Broncos increased their lead to 24-14 on Jason Elam's 37-yard field goal with 13:40 left in the fourth period. Denver added another score with 9:05 left in the third period on Mike Anderson's 6-yard run. This time the Broncos moved 77 yards in only five plays, including a 36-yard pass up the left sideline to Kennison. Davis followed with a 26-yard scamper before Anderson motored around the right side for his touchdown. The Giants had tied the score at 14-14 on the opening possession of the third period on an 11-yard pass from Collins to Toomer, their second scoring hookup of the game. Toomer caught the ball on the 7-yard line and straddled the sideline before diving and just barely making it into the end zone. Griese threw two touchdown passes to Collins' one to give the Broncos a 14-7 halftime lead. The first half had a bizarre ending. With one second remaining, Elam was wide left on a 65-yard field goal attempt, which, if good, would have set an NFL record. The Giants then tried their own version of longball kicking, sending on rookie Own Pochman to try a 63-yarder, which would have tied the record in his first NFL game. But Pochman's kick was short and wide right. The Broncos took their second lead of the game at 14-7 when McCaffrey caught a 16-yard touchdown pass from Griese with 9:35 left in the second period. The Giants had responded to Denver's first score in impressive fashion, tying the game only 3:14 later on a 43-yard pass from Collins to Toomer. The play capped a seven-play, 74-yard drive that spanned the first and second periods. The key play on the march was a 9-yard, third-down pass to Jurevicius that enabled the Giants to keep the ball. The Broncos scored first, on a one-yard pass from Griese to fullback Patrick Hape with 1:09 left in the first period. Griese executed a perfect play-action fake to Davis - who had run the ball up the middle on the previous play - drifted to his left and hit Hape in the end zone.

GIANTS VS. CHIEFS • SEPT. 23, 2001

Game 2
GIANTS 13, CHIEFS 3
At Kansas City, Sept. 23, 2001

The first proof that this would be no ordinary day was delivered as the Giants rolled through the parking lot outside Arrowhead Stadium Sunday morning. Usually the sight of their team busses approaching an enemy stadium prompts fans to boo, scream obscenities and display other antisocial behavior. But a funny thing happened on the final lap before the Giants entered the stadium. The fans began cheering. And clapping. And flashing the visitors from the big city a hearty thumbs up. The NFL did its part to aid the healing process from the Sept. 11 terrorist attacks by getting back to the business of playing football. The Giants, witnesses to the terrible destruction, were welcomed to the nation's heartland like members of the family. Signs saying "KC Loves NY" (with a heart replacing the word love) were hung throughout the stadium. The Giants were applauded as they headed to their locker room following pre-game warm-ups. They received a standing ovation from the crowd of 77,666 as they ran onto the field prior to the game, an entrance that was followed by a moving ceremony that was largely Kansas City's tribute to New York. Of course, goodwill can extend only so far. The Giants defeated the Chiefs, 13-3, for their first victory of the season. Ron Dayne scored a touchdown on a 7-yard run and Morten Andersen kicked two field goals for the Giants, who held the Chiefs without a touchdown despite three Kerry Collins interceptions. The significance of the day was not in the game, but, really, in everything else that happened in Arrowhead Stadium. The Giants were embraced as perhaps no visiting team ever has in the stadium's 30-year history - indeed, as few road teams have anywhere at anytime. "I've been to this stadium many times and I've always had a tremendous respect for the fans in Kansas City," coach Jim Fassel said. "The way they handled everything and the way they greeted our players - (owner) Lamar Hunt, (general manager) Carl Peterson, (coach) Dick Vermeil, this is a class organization, top to bottom, and including the fans. "You can talk about us and how we've had to handle things. But that was about America. That was about the USA, about all of us out there. I felt the emotions on the field, I know my players did and I'm sure their players did." Those in attendance witnessed a stirring pre-game ceremony that featured emotional renditions of God Bless America, America the Beautiful and our National Anthem. The fans waved their American flag and stood throughout the ceremony, in which Kansas City Mayor Kay Barnes gave NFL commissioner Paul Tagliabue a proclamation declaring Sunday "New York City Day" in this heartland city. A video tribute to New York was shown on the huge television screens at either end of the field. The scoreboard read, "Kansas City's Salute to New York." The game itself won no artistic awards. Andersen's 42-yard field goal gave the Giants a 3-0 lead just 2:40 into the game. The Giants scored on the first and final plays of the second period to take a 13-0 halftime lead. Dayne's 7-yard run up the middle on the first play of the quarter capped a nine-play, 80-yard drive that began after Shaun Williams intercepted a Trent Green pass in the end zone. The longest play on the ensuing march was a 22-yard pass from Collins to Dan Campbell, who moved the ball to the Kansas City 20-yard line. Two plays later, Tiki Barber picked up 13 yards around left end. That was the final play of the first period. When play resumed, Dayne took a handoff and powered his way through the center of the Chiefs defense for the Giants first rushing touchdown of the season. Andersen's second field goal of the game, a 34-yarder on the last play of the period, gave the Giants a 13-0 halftime lead. The Giants moved 42 yards in six plays after taking possession at their own 42, following Keith Hamilton's fourth-down sack of Green. A 33-yard field goal by Kansas City's Todd Peterson accounted for the only scoring. "There was a big overwhelming feeling on that field," Collins said. "We wanted to play, have fun and enjoy the game for what it is. You hear people say they appreciate things so much more. I definitely got that feeling from our guys today that we just appreciated it so much more being out there and appreciated the game for what it is."

GIANTS VS. SAINTS • SEPT. 30, 2001

Game 3
GIANTS 21, SAINTS 13
At East Rutherford, Sept. 30, 2001

Jim Fassel spoke the truth. "That game," he said, "was not for the faint of heart." No, it wasn't. The Giants 21-13 victory over the New Orleans Saints was a test of nerves and will, a game that wasn't decided until the Saints failed to score on three consecutive passes into the Giants end zone from the 9-yard line in the final 14 seconds. Willie Jackson actually caught Aaron Brooks' final pass for an apparent touchdown, but - fittingly in a game in which 25 penalties were called - the score was nullified when he was cited for not one, but two infractions on the play. For the Giants, it was a fantastic finish to an afternoon that had an emotional beginning. It was their first home game of the season, and the first since the terrorist attacks on Sept. 11. In a moving pregame ceremony, the victims of the tragedy and the rescue workers who have tirelessly toiled at the site of the World Trade Center were honored. The Giants got a career-best 111-yard, one-touchdown performance from Ron Dayne, another rushing score from Tiki Barber and a Joe Jurevicius touchdown reception. Defensive end Michael Strahan led the defensive effort with three sacks. The Giants seemed to be in command when a 46-yard touchdown pass from Kerry Collins to Jurevicius gave them a 21-10 lead with 6:05 left. But the action was just starting. Aaron Brooks' 41-yard pass to Ricky Williams set up John Carney's 30-yard field goal, which made it 21-13. Four plays later, on third-and-nine from the Saints 32, Collins fumbled attempting to run a quarterback draw. Joe Johnson recovered at the 30 with 3:17 left, and suddenly the Saints had a chance to tie the game. They moved to the nine, where they had a second down with 14 seconds left after a Brooks spike. Brooks threw to the back of the end zone for Joe Horn, but safety Sam Garnes prevented the touchdown by batting the ball away. On third down Brooks again threw to Horn in the end zone, but rookie cornerback William Peterson knocked the ball to the ground. That set up the game's final play, fourth down with four seconds remaining. Brooks took the snap in the shotgun, then retreated all the way to the 25 because of pressure from Mike Barrow. Brooks' pass was caught in the end zone by Jackson as yellow flags rained down from all directions. Jackson was cited twice. The first foul was illegal touching; after stepping out of bounds, Jackson was the first player to touch the ball, which is illegal. The only reason Jackson caught the ball was because he shoved Emmanuel McDaniel to the ground. The fourth-quarter action had begun when Brooks connected with Jackson for a 32-yard touchdown pass to move the Saints to within 14-10 with 7:48 left. Saints coach Jim Haslett opted to try an onside kick, which was recovered by Dhani Jones. Four plays later, Collins fired a perfect strike down the middle to Jurevicius for the touchdown that gave the Giants a 21-10 lead. After the Giants took a 14-0 lead, the Saints scored their first points with one second left in the first half on Carney's 32-yard field goal. Barber's 14-yard run with 3:31 left in the half had extended the Giants lead to 14-0. Unfortunately, Barber pulled his hamstring running into the end zone and missed the next 2 _ games. After the first seven possessions of the game had ended with punts, the Giants scored first on a 6-yard run by Dayne with 7:52 left in the second period. The play capped a 6-play, 81-yard drive that included a 55-yard run by Dayne, a key replay reversal after the officials had ruled a Giants' fumble was recovered by the Saints, and two Saints penalties. The Giants took the ball on their own 19. On second-and-10, Dayne slid through a hole on the left side, where he picked up a key block from Lomas Brown, and motored 55 yards up the sideline to the New Orleans 26. On the next play, Collins threw a short pass to the right side to Greg Comella, who was upended by Kevin Mathis. Comella lost the ball, which was recovered by Charlie Clemons. The Giants challenged the ruling on the field, claiming Comella never had possession of the ball and the play should be ruled an incompletion. After reviewing several replays, referee Terry McAulay upheld the challenge, enabling the Giants to retain possession with a second down on the 26. Three plays later, Dayne scored.

GIANTS VS. REDSKINS • OCT. 7, 2001

GIANTS 23, REDSKINS 9
At East Rutherford, Oct. 7, 2001

The Giants almost fell into the trap that Jim Fassel was so worried about. Prohibitive favorites against a winless team, the Giants struggled before defeating the Washington Redskins, 23-9, in Giants Stadium. Two fourth-quarter touchdowns, including one by the defense, enabled the Giants to win a game that was tied three times. The Giants won their third consecutive game and improved to 3-1. Fassel had called this a "trap game" because the Redskins had looked so bad in their first three outings and the game appeared to be a mismatch on paper. But Fassel warned anyone who would listen - and beat the drum with his players - that the Redskins have plenty of good players and the game would be close. He was right. The Giants scored the winning points when tight end Dan Campbell caught a 1-yard touchdown pass from Kerry Collins early in the fourth period. Jason Sehorn helped seal the deal with an end zone interception of a Tony Banks pass on the next possession. Later in the period, Sehorn stepped in front of a Banks pass intended for Michael Westbrook, tipped it into the air, grabbed it and ran 34 yards for the touchdown that clinched the triumph. The Giants benefited from a series of fine performances from contributors both expected and surprising. Perhaps the most vital assistance was provided by third-string running back Damon Washington. Tiki Barber didn't suit up because of a hamstring injury. Then Ron Dayne suffered a neck injury that forced him to miss the second half. That left Washington, who entered the game with one career carry for one yard, to do the running. He responded with 90 yards on 25 attempts, including a key 22-yard gain on the game-winning drive. Morten Andersen kicked three field goals for the Giants, while Brett Conway matched him with three for Washington. Sehorn had those two big interceptions. Amani Toomer caught seven passes for 97 yards; everyone else on the team caught a total of eight passes. Mike Barrow continued his brilliant play with a team-leading eight tackles (six solo). The defensive line had 4.5 sacks, including 1.5 each by Michael Strahan and Cornelius Griffin. The defense knocked down nine passes. The Giants likely needed every one of those contributions. They hurt themselves with four turnovers, losing two fumbles and throwing two interceptions. The defense held the Redskins to 181 total yards and nine first downs. Washington succeeded on only one of 13 third-down conversion attempts. Banks completed only 13 of 31 passes. The Giants took their fourth and final lead of the game at 16-9 and finally scored their first touchdown when Collins hooked up with Campbell on a 1-yard pass with 12:59 left in the fourth period. The touchdown capped a 10-play, 71-yard drive. On third-and-one from the one, Collins rolled right and fired a strike to the back to the end zone, where a wide-open Campbell went to his knees to secure the ball. The touchdown was Campbell's first of the season and fourth of his career. Washington responded immediately, as Banks threw a 53-yard pass to rookie receiver Rod Gardner, who was stopped at the Giants 17-yard line .Three plays later, Banks threw into the end zone for Kevin Lockett. But the ball was overthrown and Sehorn made an outstanding over-the-shoulder interception to end the threat. The Giants still had to navigate through some tricky territory before they could feel secure. Collins threw an interception (by Ifeanyi Ohalete) to give Washington the ball on its 33. The teams then traded punts before Washington took possession on its 28. On the first play, Sehorn stepped in front of Westbrook, picked off the Banks pass and raced untouched to the end zone for his third career touchdown (plus one in the postseason). It was the first time in the game that the Giants had put together consecutive scores. Until that point, Andersen had kicked three field goals and Conway had matched him to the tie score each time. Conway's 55-yard field goal with 11:25 left in the second period was the longest field goal kicked against the Giants in their 77-year history. The field goal was also the second of at least 50 yards in the game; earlier, Andersen had kicked a 50-yarder. It was the 38th field goal of 50 yards or more in his illustrious career, extending his own NFL record.

GIANTS VS. RAMS • OCT. 14, 2001

Game 5
RAMS 15, GIANTS 14
At St. Louis, Oct. 14, 2001

Despite a gallant effort by the defense, the Giants suffered one of the most frustrating defeats in memory when they dropped a 15-14 decision to the Rams in the Dome at America's Center. Trung Canidate scored the winning points on a 1-yard run with 4:16 remaining. The Giants' three-game winning streak was snapped and they fell to 3-2. After the game, the Giants lamented all of the mistakes that crippled their chances of pulling off an upset. Foremost in their minds were the 12 penalties for 125 yards, including one that took three points off the board, one that stymied a late drive and one that set up Canidate's touchdown. The Giants were heading toward a potential game-winning field goal late in the game, but Kerry Collins' pass caromed off Joe Jurevicius and was intercepted by Grant Wistrom with 1:03 left. The defense held the NFL's highest-scoring team to one touchdown, forced four turnovers, limited Marshall Faulk to 63 total yards, induced him to fumble twice and knocked him out of the game with a knee injury, sacked Kurt Warner six times (four by Michael Strahan) and hit him on at least 16 other occasions and gave up just one touchdown on four Rams trips into the red zone. But it wasn't enough to win the game because of what happened in the decisive fourth period when two key penalties derailed the Giants. After Ike Hilliard's 25-yard touchdown reception gave the Giants a 14-9 lead with 13:33 left, the visitors had a chance to take a commanding lead when Warner fumbled as he attempted to throw while Strahan was sacking him around the legs. Kenny Holmes recovered at the St. Louis 39, almost within range of a field goal that would have given them an 8-point lead. On second down, Ron Dayne gained five yards to set up what would have been a third-and-one. But Dayne shoved the ball in the face of defensive tackle Brian Young. Umpire Jim Duke was standing right next to Danye and threw his flag. Dayne was penalized 15 yards for unsportsmanlike conduct. That pushed the Giants back to the 45, where they faced a third-and-16. After an incomplete pass, the Giants were forced to punt. After the punt, St. Louis took possession at its own 23 with 8:34 remaining. Warner threw a 7-yard pass to Canidate on fourth-and-4, giving the Rams a first down at the 26. Two plays later, on third-and-8 from the 24, Warner threw to the left side of the end zone toward Canidate, whose jersey was grabbed by safety Sam Garnes. The pass interference call gave the Rams a first down at the one. Warner was knocked out of the game on the play after he was sandwiched by Holmes and Strahan. Backup Jamie Martin came and handed the ball to Canidate, who scored the winning touchdown. The Rams' 2-point conversion try was unsuccessful. The Giants again played without running back Tiki Barber, who missed his second game with a pulled hamstring. The Giants also lost defensive tackle Keith Hamilton for most of the second half with a dislocated shoulder. The Giants trailed, 9-7, at the end of a first half in which they controlled most of the action. They had an opportunity to pad what had been a 1-point lead, but a costly special teams penalty negated a Morten Andersen field goal and gave the Rams an opportunity to take the lead on Jeff Wilkins' 25-yard field goal as time expired in the second period. The Giants led, 7-6, when they took possession at their own 46-yard line with 7:46 left in the half. They marched all the way to the St. Louis 21-yard line, where they faced a second-and-seven. But Damon Washington lost two yards running to the right side. On third down, Washington dropped a certain first down and potential touchdown pass from Collins, forcing Andersen to attempt a 41-yard field goal. The kick was good ... but not for long. Dan Campbell was penalized for holding, taking the three points off the board and pushing the Giants back 10 yards. Andersen then hooked his 51-yard try wide to the left, his first miss of the season after five successes. The Giants took an early 7-0 lead on Ron Dayne's 4-yard touchdown run on the sixth play of the game. The Rams responded with three Jeff Wilkins field goals: From 28 and 33 yards in the first period and a 25-yard on the final play of the second period that gave the Rams their first lead at 9-7.

GIANTS VS. EAGLES • OCT. 22, 2001

Game 6
EAGLES 10, GIANTS 9
At East Rutherford, Oct. 22, 2001

They were the boxer who controls a fight with jabs only to get knocked out in the 10th round, the race car driver who leads for 99 laps but is passed just before the checkered flag, the pitcher who cruises into the ninth inning with a two-hitter but gives up a game-winning home run. The Giants controlled the game and owned the lead for most of their game against Philadelphia in a Monday night encounter. But a late Eagles touchdown doomed them to a frustrating 10-9 loss in Giants Stadium, their second one-point defeat in as many weeks - the first time that's happened since 1930. How exasperating was it for the Giants? They owned the ball for 24:35 in the first half and traveled inside the 20-yard line on four consecutive possessions. All they had to show for it was three field goals. The Eagles were staggered, but remained upright and eventually they landed the biggest blow of the night, James Thrash's game-winning 18-yard touchdown reception from Donovan McNabb with just 1:52 left. Philadelphia improved to 3-2 and jumped ahead of the 3-3 Giants and into first place in the NFC East. The Eagles, who were ineffective offensively all night, had to travel just 40 yards in seven plays to the winning score after Rodney Williams miss-hit a 27-yard punt. Morten Andersen accounted for all of the Giants scoring with three short field goals in the first half. That was almost enough to win the game thanks to a magnificent effort by the Giants defense, which bottled up McNabb and the Philadelphia offense most of the night. But the inability of the Giants offense to capitalize on their numerous chances in the second half eventually caught up with them. The Giants were a different team in the second half when they generated only 59 yards of offense, three first downs and converted just one of six third-down opportunities. Philadelphia didn't do much better, though the Eagles managed to get on the scoreboard with 1:34 remaining in the third period on David Akers' 25-yard field goal. That cut the Giants lead to 9-3. Midway through the fourth period, the game began to turn against the Giants. Rodney Williams' 39-yard punt would have given the Eagles possession on their own 38. But Thabiti Davis was penalized for holding, forcing Williams to kick again from 10 yards further back. This time he hit the ball poorly and it traveled only 27 yards, putting the Eagles on the Giants 40-yard line - a difference of 22 yards. There was 5:52 remaining when the Eagles took over. Philly didn't gain more than seven yards on any of the drive's first six plays, but still found itself with a second-and-10 at the 18 at the two-minute warning. When play resumed, McNabb rolled to his right and fired a strike to Thrash, who got both feet down before sliding out of bounds. The Giants led 9-0 at halftime thanks to Andersen's field goals. The lead could have been larger, as the Giants made four trips inside the Philadelphia 20-yard line without scoring a touchdown. The home team dominated the half, holding the Eagles to 14 plays and 57 yards. The Giants ran 45 plays and gained 179 yards. The time of possession was 24:35 for the Giants and only 5:25 for Philadelphia. Andersen's third field goal - and second from 24 yards - gave the Giants their 9-point lead with 2:14 remaining in the half. As they had done twice previously, the Giants scored after a sustained, time-eating drive. This one covered 61 yards and took 12 plays and 8:28 off the clock. But as they had on their first two scoring possessions, the Giants had a first down inside the 20 and failed to get the ball into the end zone. Andersen's second field goal, a 21-yarder, pushed the Giants lead to 6-0 with 2:04 elapsed in the second period. The nine-play, 39-yard drive was set up by a Shaun Williams' interception. Andersen opened the scoring with 24-yard field goal with 3:31 left in the first period. The Giants were at their ball-hogging best on the scoring drive, holding the ball for 8:17 as they moved from their own to the Eagles 6-yard line. But they couldn't punch the ball into the end zone and settled for Andersen's 3-pointer. The Giants converted three third downs on the march, two of them after Philadelphia offsides penalties moved the ball ahead five yards. The Giants missed an opportunity to pad their lead in the waning moments of the first half. They moved from their own 35 to the Eagles 16, but a series of miscues pushed them back and Andersen was short on a 49-yard field goal attempt.

GIANTS VS. REDSKINS • OCT. 28, 2001

Game 7
REDSKINS 35, GIANTS 21
At Landover, Oct. 28, 2001

The Giants have gone from Supe to nuts in less than half a season. They lost their third consecutive game, and second straight within the NFC East, when they dropped a 35-21 decision to the Washington Redskins at FedExField.In 2000, the Giants never lost three games in a row. They lost just one division game all season. They are now 1-2 in the NFC East. And they lost just one game on the road, where they're 1-3 this season. Overall, they are 3-4. Clearly, we're not in the year 2000 anymore. Not when they were facing a team that had allowed an average of 161.7 yards on the ground entering the game and the Giants rushed for only 42 yards - exactly 100 yards less than the Giants' rushing total against the Redskins in a 23-9 victory on Oct. 9. Not when they fumbled the ball away on the game's second play, giving Washington an early touchdown. Not when the special teams surrender an 89-yard punt return to a player who hadn't played since 1999. Not when the defense breaks down at critical times, giving up fourth-quarter, third-down conversions when the Redskins needed 18 and then 19 yards to keep the ball - the latter resulting in a 76-yard touchdown pass. Washington's Tony Banks threw touchdown passes to Rod Gardner and Michael Westbrook, receiver Kevin Lockett added one to Derrius Thompson, and Eric Metcalf celebrated his return to the NFL with the 89-yard punt return. Kerry Collins threw touchdown passes for the Giants to Amani Toomer, Ike Hilliard and Greg Comella. The Giants played most of the game without three defensive starters. Tackle Keith Hamilton (shoulder) and cornerback Will Allen (ankle) were inactive. Linebacker Jessie Armstead sprained his knee in the second period. He returned for one play, then spent the second half on the bench in street clothes. Michael Strahan had two fourth-period sacks to boost his total to 12.5, the most in NFL history over a five-game span. On the game's second play, the Giants attempted to run an end-around, but Toomer dropped the handoff from Collins. Kenard Lang recovered for the Redskins on the Giants 17-yard line. Three plays later, Banks fired a 12-yard touchdown pass to rookie Rod Gardner. Washington's new punt returner, Metcalf, increased the Redskins lead to 14-0 with a meandering 89-yard return with 6:06 left in the second period. Metcalf, who had not played in the NFL since 1999, was signed four days prior to the game to give life to a Redskins punt return team that had accounted for only 19 yards in the first six games. It was the first punt returned for a touchdown against the Giants since Indianapolis' Terrence Wilkins brought one back 39 yards in a 27-19 Colts victory on Nov. 14, 1999. The Giants tied the score at 14-14 as Collins threw second period touchdown passes to Hilliard and Toomer. The 39-yarder to Hilliard was highlight-tape material. The receiver caught the ball at the 22, sidestepped cornerback Champ Bailey with a nifty fake, evaded a diving tackle attempt by Lavar Arrington, then moved past safety Sam Shade for the score. The Giants had scored their first points with 6:29 left in the period when Toomer caught a 6-yard touchdown pass from Collins. Toomer leaped over Bailey and caught a perfectly thrown fade pass from Collins. Brett Conway's 43-yard field goal as time expired gave the Redskins a 17-14 halftime lead - despite the fact that the Giants had out-gained Washington, 190-83, and had 12 first downs to only three for the home team. The second half started as badly as the first had when Morten Andersen's kickoff bounced out-of-bounds just shy of the goal line, giving Washington a first down on its 40. Four plays later, on first down from the Giants 31, the Skins scored a touchdown by having a player who never throws a pass -Lockett - toss one to a player who seldom catches one - Thompson, who had one reception entering the game. The score gave the Redskins a 24-14 lead. When the Giants took their first snap with 12:59 left in the third quarter, they were in a shotgun. They ran a no-huddle offense for most of the third and fourth periods. But it was the Redskins who scored next, as Conway's 20-yard field goal made it 27-14. The Giants responded with a 12-play, 72-yard drive that ended with Collins' 1-yard pass to Comella, who scored his first career regular season touchdown. It was 27-21, and the Giants looked to be in position to steal a victory. But midway through the fourth period, Banks threw deep down the right sideline to Westbrook, who got two steps on Jason Sehorn, caught the ball at the Giants 35 and sprinted untouched into the end zone. Banks' pass to Donnell Bennett gave them a 2-point conversion and a 35-21 lead.

GIANTS VS. COWBOYS • NOV. 4, 2001

Game 8
GIANTS 27, COWBOYS 24 (OT)
At East Rutherford, Nov.4, 2001

How fitting that the Giants contributed to a week of unforgettable comebacks in the sports world by staging their biggest rally in 15 years. Perhaps taking their cue from the World Series - where the New York Yankees and Arizona Diamondbacks each won games with near-miracle comebacks - the Giants staged the NFL version of a late-inning surge on Sunday. The Giants, twice trailing by 17 points and facing a 10-point deficit entering the fourth period, staged an incredible rally and pulled out a scintillating 27-24 overtime victory over the Dallas Cowboys in Giants Stadium. The Giants hadn't won a game in which they trailed by 17 points since Dec. 1, 1986, when they beat the 49ers in San Francisco, 21-17, after facing a 17-0 halftime deficit. The winning points were scored by kicker Morten Andersen, who ended the 300th game of his 20-year career with a 42-yard field goal 7:12 into the extra period. He extended his own record with his 29th game-winning three-pointer. The Giants ended a three-game losing streak and improve to 4-4 at midseason. The Giants trailed 17-0 just 28 seconds into the second period and 24-7 at halftime, a juncture in the game when they already had four turnovers. But they out-scored Dallas in the fourth period and overtime, 20-0. The Giants roster was full of heroes and goats. Collins, oddly enough, was both. In the first half he threw interceptions that were returned for touchdowns by Dexter Coakley and Mario Edwards, almost personally accounting for the 17-point hole. But he also threw three touchdown passes, including two in the second half, and made a huge 33-yard, third-down throw to Ike Hilliard that set the table for Andersen's game-winning kick. Some of the other prominent contributors included Joe Jurevicius, who caught two touchdown passes for the first time in his career; William Peterson, Dhani Jones and Brandon Short all had their first career interceptions in the second half; Jason Sehorn made it a foursome with his team high-tying third of the season (the picks by Peterson and Sehorn were in the end zone); Thabiti Davis blocked a punt to set up the tying touchdown; Mike Barrow was credited with 14 tackles, including nine solos; Tiki Barber caught eight passes and Hilliard seven, including the tying touchdown in the fourth period. The first half was eminently forgettable for the Giants. Dallas' Tim Seder kicked a 22-yard field goal. The second possession ended when Collins was sacked by Byron Frisch and fumbled. Brandon Noble picked up the ball and returned it six yards to the Giants 15. Two plays later, Joey Galloway was alone in the end zone when he hauled in a 16-yard touchdown pass from Clint Stoerner for a 10-0 lead. Then it really got ugly for the Giants. Collins threw for tight end Dan Campbell on the right side. But Coakley stepped in front of the Campbell, caught the ball and raced 29 yards untouched to the end zone. Just like that Dallas had two touchdowns in 47 seconds and a 17-0 lead. Seder's short bid on a 47-yard field goal attempt and Collins subsequent 4-yard touchdown pass to Jurevicius seemed to signal a reversal of fortune, especially when the Cowboys quickly went three-and-out after the Giants score. But the turnover bug bit again, after the Giants had moved from their own 36 to the Dallas 33 using their two-minute offense. Collins' pass for Amani Toomer was picked off by Edwards, who eluded an attempted tackle by Collins at the 45 and easily outraced Lomas Brown on a 71-yard return that made it 24-7. The game turned around in the second half, when the Giants intercepted Stoerner four times. Peterson's pick led to Collins' 34-yard touchdown pass to Joe Jurevicius, which made it 24-14. Dallas knocked on the door again on its next possession, but Sehorn leaped to intercept a pass in the end zone intended for Raghib Ismail. On the first play of the fourth period, Jones intercepted Stoerner and returned the ball to midfield. That set up Andersen's 40-yard field goal. The Cowboys went quickly and quietly on their next possession, forcing Micah Knorr to punt from his own 24. Davis shot through a huge hole in the line, got his hands on the kick and fell on the ball at the Dallas 14. It was the Giants first blocked punt of the 72-game Fassel era. Two plays later, Collins found Hilliard by himself in the end zone to tie the score at 24-24. Dallas won the overtime coin toss and was on the move when Barrow sacked Leaf for a 10-yard loss. The Giants took possession at their own 15 after a Dallas punt. On third-and-five from the 34, Collins eluded the pass rush, rolled right and fired a pass to Hilliard for a huge 33-yard gain to the Cowboys 33. The Giants gained nine more yards before Andersen kicked his game-winning field goal.

GIANTS VS. CARDINALS • NOV. 11, 2001

Game 9

GIANTS 17, CARDINALS 10

At Tempe, Nov. 11, 2001

To the television viewer watching at home, it likely wasn't the most exciting or memorable game they ever watched. But to the Giants, their 17-10 victory over the Arizona Cardinals in Sun Devil Stadium was just fine, thank you. The Giants improved to 5-4. Ron Dayne and Ike Hilliard scored touchdowns and Morten Andersen kicked a field goal to account for the Giants scoring. The Giants could have won by a more comfortable margin, but they got just three points on two trips deep into Arizona territory midway through the second half. Andersen also missed a first-half field goal attempt. The Giants rushed for a season-high 186 yards, including 118 by Tiki Barber. Kerry Collins played an efficient game (15-for-24 for 155 yards, 1 TD, 1 Int.). After turning over the ball five times last week against Dallas, the Giants coughed it up just once in the desert. The defense smothered the Arizona offense for most of the game and remain virtually impenetrable in the red zone. Michael Strahan continued his sack binge. Something the Giants will look to do is improve their red zone offense. After scoring a touchdown from in close on their initial possession, the Giants flubbed their next two opportunities. They were stopped on downs despite getting two shots from the 1-yard line in the third period and settled for Andersen's field goal in the final quarter. The Giants gave themselves an early cushion and the defense kept Arizona off the scoreboard most of the afternoon. Dayne's 3-yard run up the middle just 5:59 into the game gave the Giants a 7-0 lead. The touchdown capped a 7-play, 44-yard drive on which the Giants passed just once, a 14-yard completion to Amani Toomer. That gave the Giants a first down on the Arizona 15. Barber gained six yards up the middle before Dayne picked up two yards. The Giants picked up four additional yards when Ronald McKinnon was penalized for a late hit. On the next play, Dayne powered his way into the end zone for his fourth touchdown of the season. Collins' 27-yard touchdown pass to Hilliard increased the Giants lead to 14-0 with 7:40 remaining in the second period. Hilliard got two steps ahead of cornerback David Barrett. The Giants drove 42 yards in five plays after recovering an Arizona fumble. Collins' 12-yard pass to Toomer on third-and-seven kept the march alive. The Giants took possession after an unusual turnover. Arizona faced a third-and-goal at the Giants 7-yard line when Jake Plummer dropped back to pass. Plummer was pursued by Strahan, who poked the ball out of the quarterback's hand. The ball bounced 32 yards down the field, where it was picked up by Kenny Holmes, the other defensive end. Holmes gained six yards before tossing a lateral to Mike Barrow, who picked up an additional 13 yards. Strahan was credited with a forced fumble and a 32-yard sack, his 15th of the season, tying the career high he set in 1998 and tying the NFL record for sacks in a seven-game stretch. Giants Hall of Famer Lawrence Taylor had 15 sacks in a seven-game stretch in 1986. Owen Pochman's 16-yard punt gave Arizona the ball on the Giants 38-yard line and helped the Cardinals score their only touchdown, on Plummer's 38-yard pass to David Boston with 4:38 left in the second period. Arizona scored the only points of the third period and moved to within 14-10 when Bill Gramatica kicked a 32-yard field goal with 8:05 remaining. The Cardinals 35-yard drive was set up by a Kwame Lassiter's interception of a Collins pass on the first possession of the second half. The Cards drove from the Giants 48 to the 12, but Strahan stopped Michael Pittman for a 1-yard loss on third down, forcing Arizona to try a field goal. The Giants increased their advantage to 17-10 on Andersen's 25-yard field goal with 11:39 remaining in the fourth period. After an Arizona punt, the Giants drove 33 yards in eight plays before Andersen was summoned. The Giants kept the march moving when Collins picked up three yards on a quarterback sneak on fourth-and-inches on the first play of the fourth period. That gave the Giants a first down on the 28. Two plays later, Collins passed to Toomer for a 13-yard gain to the 14. But once again, the Giants couldn't punch the ball into the end zone from in close. Collins was forced out-of-bounds for a 3-yard loss (Rob Fredrickson was credited with a sack) before passes to Hilliard and Howard Cross gained five yards apiece to the seven. Andersen came on to kick the field goal and Arizona never seriously threatened again.

GIANTS VS. VIKINGS • NOV. 19, 2001

Game 10

VIKINGS 28, GIANTS 16

At Minneapolis, Nov. 19, 2001

On Nov. 19, 2000, the Giants fell into a 28-point hole before losing to the Detroit Lions, 31-21, a defeat that left their record at 7-4 and seemingly jeopardized their playoff aspirations. Three days later coach Jim Fassel issued his now-famous guarantee and the Giants won their last five regular season games and marched all the way to Super Bowl XXXV. On Nov. 19, 2001, the Giants couldn't hold a fourth-quarter lead and lost to the Minnesota Vikings in the Metrodome, 28-16, a loss that dropped them to 5-5 and put a serious crimp in their plans to spend most of January playing football. Daunte Culpepper threw four touchdown passes for the Vikings, three to Randy Moss and one to Cris Carter. He was the first quarterback to pass for four scores against the Giants since Trent Green of the Rams did it on Nov. 12, 2000. The Giants forced three turnovers but struggled on offense all night, managing just one touchdown against a defense that was ranked 30th in the NFL entering the game. Continuing a recent trend, they fizzled in the red zone, with just one touchdown in four trips inside the Minnesota 20-yard line. Tiki Barber scored the Giants lone touchdown and Morten Andersen kicked three field goals and raised his career points total to 1,999. Defensively, the Giants could not stop Moss and Carter, who caught 10 passes apiece. Rookie Will Allen had the first two-interception game of his career. The Giants were penalized 15 times for 150 yards and lost for the third time this season on Monday Night Football, falling to 15-26-1 all-time on Monday nights. They held a 16-14 lead after three quarters and lost for the first time in 18 games when leading entering the fourth period on the road under Jim Fassel. Minnesota needed just four plays - plus a 39-yard pass interference penalty on Allen - to score a touchdown. Moss got the points on a 29-yard pass from Culpepper. Safety Shaun Williams, who was assisting Jason Sehorn on coverage, appeared to be in position to knock the ball away. But Moss leaped to make a circus catch, completing a 76-yard drive. But the Giants quickly rebounded from the inauspicious beginning as Andersen kicked a 43-yard field goal to cut the gap to 7-3. The Giants took a 10-7 lead on Barber's 1-yard run with four seconds left in the first period. It was fitting that Barber carried the ball into the end zone because on the previous play he had put the Giants in scoring position with a darting, weaving, 29-yard run. That exciting dash immediately followed a successful fourth-down quarterback sneak by Collins, which gave the Giants a first down on the Vikings 30-yard line. The Vikings jumped ahead 14-10 lead on Moss' second touchdown of the game, a 25-yard pass from Culpepper. Because of a missed assignment, no defender was within 15 yards of Moss, who caught the ball near the 10-yard line and pranced into the end zone. Moss' antics earned him an unsportsmanlike conduct penalty. The Giants halftime deficit was 14-13 after Andersen booted his second field goal of the game, a 36-yarder with 1:05 left in the second period. The Giants drove 43 yards in seven plays, the biggest a 32-yard strike to Ike Hilliard on third-and-20. The visitors had a chance to take a lead into the locker room at halftime, but Andersen's 52-yard field goal attempt hit the crossbar and just missed bouncing over. Andersen's 51-yard field goal, his third of the game, pushed the Giants into the lead at 16-14 with 11:28 left in the third period. It was the 39th field goal of Andersen's career that was 50 yards or longer, extending his own record. The Giants held the advantage into the final period, which seemed to be a good omen - they entered the game with a 33-2 record under Fassel in games they led after three quarters. But Minnesota took the lead for good at 21-16 on Culpepper's fourth-down, 1-yard pass to Carter with 9:03 remaining in the fourth period, a score that capped a 62-yard drive that took 14 plays and took 8:54 to complete. The Vikings clinched the game with one of their biggest plays, a 57-yard pass from Culpepper to Moss. No Giant was near the lanky receiver when he caught the ball in the middle of the field at the Giants 41-yard line. Moss then sprinted to the end zone untouched for his third score.

GIANTS VS. RAIDERS • NOV. 25, 2001

Game 11
RAIDERS 28, GIANTS 10
At East Rutherford, Nov. 25, 2001

The Giants' bid to become major players in the NFC playoff race was dealt a serious blow as they were dominated by the visiting Oakland Raiders and lost, 28-10, in soggy Giants Stadium. The Giants trailed at halftime, 21-3, and never mounted a serious challenge in a second half played in a downpour. They lost for the fifth time in seven games and fell to 5-6 on the season. Rich Gannon threw three touchdown passes for Oakland, two to Tim Brown and one to Charlie Garner. Zack Crockett also scored for the Raiders. The Giants' lone outstanding performance was turned in by Tiki Barber, who rushed for 124 yards on 19 carries and scored the team's only touchdown. The Raiders put the game away when Gannon threw a 19-yard touchdown pass to Brown, who out-jumped Will Allen on the left side of the end zone, for a 28-10 lead with 9:34 left. After the Giants failed to convert on a fourth-down attempt, Oakland moved 65 yards in only five plays in the driving rain. The big play was a 40-yard pass to Brown, who somehow was wide open when he caught the ball at the Giants 40-yard line. He advanced it all the way to the 22. Three plays later Gannon threw a perfect pass to Brown, who grabbed the ball away from Will Allen. The Giants had pulled to within 21-10 on Barber's nifty 12-yard run up the middle with 4:10 remaining in the third period. The play climaxed a nine-play, 80-yard drive on which the Giants executed impressively, considering the miserable conditions. Morten Andersen, who earlier had kicked a field goal, booted the extra point. That gave him 2,003 career points and moved him past George Blanda and into second place on the NFL's career-list. Minnesota's Gary Anderson is first with 2,098. The Raiders scored first, taking the opening kickoff and marching 71 yards in eight plays to take a 7-0 lead. Zack Crockett got the touchdown on a 1-yard run up the middle. The Giants got on the board with 3:31 remaining in the period when Andersen kicked a 47-yard field goal. Barber started the 47-yard drive with a 36-yard run to the left side, punctuating the long gain by running over cornerback Charles Woodson, who attempted to tackle him. But the Giants gained only 12 yards on their next five plays, forcing Andersen to kick the field goal. After the kick, the rest of the half belonged to the Raiders as Gannon threw touchdown passes to Garner and Brown. The first was a 21-yarder to Garner on a screen pass four plays into the second period. Garner caught the ball on the right side at the 25, then raced untouched into the end zone for a 14-3 lead. On the scoring drive, Oakland drove 63 yards in 10 plays and converted both of its third-down opportunities, the first on a 14-yard pass to Rice and the other on another Gannon scramble and slide, this one for five yards. That gave the Raiders a first down on the 33. On first down, Garner got past Sam Garnes with a terrific fake and picked up seven yards. After the next two plays gained five yards, Gannon flipped the ball to Garner, who scored easily. The game continued to turn against the Giants during the rest of the quarter. They held the ball for eight minutes on their next possession, but were forced to punt from the Oakland 42-yard line. The Raiders took over on their own 11-yard line and needed only six plays and three minutes to move 89 yards and extend their lead to 21-3. Brown got the touchdown on a 46-yard pass from Gannon. On first-and-15 (following a Raiders penalty for illegal formation) Gannon dropped back and fired a strike to Brown, who caught ball in the middle of the field at the Giants 22. Brown was not touched until Shaun Williams tackled him as he crossed the goal line. Earlier in the drive, Gannon hooked up with Rice for a 37-yard completion. Rice slipped by Jason Sehorn, caught a short pass in the center of the field and took off before he was caught from behind by Sehorn.

GIANTS VS. COWBOYS • DEC. 9, 2001

Game 12
COWBOYS 20, GIANTS 13
At Irving, Dec. 9, 2001

Anyone looking for a crystal clear example of the difference between the NFC Champion Giants of 2000 and the third-place finishers of 2001 need only look at the games played in Dallas. On Dec. 17, 2000, the Giants visited Texas Stadium and trailed at halftime, 13-0. But they rallied for a 17-13 victory that improved their record to 11-4, clinched the NFC East title and inspired a raucous locker room celebration. Almost exactly a year later, the Giants returned to Dallas. They jumped out to a 13-3 lead with some crisp offensive execution. But then the litany of problems that have plagued the team throughout the season surfaced again. The attack lost its sting, the defense again gave up crippling big plays and the special teams were awful. The result was a 20-13 loss and a locker room notable only for its stark silence. It was the Giants' third defeat in a row and sixth in eight games and it came against a team that was just 4-8. It was also the first time in Fassel's five years as coach that they lost a game after leading by as many as 10 points. They slipped to 5-7. The Giants looked like the superior team in the opening period, out-gaining Dallas, 98-4 and enjoying a commanding 6-0 advantage in first downs. But the Giants picked up only six first downs over the final three periods - three on their final eight possessions. In the first half, Tiki Barber rushed for 93 of the team's 100 yards on the ground. Over the final two periods, Barber had 17 rushing yards and the team had 25. Defensively, the Giants were burned for 17 completions in 26 attempts by rookie quarterback Quincy Carter. Raghib Ismail caught 10 passes for 118 yards, becoming the fifth receiver in as many games to exceed 100 yards. Dallas averaged 34.8 yards on four kickoff returns. Reggie Swinton and Michael Wiley each had a 40-yarder. Barber muffed a punt return on a play in which the Giants had only 10 men on the field. Dallas turned the miscue into three points. Late in the third period, punter Rodney Williams failed to catch a snap, then came up short trying to run for the first down. That mistake led to the winning touchdown. Emmitt Smith and Jackie Harris scored touchdowns and Jon Hilbert kicked two field goals for the Cowboys. Williams' critical mistake helped Dallas take its first and only lead of the game, at 20-13, with 12:50 left in the fourth period on Carter's 3-yard pass to tight end Harris. The Cowboys had to drive only 26 yards after a Giants punt was aborted when Williams was unable to handle the snap. The ball went through his hands and hit his facemask. Williams did hold onto the ball long enough to gain five yards on the play, but that was two yards shy of the first down. Williams was playing with a brace on his right wrist, which he fractured against the Cowboys on Nov. 4. The Giants were driving for what they hoped would be a tying touchdown when Collins' pass for Amani Toomer was tipped by Duane Hawthorne and intercepted by Darren Woodson with 6:37 left in the game. The Giants got the ball back one more time, but had to punt from their own 17-yard line. Dallas ran out the final 3:39. The Cowboys tied the score at 13-13 with 6:28 left in the third period on Smith's 1-yard run. The play capped a seven-play, 71-yard drive that featured the 41-yard pass to the 1-yard line to Ismail. On the next play, Smith plowed through the middle of the line for the tying touchdown. A Collins touchdown pass and two Morten Andersen field goals had given the Giants a 13-6 halftime lead. The Giants extended their lead to 13-3 early in the second period on one of their most impressive possessions of the season, a 68-yard drive that took only three plays and 1:16 to complete. Barber's 15-yard punt return gave the Giants the ball on their own 32. On first down, Collins threw a pass up the right sideline to Toomer, who slipped after catching the ball but still gained 36 yards to the Dallas 32. Barber than zipped around the right side to the 2-yard line, where he was slammed out-of-bounds by safety George Teague in a collision that shook up both players. On the next play, Collins executed a nifty play-action fake, then flipped the ball to rookie tight end Marcellus Rivers, who was standing alone in the end zone. Dallas closed the gap with 48 seconds remaining in the second period on Jon Hilbert's 41-yard field goal. The Giants started the game impressively as Andersen kicked field goals on each of their first two possessions. Hilbert booted one of his own to make it 6-3 at the end of the first period.

GIANTS VS. CARDINALS • DEC. 15, 2001

Game 13,
GIANTS 17, CARDINALS 13
At East Rutherford, Dec. 15, 2001

Every 48 years, the Giants demoralize the Cardinals with a spectacular finish. On Nov. 1, 1953 they trailed the Cardinals in Chicago when Arnold Galiffa threw a 75-yard touchdown pass to Kyle Rote with just seven seconds left in the game to give the Giants an improbable 20-17 victory. Not until Dec. 15, 2001 - 48 years, one month and two weeks later - did the Giants come from behind to win a game in similar fashion. Amani Toomer scored on a 4-yard pass from Kerry Collins with 25 seconds left to give the Giants a 17-13 victory over the Cardinals, who are now based in Arizona via St. Louis. It was the latest the Giants had rallied from a deficit to score a winning touchdown since Rote's shocker. The Giants broke a three-game losing streak and improved to 6-7. They also completed a series sweep of the Cardinals for the second year in a row. Initially, it was the Giants who were stunned as Tywan Mitchell leaped over several defenders to catch a Jake Plummer pass on fourth-and-15 to give the Cards a 17-13 lead with 4:04 remaining. It appeared the Giants would suffer another disheartening defeat, similar to the kind they endured earlier this season. But Collins engineered a 70-yard drive that took 11 plays and 3:39 to complete. For most of the game, the offense had done little. They were out-gained, 285-244, had 15 first downs to 19 for the visitors, and held the ball for only 23:05. Unofficially, they dropped at least eight passes and many others were uncatchable because Collins (14-of-32 for 147 yards) was off the mark. But the Giants did have their heroes. Collins and Toomer made the big play at the end. Tiki Barber rushed for 85 yards and picked up a huge first down on the final drive. Jessie Armstead played his best game of the season with 16 tackles, including 13 solos. Mike Barrow had 13 (nine solos) and Brandon Short 10 (nine solos). After plodding along for 3 _ periods, the game picked up steam midway through the fourth quarter when the Cardinals took possession at the Giants' 43. Arizona faced a fourth-and-nine on the possession, but Plummer threw to Mitchell for an 11-yard gain. Four plays later, it was fourth-and-15 from the 24. Plummer, in the shotgun, dropped the snap, picked up the ball and rolled to his right. Seemingly desperate, he threw to the back of the end zone for Mitchell, who was surrounded by Giants. Mitchell jumped, caught the ball and came down with both feet in the end zone. The Giants suddenly trailed, 13-10. The winning drive began at the Giants 30-yard line with 3:50 left. On the first play, Collins hit Ike Hilliard for 14 yards. Barber then scampered around right end for 14 more. After a 4-yard pass to Barber and an incompletion, Collins hit Hilliard for nine yards and Toomer for 14 to give the Giants a first down at the Arizona 15-yard line with 1:56 left. On third-and-10, Collins hooked up with Barber for an 11-yard pass to the four. After Greg Comella was stopped for no gain, Collins fired to Toomer on the right side of the end zone for the winning score. Collins also threw a touchdown pass to Ron Dixon in the first period, and Morten Andersen kicked a fourth quarter field goal for the Giants. Bill Gramatica kicked two first-half field goals for the Cardinals. After a scoreless third period, the Giants extended their lead to 10-6 with 11:50 remaining in the fourth quarter on Andersen's 39-yard field goal. The Giants led at halftime, 7-6, as Collins' touchdown pass to Dixon was a point better than Gramatica's two field goals. The Giants had jumped out to a 7-3 lead on Collins' 26-yard touchdown pass to Dixon with 5:08 remaining in the first period. It was Dixon's fifth catch of the season, and his first touchdown. It was Dixon's second career touchdown reception and first since Sept. 17, 2000 at Chicago. The Cardinals scored first on Gramatica's 42-yard field goal on Arizona's second possession.

GIANTS VS. SEAHAWKS • DEC. 23, 2001

Game 14
GIANTS 27, SEAHAWKS 24
At East Rutherford, Dec. 23, 2001

The Giants have become the NFL's cardiac kids, a team that's going to make the defibrillator mandatory sideline equipment. They have cast themselves in a football version of Mission Impossible, able to pull victory out of an apparent hopeless situation not once, but twice. For the second straight week, they won in incredible fashion. Faced with a four-point deficit and needing to travel 96 yards in less than three minutes for a touchdown to win a game they absolutely had to have, the Giants amazingly did just that. Kerry Collins completed seven of 10 passes for every one of those 96 yards, including the 7-yard game-winning touchdown to Ike Hilliard with only 20 seconds remaining to give the Giants a dramatic 27-24 victory over the Seattle Seahawks. Last week, Collins led the Giants 70 yards in the waning moments and hit Amani Toomer for the game-winning touchdown in a 17-13 victory over the Arizona Cardinals. The Giants improved to 7-7. The Giants had many standout performers. Ron Dayne scored on the longest touchdown run of his career and Michael Strahan reached the end zone after recovering a fumble. Kicker Morten Andersen scored nine points. Safety Shaun Williams had 12 tackles and linebacker Mike Barrow had 11 and forced the fumble that Strahan scored on. But no one stepped up higher than Collins and his receivers on that memorable last drive. Earlier in the fourth period, Seattle's Fabien Bownes had downed a punt at the 1-yard line. Collins, leaned into the huddle and said, "Okay, we're going 99 (yards)." But they went only nine, and had to punt. Moments later, Seattle punted again and Bownes was there to down the ball - at the four. Collins, however, had not lost any confidence. "I said, 'Okay, we're going 96,'" he said. "It looked a little bit shorter at 96." This time he was correct. The drive started with a 28-yard pass to Amani Toomer. Collins completed his first five passes on the final drive, including an 11-yarder to Toomer (eight receptions for 124 yards), an 18-yarder to Joe Jurevicius and 7-yard passes to Jurevicius and Hilliard. That gave the Giants a first down on the Seattle 25-yard line with 48 seconds left. Collins threw to Hilliard, who couldn't hold onto the ball inside the five. Collins went right back to him for an 18-yard gain to the seven. After a timeout, Collins threw two incompletions, setting up a third-and-goal with 24 seconds left. Collins then fired a strike to Hilliard in the center of the end zone for the winning touchdown. The Giants pulled to within 24-20 with 12:41 left in the fourth period on Andersen's second field goal of the game, a 33-yarder. After being tied at halftime, the Giants fell into a hole immediately to start the second half. Ron Dixon fumbled the second-half kickoff after being hit by Marcus Bell. The ball was recovered by Paul Miranda at the Giants 30-yard line. Seattle needed just four plays to take the lead as Matt Hasselbeck flipped a 16-yard screen pass to Shaun Alexander, who ran untouched into the end zone for his second touchdown of the game. Each team scored on a long touchdown run, a defensive fumble recovery and a field goal to create a 17-17 halftime deadlock. Andersen tied the score with a 32-yard field goal with 15 seconds remaining in the second period. Seattle had taken a 17-14 lead with 3:24 left in the half when defensive tackle John Randle fell on Collins' fumble in the end zone. Collins was stripped of the ball by Antonio Cochran and fumbled. Randle fell on the ball near the back of the end zone for the score. The Giants had previously taken a 14-10 lead on their own defensive touchdown. On second-and-12 from the Seahawks 25, Hasselbeck was sacked by Barrow, who chopped the ball out of the quarterback's hand. Strahan picked up the ball and ran 13 yards for the score. Early in the second period, the Seahawks had taken a 10-7 lead on Rian Lindell's 20-yard field goal. The teams had traded touchdown runs by their heralded second-year running backs in the opening period. Seattle struck first, on Alexander's 29-yard run off left tackle with 5:43 left in the quarter. The Giants countered on their next possession on a 31-yard run by Dayne, whom the Giants selected in the 2000 draft ahead of Alexander.

GIANTS VS. EAGLES • DEC. 30, 2001

Game 15
EAGLES 24, GIANTS 21
At Philadelphia, Dec. 30, 2001

This time, a fantastic finish in the fourth period left the Giants with a heartbreaking defeat. After pulling out two breathtaking, last-minute victories, the Giants were victimized Sunday by the same kind of late rally they seemed to have patented. The Eagles scored 10 points in the final 1:49, including David Akers' game-winning 35-yard field goal with seven seconds remaining, to give the Eagles a 24-21 victory in Veterans Stadium. Remarkably, the Giants almost pulled out a victory on the game's final play. With the ball on their own 20 with those seven seconds remaining, the Giants called "76 Lambuth Special" in honor of second-year receiver Ron Dixon, who played collegiate football at tiny Lambuth University. Collins threw over the middle to Tiki Barber, who made his 10th reception of the game and gained 14 yards before flipping the ball back to Dixon, who was crossing to the left side of the field. Dixon took off down the left sideline and seemed about to score what would have been one of the most amazing and memorable touchdowns in the 77-year history of the franchise. But Dixon didn't quite make it. Safety Damon Moore cut across the field and tackled him at the 4-yard line, leaving the Giants that short distance shy of a miracle victory that would have kept them in postseason contention. The loss dropped the Giants to 7-8 and eliminated them from postseason consideration. It also overshadowed a brilliant performance by defensive end Michael Strahan. He had 3.5 sacks of Donovan McNabb in the first half, increasing his season total to 21.5, a new Giants single-season record. Offensively, Barber and Ron Dayne combined for 130 rushing yards and Dayne scored a fourth-quarter touchdown. Collins completed 22 of 39 passes, including a 60-yard touchdown to Toomer on a double-pass. Morten Andersen kicked two field goals for the Giants. Donovan McNabb threw three touchdown passes for the Eagles, who swept the season series. They defeated the Giants on Oct. 22, 10-9. The Giants led at the end of the third period, 10-7. The teams then exploded for 28 fourth-quarter points, 17 by the Eagles. The fun started on Philadelphia's first snap of the period when McNabb and James Thrash hooked up for a 57-yard touchdown. The Giants responded with a 58-yard drive that resulted in Andersen's 32-yard field goal, slicing their deficit to 14-13. After Philadelphia went three-and-out, the Giants took over on their own 19. On first down, Toomer lost 10 yards on an attempted end-around. The Giants then traveled 91 yards, though it was officially an 81-yard drive. Ron Dayne capped it by stepping through the middle for a 16-yard touchdown. Barber's 2-point conversion made it 21-14 with just 2:43 left. The Giants were confident their normally-stout defense would protect the lead and the game. But the unit couldn't stop the Eagles down the stretch. Philadelphia drove 67 yards in six plays, the last a 6-yard pass from McNabb to tight end Chad Lewis, who scored his second touchdown. The Giants then gained only four yards and had to punt. The Eagles took possession on their own 29 with 58 seconds to play and two timeouts. Thrash caught a 25-yard pass before McNabb threw to Todd Pinkston for nine yards. McNabb then ran four yards for a first down. Strahan held onto McNabb on the ground, drawing a delay of game penalty that gave Philly the ball on the Giants 28-yard line with 21 seconds left. McNabb scrambled for 11 more yards before Akers came on to kick the field goal that stabbed the Giants in the heart. Andersen's 25-yard field goal with 2:38 left in the third period gave the Giants a 10-7 lead. The Giants had used some razzle-dazzle to score on a 60-yard pass from Kerry Collins to Toomer to tie the score at 7-7 in the third period. After the Eagles punted on the opening possession of the second half, the Giants took over on their own 40. On first down, Collins handed off to Barber, who ran as if he was sweeping right. But Barber stopped and passed back to Collins, who was well behind the line of scrimmage to officially make the transaction a lateral. While all this was taking place, Toomer, who had lined up split wide to the right, sneaked down the field without an Eagle within 20 yards of him. Collins fired a long pass to the wide-open Toomer, who completed the successful flea-flicker by catching the ball at the 20 and sprinting into the end zone with 12:34 left in the period. It was the Giants' longest play of the season. The Giants trailed at halftime, 7-0, on Lewis' 5-yard touchdown reception from McNabb.

GIANTS VS. PACKERS • JAN. 6, 2002

Game 16
PACKERS 34, GIANTS 25
At East Rutherford, Jan. 6, 2002

Michael Strahan and Kerry Collins enjoyed record-setting games in the Giants' season finale against Green Bay, but their exploits couldn't prevent the Giants from concluding their season with a losing record. The Giants ended the 2001 season with a 34-25 loss to Packers in Giants Stadium. They trailed, 34-10, before scoring 15 unanswered points in the fourth period. The Giants lost their last two games to finish 7-9 for the second time in three seasons. For highlights from their season finale the Giants had to look at individual achievement. Strahan entered the NFL record book with 2:42 left in the fourth period when he sacked Green Bay quarterback Brett Favre for a 7-yard loss. That gave Strahan a league-record 22.5 sacks for the season, eclipsing Mark Gastineau's 17-year-old standard of 22 sacks. Collins had career-high totals of 59 passes, 36 completions and 386 yards, while leading an offense that gained a staggering 524 yards, the seventh-highest total in franchise history and the most since they had 535 yards against New Orleans on Oct. 8, 1967. He also became the first player in NFL history to throw every one of his team's passes two seasons in a row. Collins finished with over 300 yards passing for the third game in a row, the first time in his career he has put together three straight 300-yard games. Strahan and Collins could not prevent the team from suffering its eighth loss in 12 games following a 3-1 start. Brett Favre threw two touchdown passes, Ahman Green ran for two scores, and Ryan Longwell kicked two field goals for the Packers. Ike Hilliard, Tiki Barber and Ron Dayne scored touchdowns for the Giants. The Packers extended their lead to 24-10 on Green's 1-yard run with just 2:53 expired in the third period. The score was set up by Dorsey Levens' 53-yard kickoff return to open the second half. After a Giants punt, Longwell kicked a 43-yard field goal to push Green Bay's lead to 27-10. Then it got really ugly for the Giants as Collins' fumble resulted in Favre's 54-yard touchdown pass to Corey Bradford that expanded Green Bay's lead to 34-10. Barber moved the Giants a bit closer with a 10-yard touchdown run, his first score in five games. On Green Bay's next possession, a 45-yard pass from Favre to Schroeder helped move the Packers to the 1-yard line. But Favre fumbled a snap and Lance Legree recovered for the Giants to end the threat. Collins then led a 99-yard, 19-play drive - the first 18 plays were passes - that concluded with Dayne's 1-yard touchdown run. Dayne also scored on a 2-point conversion to slice Green Bay's lead to 34-25. But Owen Pochman's onside kickoff attempt went out-of-bounds, giving Green Bay the ball at its own 42-yard line. On first down, Strahan sacked Favre for the record. Longwell's 44-yard field goal as time expired in the second period increased the Packers' lead at halftime to 17-10. The Giants had pulled to within 14-10 on Morten Andersen's 27-yard field goal with 11:54 left in the second period. The Giants moved 66 yards in four plays, getting 61 of those yards on Dayne's career-long run. Favre hit Bill Schroeder for a 26-yard touchdown pass and a 7-0 lead just 3:56 into the game. Darren Sharper's interception led to a Packers touchdown, this one a 25-yard run by Green, who took a handoff and darted through the defense virtually untouched. With just 6:27 elapsed in the game, the Giants trailed, 14-0. But the Giants mounted a charge of their own to move within 14-7 on an 8-yard touchdown pass from Collins to Hilliard, who caught the ball just inside the end line and somehow got both feet down before falling out-of-bounds. Green Bay coach Mike Sherman challenged the ruling, but after reviewing tapes of the play, referee Johnny Greer upheld the original call and the touchdown. Prior to the touchdown, the most significant play on the drive was a 27-yard reception that enabled Amani Toomer to reach two milestones. The catch was his 70th of the season, making him the first Giants receiver to reach that plateau in three consecutive seasons. The reception also put him over 1,000 yards for the season. Toomer is the third Giant in history to have three consecutive 1,000-yard seasons. But like those of Strahan and Collins, Toomer's individual exploits couldn't lift the Giants to victory.

2001 GIANTS PRESEASON REVIEW

NEW ENGLAND 14, GIANTS 0 at Foxboro Stadium, August 10, 2001

The Giants dropped a 14-0 decision to the New England Patriots at Foxboro Stadium. The Giants were out-gained, 338-92, ran just 49 plays to 76 for the Patriots, and managed only six first downs, less than one-third of New England's total of 19. Rookie K Owen Pochman kicked one field goal in each period -- from 53, 23, 25 and 20 yards out. New England added two more points in the fourth quarter when Matt Chatham tackled Omar Bacon in the end zone for a safety. The loss gave the Giants their seventh straight loss in preseason games, dating back to 1999. While the starting defense kept New England's No. 1 offense out of the end zone, the Giants offense played listlessly. On 14 snaps over four possessions - including one in the second period - the unit totaled only 29 yards and had one turnover, a Kerry Collins pass that was intercepted by Bryan Cox. The turnover led to Pochman's second field goal. Collins finished his brief appearance with three completions in eight attempts for 18 yards. Ron Dayne rushed for 11 yards on four carries. Amani Toomer caught two passes for 12 yards - and led the team. Rodney Williams, the rookie punter from Georgia Tech, averaged 44.8 yards on eight kicks, including a booming 71-yarder out of his end zone and into the wind in the fourth period. He also had a 57-yard free kick after the safety.

GIANTS 27, JACKSONVILLE 5 at Giants Stadium, August 16, 2001

The Giants hit their stride in a triumphant return to Giants Stadium. They jumped out to a 20-0 halftime lead, then cruised to a 27-5 victory over the Jacksonville Jaguars in their preseason home opener. The Giants ended a seven-game preseason losing streak that dated back to 1999. In four possessions with Kerry Collins at quarterback, the first team offense gained 126 yards on 22 plays (a 5.7-yard average), picked up seven first downs and put 13 points on the board. Kerry Collins threw a six-yard touchdown pass to Greg Comella, and Jaret Holmes kicked field goals of 45 and 30 yards. The final first half score was a four-yard pass from Jason Garrett to Joe Jurevicius as time expired in the second period. The Giants rushed for 64 yards on 15 carries, a 4.3-yard average, in the half. Collins was outstanding, completing eight of 11 passes for 89 yards. Garrett, who seldom gets practice time with the first team, wrapped up the half by completing five of 10 passes for 38 yards and running a sharp two-minute drill. Rookie Jesse Palmer played the entire second half when both teams used backups throughout and joined the party with a 44-yard touchdown pass to rookie Jonathan Carter with 9:17 left in the game. Palmer completed eight of 12 passes for 98 yards. Jurevicius caught seven passes for 68 yards, all in the first half. His 24-yard reception helped set up Comella's touchdown, and Jurevicius fought off a defender in the end zone for his own score. Ron Dayne rushed for 43 yards on 12 carries. The defense held the Jaguars to 60 total yards and five first downs in the opening half.

2001 GIANTS PRESEASON REVIEW

JETS 17, GIANTS 14 at Giants Stadium, August 25, 2001

The Giants suffered a disappointing 17-14 defeat to the Jets for their second loss of the preseason. The Jets put together two impressive drives to jump out to a 14-0 halftime lead. The Jets scored first on a 4-yard pass from Vinny Testaverde to Wayne Chrebet with 1:05 remaining in the first period. Cornerback Dave Thomas was standing right next to Chrebet at the back of the end zone, but had his back toward Testaverde and didn't see the ball coming. The touchdown capped a long and unpleasant appearance by the Giants defense, which yielded a Jets drive that covered 81 yards and 13 plays in 8:43. Thanks to a pair of 10-yard penalties on the march, the Jets actually gained 101 yards on their way to the score. The Giants surrendered several big plays on the drive. They included a 24-yard pass to Laveranues Coles, a 12-yard Curtis Martin run on third-and-10 that put the Jets on the Giants 20, and a 17-yard pass to Chrebet that gave them a first-and-goal at the four. After Martin was twice stopped for no gain, Testaverde sneaked the ball past Thomas and into the hands of Chrebet for an early lead. The second successful Jets drive of the half was a hurry-up march that began at their 35 following Jaret Holmes' missed 44-yard field goal attempt and ended with a 1-yard dive into the end zone by LaMont Jordan, a rookie from Maryland. The Giants cut the deficit to 14-7 in the second half when Dayne scored on a 7-yard run to end their first possession of the second half. The Giants moved 70 yards in 13 plays, the most important being Rodney Williams' 9-yard run on a fake punt on fourth-and-four from the Jets 49. Early in the fourth period, John Hall's 42-yard field goal increased the Jets lead to 17-7. With 2:54 left, Dixon caught a 3-yard touchdown pass from Jason Garrett to cap a 15-play, 89-yard drive. The march was kept alive because the Jets had 12 men on the field when Tony Scott intercepted a Garrett pass.

BALTIMORE 38, GIANTS 9 at PSI Net Stadium, August 31, 2001

The Giants turned a tight 10-9 halftime deficit into a dismal 38-9 defeat at PSINet Stadium in a rematch of the two teams that played in Super Bowl XXXV seven months earlier. It was the Giants worst preseason loss since a 35-6 pasting at Houston in the opener in 1971 - a year in which the Giants were 0-6 in the summer. K Morten Andersen, the third-leading scorer in NFL history who was signed by the Giants two days prior to the game, accounted for all of the Giants points with first half field goals of 27, 33 and 34 yards. The Giants led 6-0 at the end of the first period. On the first play of the game, Kerry Collins (7-for-13 for 91 yards) connected with Amani Toomer for a 36-yard gain. Toomer caught two more passes for 15 yards on the march and Ron Dayne ran for 16 yards to set up Andersen's first field goal, just 3:20 into the game. After going three-and-out on their second possession, the Giants held the ball for 5:22 on their third possession, but the drive sputtered in the red zone, and Andersen came on for field goal No. 2 from 27 yards to cap the starters' day. The game began to fall apart for the Giants in the second period after the Ravens first-team offense took possession at its own 48-yard line against the Giants substitute defense. Baltimore took advantage of the mismatch by driving 52 yards in just five plays, including a 35-yard pass from Elvis Grbec to Brandon Stokely, who burned the Giants for a touchdown in the Super Bowl. Veteran running back Terry Allen, whom the Ravens signed when Jamal Lewis suffered a season-ending knee injury in training camp, scored their first touchdown on a 1-yard dive over the left side of the line. The Ravens extended their lead to 10-6 on a 45-yard field goal by one-time Giants draft pick Matt Stover with 2:19 remaining in the half. The 25-yard drive was set up by the Ravens intercepting Jason Garrett. Andersen's third field goal of the first half, a 34-yarder as time expired, lifted the Giants to within a point (10-9) at the intermission. The 3-pointer came at the end of a 10-play, 55-yard two-minute drill that was engineered by Garrett. Quinton Spotwood caught two passes on the drive for 24 yards, while Thabiti Davis added an 11-yarder. The Giants reached the 16-yard line, but Garrett only had time to throw one pass into the end zone for Davis, who had no chance to catch it, before Andersen trotted onto the field. Early in the third period, Jason Brookins scored on a 2-yard plunge to extend Baltimore to a 17-9 advantage. That score was set up by a Will Allen muff on a punt return. The ball was recovered by the Ravens Evan Howell at the Giants 31-yard line. With Randall Cunningham playing quarterback, Baltimore needed eight plays to reach the end zone. The Ravens pushed their lead to 24-9 when Chris Redman, who completed 10 of 11 passes, threw a 9-yard touchdown pass to Jermaine Lewis with 2:51 remaining in the period. The play capped a seven-play, 96-yard drive that featured a 70-yard gain by Brookins, who sprinted through a huge hole in the line and up the right sideline before William Peterson tackled him. Baltimore boosted its advantage to 31-9 with 10:55 left in the fourth quarter when Redman, a second-year pro, connected with Patrick Johnson for an 18-yard touchdown to cap a 10-play, 74-yard drive. DT Kelly Gregg's second moment of glory (he notched an interception in the second quarter) occurred when the game was already decided. Jesse Palmer, who played the entire second half at QB for the Giants, was sacked for an 8-yard loss by Dwayne Missouri. The rookie quarterback fumbled and Gregg fell on the ball. When no one touched him, the third-year pro jumped to his feet and raced to the end zone to give the Giants' forgettable afternoon an unpleasant ending.

HISTORY OF THE NEW YORK GIANTS

HISTORY CAPSULE

The city of New York was introduced to professional football on the same day that the city was introduced to the New York Giants. It was a clear sunny October afternoon in 1925 when the Giants took the field to play against the Frankford Yellow Jackets. The Giants lost their home debut by the score of 14-0 to lower their record to 0-3 after opening with two losses on the road. But more importantly, the New York Giants and professional football had arrived.

Tim Mara, a bookmaker (legal at the time) and successful businessman and promoter, purchased the team for a reported $500. In an era when professional football was in the shadows of baseball, boxing and college football, and professional football teams hailed from the towns of Dayton, Rochester and Columbus, league officials believed that a team in a large market such as New York was exactly what was needed to keep pro football alive.

The Giants struggled financially through the first decade but managed to win their first title in only their third season, going 11-1-1 in 1927. With the fall of the Stock Market and the Depression that followed, the 1930s were not off to a great start. Tim Mara suffered substantial losses during the crash that threatened the existence of the Giants. With that fear in mind, Tim Mara handed control of the franchise over to his two sons, Jack Mara, who was twenty-two, and Wellington, who was fourteen. Wellington Mara became the youngest owner of a football team and began his storied career as a major player in the Giants organization.

In 1934 the Giants beat the Chicago Bears, 30-13, in nine-degree temperatures at the Polo Grounds in a game that has become famous as the "Sneakers Game." With the Giants trailing 10-3 at the half, head coach Steve Owen provided his squad with basketball shoes to increase traction on the icy turf. The team responded with four touchdowns in the second half to turn the game into a Giants rout.

If there ever were a time for the National Football League and the New York Giants to fold, it would have come during the years of World War II. The NFL decided to continue during the war despite losing players to military service. Many of the players that stayed behind were older players that were past their prime. Low attendance forced some teams to fold and other teams like the Philadelphia Eagles and the Pittsburgh Steelers to merge into one team. Fortunately, the New York Giants were abie to survive the war years and managed to reach three NFL championship games during the 1940s.

The 1950s were filled with Giants players that would become household names and help bring football to a playing field equal to other spectator sports. With the growing interest in professional football, the Giants continued to make strides to attract the most talented players from the college level. By the time the decade was over, Kyle Rote, Eddie Price, Rosie Brown, Frank Gifford, Sam Huff and Tom Landry would send the Giants and professional football into a new era.

The 1960s marked a decade of change for the Giants. Since they were founded in 1925, the Giants had been a talented team filled with success. The 1960s marked a turning point for our country as well as the Giants. After reaching the title games of 1961, 1962, and 1963 the Giants were hit with injuries and a series of retirements to key players that sent the team through a period of mediocrity.

The Giants in the 1970s could best be described as a team in transition. The team called four different stadiums home, played in three different states, and did not play in one postseason game. Teams like the Green Bay Packers, Chicago Bears, and Giants, so strong in the NFL's formative years, gave way to new powers like Dallas, Pittsburgh and Minnesota.

The Giants ended almost two decades of losing with one of their most prosperous decades in the 1980s. After finishing in last place or next-to-last eight times in the 1970s, the Giants appeared in three wild card games and won two NFC East division titles. Through the draft and key trades, the Giants slowly built a winning program. By 1986 the championship pieces fit together and the team was back on top with their first Super Bowl appearance and their first world championship since 1956.

The Giants were back on top of the NFL in 1990, winning their second Super Bowl in a dramatic 20-19 win over the Buffalo Bills. The next two years were filled with coaching changes, quarterback controversies, and a step back into the middle of the pack of the National Football League.

In February, 1991, less than a month after winning their second Super Bowl, it was announced that after 66 years of ownership by the Mara family, a 50% interest in the club had been sold to Preston Robert Tisch by Tim Mara. A native of New York City and a lifelong Giants fan, Tisch is one of the country's most successful businessmen.

Dan Reeves was hired as coach before the start of the 1993 season, and he helped bring the Giants back into Super Bowl contention. The Giants finished their first season under Reeves tied with the Detroit Lions for the best turnaround in football, going from 6-10 to 11-5. Reeves was named the NFL Coach of the year by the Associated Press and others for his efforts.

On January 15, 1997, a new chapter in Giants history began when Jim Fassel was named the 15th head coach. In the first season under Fassel's leadership, the Giants captured the NFC East Championship with a 10-5-1 record. The Giants finished the 1997 season with a 7-0-1 Division record to become the first team ever to go undefeated in NFC East Division play. The Giants fell short of a playoff berth in 1998 after overcoming a 3-7 start to finish with an 8-8 record. The Giants were 7-9 season in 2000.

In 2000, the Giants returned to the upper echelon of the NFL. They won the NFC East title and earned home field advantage throughout the playoffs with a 12-4 regular season record. The Giants then beat Philadelphia in the divisional playoffs and routed Minnesota, 41-0, in the NFC Championship Game to advance to the Super Bowl for the third time. But they failed to win the game for the first time, falling to the Baltimore Ravens.

WHY GIANTS?

Owner Tim Mara "borrowed" the Giant's name fro the city's Major League Baseball team of the same name. This was not unusual among early day pro football franchises. At one time or another there were NFL franchised named the New York Yankees, Brooklyn Dodgers, Cleveland Indians, Cincinnati Reds, and Detroit Tigers.

HISTORY OF THE GIANTS YEAR-BY-YEAR

Tim Mara purchased a National Football League franchise for New York for $500. Bob Folwell was named head coach and all-time great Jim Thorpe was signed. Thorpe was later released by the team after the third game of the season. The Giants played their first game at the Polo Grounds, losing to the Frankford Yellow Jackets, 14-0. Later that season, more than 70,000 jammed the Polo Grounds to see the Giants play Red Grange and the Chicago Bears. The Giants went 8-4 in their first season.

1926
Bob Folwell left and was replaced by Dr. Joseph Alexander as head coach. Despite an 8-4-1 record in 1926, Tim Mara lost $40,000. After the season concluded, the seventh place Giants faced the American Football League champion Philadelphia Quakers. The Giants won convincingly, 31-0.

1927
Earl Potteiger replaced Dr. Joseph Alexander in 1927 and the Giants won their first title with an 11-1-1 record. (Note: until the NFL's playoff system was established in 1933, the team with the league's best record was awarded the championship title.) In the 13-game season the Giants defense posted ten shutouts and allowed only 20 points all year.

1928
After a dismal 4-7-2 season in 1928, Tim Mara decided it was best to clean house. Head coach Earl Potteiger and eighteen players were not asked to return for the following season. Tackle Steve Owen would be the only returning starter from that season. It still ranks as one of the most massive turnovers in football history.

1929
Before the season began, Tim Mara purchased a struggling Detroit Wolverines franchise in order to obtain the rights to quarterback Benny Friedman and the best of the Detroit players for the Giants. LeRoy Andrews became the new head coach. The 13-1-1 Giants averaged 25,000 fans, turned a small profit and narrowly lost the NFL title to the Green Bay Packers, who finished 12-0-1.

1930
For the second consecutive season the Green Bay Packers edged out the Giants for the title. Ownership of the club was turned over to Jack and Wellington Mara, the two sons of the founder. On December 14, the Giants played a team of former Notre Dame All-Stars coached by the legendary Knute Rockne. Fifty-five thousand fans turned out at the Polo Grounds to see the Giants win the contest, 22-0. The proceeds of $115,153 went to the New York Unemployment Fund to help those suffering due to the Great Depression.

1931
After an All-American season at Washington State, center Mel Hein wrote to three NFL teams offering his service. The Giants bid the most at $150 per game and Hein was signed to a contract. Former tackle Steve Owen was named head coach. The Giants finished in 5th place with a 7-6-1 record.

1932
Considered a rebuilding year, the Giants finished the season with a 4-6-2 record. On November 20, the Giants faced the defending champion Green Bay Packers. Expected to be an easy win for the undefeated Packers, 8-0-1 at the time, the Giants displayed promise for the future with a hard- fought, 6-0, victory. End Ray Flaherty became the NFL's first official pass-reception champion with 21 catches.

The Giants won the Eastern Division of the newly-divided NFL with an impressive 11-3 record. 1933 was also the year the NFL established a new playoff system and in the league's first championship game, the Giants lost to the Western Division champion Chicago Bears, 23-21, at Wrigley Field in Chicago.

1934
In what is now known as the "Sneakers Game," the Giants defeated the Chicago Bears 30-13 for the NFL title. Trailing 13-3 in the third quarter, some of the Giants players changed into basketball shoes to increase traction on the icy Polo Grounds turf. The Giants responded with a 27-point fourth quarter to capture the championship.

1935
After beginning the season with a 3-3 record, the Giants rolled off five consecutive victories, shutting out their opponents four times, and finished with a 9-3 record and first place in the Eastern Division. The Giants advanced to their third straight NFL championship game, but lost to the Detroit Lions, 26-7, at Detroit

1936
The initial NFL draft was held in 1936, and the Giants first pick was Art Lewis, a tackle from Ohio University. The Giants finished with a 5-6-1 record, marking only the third time in the team's twelve-year history that it did not have a winning record.

1937
Seventeen rookies helped make up the 25-man roster in 1937, a season that also marked the debut of the now-familiar blue jerseys. The Giants lost to the Washington Redskins on the last day of the season and finished as a runner-up in the Eastern Division with a 6-3-2 record.

1938
A 23-17 victory over the Green Bay Packers produced the Giants third NFL title. A crowd of 48,120 fans attended the title game at the Polo Grounds in New York, a playoff record at the time. With the victory, the Giants earned the distinction of being the first NFL team to win two championship games.

1939
On January 15, the Giants defeated the Pro All-Stars, 13-10, in the first Pro Bowl held at Wrigley Field, Chicago. During the 1939 season, in front of 32,279 fans at Milwaukee State Fair Park, the Green Bay Packers avenged the 1938 loss with a 27-0 drubbing of the Giants in the NFL title game.

1940
The Giants finished third in the East with a 6-4-1 record. Midway through the season, leading rusher Tuffy Leemans was lost for the year with a back injury. Center Mel Hein was the only Giant to win All-Pro honors, accomplishing the feat for the 10th year in a row.

1941
With just 50 seconds to go in the 1941 Eastern Division championship game, the Washington Redskins held a 13-10 lead, but the Giants scored a field goal and a touchdown to win, 20-13, and advance to the NFL title game. In the wake of Pearl Harbor, only 13,341 spectators turned out to see Chicago top the Giants in the title game, 37-9.

After losing many players to the service, the Giants finished with a 5-5-1 record and in third place in the Eastern Division. The Giants recorded a memorable victory in the season opener, defeating the Washington Redskins, 14-7, although they didn't have a first down, gained only one yard rushing and completed just one pass. That pass happened to go for a touchdown. The Giants also scored on an intercepted return and handed the Redskins their only defeat in their championship season.

1943
With the league down to just nine teams due to World War II, the Giants overcame a 2-2-1 start to finish with a 6-3-1 record. The Giants advanced to the Eastern Division championship game where they dropped a 28-0 decision to the Washington Redskins.

1944
Luring quarterback Arnie Herber and back Ken Strong out of retirement, the Giants scored five shutouts en route to the Eastern Division title, but lost the NFL championship game at the Polo Grounds in New York to the Green Bay Packers, 14-7.

1945
The War ended in 1945, but the Giants finished with their worst record to date. The Giants started the year off with a 34-6 win at Pittsburgh, but everything seemed to collapse after the opener. The Giants 3-6-1 record was only one game better than the last place Pittsburgh Steelers.

1946
Quarterback Frankie Filchock, an understudy to Sammy Baugh at Washington, signed with the Giants for a reported $35,000. Filchock and teammate, back Merle Hapes, were questioned about an attempt by a New York man to fix the championship game with the Chicago Bears. Hapes was suspended indefinitely for the alleged gambling involvement, but Filchock was allowed to continue playing. The Giants went on to lose the title game to Chicago, 24-14.

1947
The Giants went from the title game in 1946 to the cellar, finishing with a 2-8-2 record, including a seven-game losing streak. Halfback Frank Reagan tied for the league lead with ten interceptions for 203 yards. Reagan also tied for the league's punting championship with 61 kicks for a 42.8 average.

1948
The Giants renovation was accelerated in 1948 when they acquired quarterback Charlie Conerly from the Washington Redskins. The franchise reached another milestone in its illustrious existence, but it had nothing to do with their 4-8 record. That season, the Giants signed their first black player, defensive back Emlen Tunnell.

1949
Giants head coach Steve Owen switch from the "A" formation to the "T," which helped the Giants improve to a 6-6 record. Allie Sherman was hired to work with quarterback Charlie Conerly. The Giants shared the Polo Grounds with another NFL team, the New York Bulldogs.

1950
The Giants and New York Bulldogs divided the players of the former All-American Football Conference Yankees. The Giants received a young defensive back from Texas, Tom Landry, and a defensive tackle from Washington, Arnie Weinmeister. The Giants finished with a surprising 10-2 record and tied for first place with the Cleveland Browns, their first season above .500 since the Eastern Division championship season of 1946. The Browns defeated the Giants, 8-3, in the American Conference playoff game.

End Kyle Rote of Southern Methodist was the Giants bonus pick in the draft, but he was injured in the preseason and saw little action. The Giants finished in second place with a 9-2-1 record, behind the only team they would lose to all season, the Cleveland Browns. Fullback Eddie Price led the NFL in rushing with 971 yards.

1952
Tailback Frank Gifford of USC was drafted number one. Playing in his fifth year, Emlen Tunnell gained more yardage on kick returns and interceptions (924) than the league's leading rusher, Dan Towler (894), of the Los Angeles Rams.

1953
Tackle Roosevelt "Rosie" Brown Jr. of Morgan State, a future Hall of Famer, was the Giants 27th pick in the 1953 NFL draft. Steve Owen retired at the end of the season after 23 years as the Giants head coach. Owen was asked to keep his affiliation with the Giants as a scout in the personnel department, a position he held for one year.

Former Giants end Jim Lee Howell was promoted from end coach to head coach. The Canadian Football League began a series of raids on NFL teams, signing Giants three-time Pro-Bowl defensive tackle Arnie Weinmeister, among others. In an effort to save the Giants and the NFL, Wellington Mara went out and signed the best player in the CFL, Montreal Alouettes halfback Alex Webster.

1955
On August 28, the sudden-death rule was used for the first time in a preseason game between the Giants and the Los Angeles Rams in Portland, Oregon. The Rams won, 23-17, three minutes into overtime. After opening with three straight losses, the Giants got their act together and finished with a 6-5-1 record.

1956
Defensive end Andy Robustelli was obtained from the Los Angeles Rams. The Giants switched their home games from the Polo Grounds to Yankee Stadium. A 47-7 rout of the Chicago Bears produced New York's first NFL championship since 1938. Linebacker Sam Huff, who was originally drafted as an offensive lineman but was switched to MLB when Ray Beck went down with an injury, was voted Rookie of the Year. Frank Gifford was named NFL Player of the Year and tackle Rosie Brown was named the NFL's Lineman of the Year.

The Giants were still in the running for the title in 1957 until they dropped their final three games. For the second straight season Frank Gifford finished in the top ten in both receiving (fourth) and rushing (tenth), with 588 yards receiving and 528 yards rushing. Gifford also completed four of six passes for 143 yards and two touchdowns.

1958
After completing the season at 9-3, the Giants faced a Cleveland Browns team led by running back Jim Brown in the Eastern Conference playoff game. Brown, who had gained an NFL-record 1,527 yards rushing, was held to just eight yards by the stingy New York defense as the Giants prevailed, 10-0. Advancing to the title game, the Giants lost to the Baltimore Colts, 23-17, in the first sudden death overtime in an NFL championship game. That game has been referred to as, "The Greatest Game Ever Played."

On February 4, assistant offensive coach Vince Lombardi left to join the Green Bay Packers as their new head coach. On February 17, Giants co-founder Tim Mara died. The Baltimore Colts exploded for 24 points in the fourth quarter to defeat New York in the NFL title game for the second straight year.

1960
In February, defensive coach Tom Landry left the team to become the first ever head coach of the expansion Dallas Cowboys. The Giants finished an injury-plagued 1960 season with a 6-4-2 record. Head coach Jim Lee Howell announced his retirement at the end of the season.

1961
The NY logo was added to the helmets for the 1961 season. Allie Sherman replaced the retired Jim Lee Howell as head coach. The Giants obtained quarterback Y.A. Tittle (San Francisco) and end Del Shofner (Los Angeles) in trades. Back Alex Webster gained 928 yards to help the Giants reach the NFL title game. With the league championship on the line, the Giants were no match for the Green Bay Packers, losing 37-0.

1962
Back Frank Gifford, who returned to the team from retirement, quarterback Y.A. Tittle, end Del Shofner and back Alex Webster led the Giants into the NFL title game against the Green Bay Packers. Held in Yankee Stadium, 64,892 fans watched as Green Bay prevailed, 16-7. Defensive end Andy Robustelli was named the NFL's top player.

1963
Quarterback Y.A. Tittle threw 36 touchdown passes and kicker Don Chandler led the league with 106 points (52-pat, 18-fg) in scoring as the Giants romped to their third straight conference title. Halfback Dick Lynch tied for the league lead with nine interceptions for 251 return yards and a record-setting three touchdowns. With Tittle injured in the second quarter, New York lost yet another bid for the league championship, dropping a 14-10 decision to the Chicago Bears.

1964
Defensive end Andy Robustelli ended his long playing career with the Giants and became a full-time defensive coach. For the first time in 17 years, the Giants finished in last place in their conference with a 2-10-2 record. Backs Alex Webster and Frank Gifford announced their retirement at the end of the season.

1965
Quarterback Y.A. Tittle announced his retirement on January 22 at Mamma Leone's restaurant in New York City. Offensive lineman Jack Stroud also retired. On June 15, Jack Mara died after serving as team president for thirty-one years. The Giants rebounded with a 7-7 record, good enough for second place in the Eastern Conference.

1966
Before the season began, tackle Rosie Brown retired after 13 years of service to the team. The Giants had their worst season to date, finishing with a 1-12-1. They allowed a then NFL-record 501 points. Kicker Pete Gogolak became the first American Football League player to cross to the NFL.

1967
On March 7, the Giants announced the acquisition of quarterback Fran Tarkenton from the Minnesota Vikings. To get Tarkenton, the Giants gave up their first and second-round picks in 1967, number one pick in 1968, and second-round pick in 1969. Tarkenton's 29 touchdown passes led the Giants to a 7-7 record and a second place finish in the newly named Century Division of the Eastern Conference.

Opening the season with four straight wins and concluding it with four consecutive losses, the Giants finished with a 7-7 record in Allie Sherman's last season as head coach. End Homer Jones became only the second Giant, behind end Del Shofner, to record 1,000 receiving yards or more in three successive seasons.

1969
The Giants lost, 37-14, to the New York Jets in the first of the annual preseason meetings. Former back Alex Webster replaced Allie Sherman as head coach. After losing seven games in a row, the Giants finished with three straight victories to capture second place in the Century Division with a 6-8 record.

1970
After losing their first three games, the Giants won six in a row, including an upset win over the first place Dallas Cowboys, 23-20. Heading into the final game of the season, the Giants were still in a position to make the playoffs, but they lost a home game against the Los Angeles Rams, 31-3, and were left out of the postseason with a 9-5 record. Running back Ron Johnson became the Giants first 1,000-yard rusher, totaling 1,027 yards.

1971
After a disappointing 4-10 finish in 1971, quarterback Fran Tarkenton asked for a trade. The Giants obliged and traded him back to the Minnesota Vikings for quarterback Norm Snead. Bob Tucker became the first tight end in Giants history to lead the league in receptions with 59 catches.

1972
Quarterback Norm Snead, obtained in the Fran Tarkenton trade, led the league in passing and the Giants finished above .500 for only the second time in nine years with an 8-6 record. On November 26, the Giants offense scored eight touchdowns against the Philadelphia Eagles, setting a Giants all time one-game scoring record. Kicker Pete Gogolak added a pair of field goals to bring the final score to 62-10.

1973
Prior to the final game of the season, head coach Alex Webster announced his retirement. New York lost the game 31-7 to the Minnesota Vikings to close out the year at 2-11-1. After two games at Yankee Stadium, the Giants played the rest of their home games at the Yale Bowl in New Haven, Connecticut.

1974
Bill Arnsparger was named the Giants ninth head coach. Quarterback Norm Snead was traded to the San Francisco 49ers. In addition, quarterback Craig Morton was obtained from the Dallas Cowboys. For the second straight season, the Giants won only two games and finished in fifth place in the NFC East with a 2-12 record.

1975
The Giants finished in fourth place in the NFC East with a 5-9 record. The team played all of itshome games at Shea Stadium while they waited for Giants Stadium to open. DE George Martin made the team as an 11th round draft choice out of Oregon.

1976
Larry Csonka, the former Miami running back who had played in the World Football League, signed as a free agent. Snead was reacquired from San Francisco. The Giants moved to Giants Stadium in East Rutherford, New Jersey. Arnsparger was fired in midseason and replaced by assistant coach John McVay, who signed a long-term contract following the 3-11 season.

Morton was traded to Denver. The Giants improved to a 5-9 record. McVay went with Joe Pisarcik and Jerry Golsteyn at quarterback. Csonka rushed for 100 yards on the last day of the season and finished the year with 464 yards.

1978
The Giants had a 5-3 record at the halfway point of the season but lost seven of their final eight games and finished 6-10. Punter Dave Jennings and linebackers Harry Carson and Brad Van Pelt were named to the NFC Pro Bowl team. McVay was fired in late December. Robustelli, who had been the Giants' director of operations since 1974, resigned. George Young was named general manager in January, 1979. He announced the appointment of San Diego Chargers assistant Ray Perkins as head coach.

1979
Before the season began, tragedy struck as defensive tackle Troy Archer was killed in a traffic accident on June 22. Rookie Phil Simms, a first round choice, took over at quarterback. But the Giants had another 6-10 record. Dave Jennings led the NFC with a 42.7-yard punting average.

1980
A porous defense allowed opponents to score 425 points, the second-highest total in the NFL. The Giants fell to 4-12. A highlight was a 38-35 defeat of Dallas that ended an eight-game losing streak. Dave Jennings led NFL punters with a 44.8-yard average.

1981
With the second selection in the draft. New York chose Lawrence Taylor, a linebacker from North Carolina. The Giants started slowly, going 2-3, before obtaining running back Rob Carpenter from Houston. Carpenter sparked a three-game winning streak. The Giants lost three straight to drop to 5-6. Second-year quarterback Scott Brunner replaced an injured Phil Simms and the team responded with four victories in the final five weeks, including a 13-10 overtime defeat of Dallas in the season finale that sent them into the playoffs. On December 27, the Giants defeated the Eagles 27-21 in the NFC wild card game. The season ended for New York on January 3 when it was defeated by the 49ers 38-24 in a divisional playoff game.

1982
A wild and turbulent year in which the NFL players' strike shortened the season to just nine games. The final game played before the strike pitted the Giants and Packers on a Monday night from Giants Stadium in which a power failure caused a blackout during the game. Rob Carpenter was a holdout for most of the season, returning to play in just the final five games, and then on December 15, head coach Ray Perkins resigned to accept the head coaching job at Alabama, with defensive coordinator Bill Parcells being named to replace him in 1983. The Giants then lost two straight after the Perkins' announcement, and missed the playoffs on the final day of the season with a 4-5 record. Despite the adversity, four Giants – Lawrence Taylor, Harry Carson, Mark Haynes and Dave Jennings – were named to the Pro Bowl.

After breaking even in their first four games for a 2-2 record, the Giants were decimated by injuries during the rest of the year, with a total of 25 players appearing on the injured reserve list at one time or another. With players such as Harry Carson, Phil Simms and Rob Carpenter missing most of the season, and with the club leading the entire NFL in turnovers with 58 on 31 interceptions and 27 lost fumbles, the record tumbled to 3-12-1. The year was also marred by the tragic deaths of assistant coach Bob Ledbetter and former star running back Doug Kotar. Four players were nonetheless named to the Pro Bowl again—Lawrence Taylor, Harry Carson, Mark Haynes and rookie place-kicker Ali Haji-Sheikh who set an NFL record with 35 field goals.

With Phil Simms enjoying his first full season at quarterback, the Giants earned the NFC wild card playoff berth, finishing with a 9-7 mark and second place in the NFC East. Simms set three single-season club records with 286 completions in 533 attempts for 4,044 yards. The Giants knocked off the Los Angeles Rams 16-13 in that wild card game, then bowed to the eventual Super Bowl champion San Francisco 49ers 21-10 in the divisional playoff. Taylor, Carson and Haynes were again named to the Pro Bowl, while head coach Bill Parcells was named NFC East Coach of the Year and five rookies—Karl Nelson, Gary Reasons, Carl Banks, Perry Williams and Bobby Johnson–were named to the All-NFL Rookie team.

1985
With a final 10-6 mark, the Giants put back-to-back winning seasons on the board for the first time in 22 years, won another trip to the playoffs and had their first home playoff game since 1962, winning 17-3 over the defending Super Bowl champion 49ers. Again, the club lost in the divisional playoffs to the eventual Super Bowl champion team, the Chicago Bears, 21-0. Five players—Lawrence Taylor, Harry Carson, Phil Simms, Joe Morris and Leonard Marshall—were named to the Pro Bowl. There were 12 team records set by this club, and 16 individual club records. Morris set a team record with 1,336 rushing yards plus and another with 21 touchdowns. Simms set club marks with 40 completions and 513 passing yards in a game. Marshall added another club mark with 15 1/2 QB sacks in a season, while rookie TE Mark Bavaro, an All-NFL Rookie team choice set a club mark with 12 receptions in one game.

The club's first Super Bowl championship, an all-time final record of 17-2, as well as a club record 12 straight victories, made this year the greatest in team history. The Giants also set an all-time composite margin of victory in the playoffs, outscoring three opponents 105-23, for an 82-point domination, the most ever in NFL playoff history. Phil Simms was the MVP of the 39-20 Super Bowl victory over Denver after completing a playoff record 88% of his passes (22-25). Lawrence Taylor was named the league's MVP, Joe Morris broke his own club rushing record with 1,516 yards, and eight players—Taylor, Morris, Harry Carson, Leonard Marshall, Jim Burt, Brad Benson, Mark Bavaro and Sean Landeta, were named to the Pro Bowl. Coach Bill Parcells was a unanimous NFL Coach of the Year in all the national polls, the Giants were 10-0 at home, including regular season and the two playoff games, and the team set attendance records at home and on the road.

1987
After winning the Super Bowl, the Giants dropped to a 6-9 record, thanks to an 0-5 start in a season that included a players strike and three games with replacement players. In addition, injuries sidelined 11 starters. While the Giants had a 6-4 record after the strike was settled, it was a case of too little, too late. Despite the final record, four players—Lawrence Taylor, Carl Banks, Harry Carson and Mark Bavaro—were selected to the Pro Bowl and all four also were named to various All-NFL teams.

The Giants bounced back and after splitting their first six games, engineered a 7-2 run which had them all alone in first-place in the NFC East with a 10-5 mark into the final weekend of the season. But an upset loss to the Jets not only knocked the Giants out of first-place, but also cost them a playoff berth as well. The Giants 10-6 record gave them a five-year mark of 54-32 (628), and those 54 victories were the most in club history for any five-year span. Joe Morris set a club record with his third 1,000-plus rushing season and Lionel Manuel had his first 1,000-yard receiving year. Morris also surpassed Alex Webster as the Giants' career rushing leader, moving past the 5,000-yard plateau. Lawrence Taylor was named to his eighth straight Pro Bowl and All-NFL designation and safety Terry Kinard was selected for his first Pro Bowl appearance.

Despite the loss of several starters due to injuries, the Giants won their second NFC East championship in four years with a 12-4 record. Ottis Anderson rushed for 1,023 yards at the age of 32 as the replacement for the injured Joe Morris and rookie David Meggett set club marks with 582 punt return yards and a 12.7 average, while also accounting for 1,807 all-purpose yards. Linebacker Lawrence Taylor equaled an NFL record by being named to his ninth consecutive Pro Bowl, and also ran his league record sack total to 104. Meggett also went to the Pro Bowl and scored a TD.

1990
The Giants won their first 10 games to take the lead in the NFC East lead, then won the division with a 13-3 record despite losing Phil Simms late in the year. With Jeff Hostetler at the helm, the club surged through the playoffs to win their second Super Bowl title with a stirring 20-19 win over the Buffalo Bills. Seven Giant players were named to the Pro Bowl, including Lawrence Taylor for a record-setting 10th straight year. Veteran running Ottis Anderson won Super Bowl MVP honors after rushing for 102 yards. At season's end, the Mara family's sole ownership ended when Tim Mara sold his 50% share of the club to Preston Robert Tisch, who became Chairman and Co-Chief Executive Officer. In May, 1991, head coach Bill Parcells resigned after a career mark of 85-52-1 and was succeeded by running backs coach Ray Handley.

In Ray Handley's first year as head coach, the Giants were in contention for another playoff spot late in the year with a 7-5 record, then dropped three straight to finish at 8-8 and out of the playoffs. Jeff Hostetler became the starting quarterback, but was injured late in the season and Phil Simms finished the campaign. Simms added his 15th club record when he passed Charlie Conerly for career TD passes with 179. Rodney Hampton became the fourth back in club history to rush for 1,000 yards when he finished the year with 1,059. Center Bart Oates was named to his second consecutive Pro Bowl.

Ray Handley's team struggled through a 6–10 season campaign as injuries to key players hurt the team. Phil Simms regained his starting quarterback spot, but was limited to starting the first four games before an elbow injury forced him to miss the rest of the season. Before his injury, Simms became just the 14th player in NFL history to surpass 30,000 passing yards. Jeff Hostetler started the next nine games before being forced to the sidelines with a concussion. In the ninth game of the season against Green Bay, Lawrence Taylor injured his Achilles tendon that placed his career in jeopardy. After announcing plans to retire following the season, Taylor re-considered and decided to rejoin the Giants. RB Rodney Hampton turned in another outstanding season, rushing for 1,141 yards and earning his first trip to the Pro Bowl. After dismissing Handley, George Young hired former Denver Broncos head coach Dan Reeves to lead the team in 1993.

Dan Reeves and a rejuvenated Phil Simms led the Giants to an 11-5 regular season record. The Giants finished second to Dallas in the NFC East race, a race that was decided on the final Sunday of the regular season when Dallas defeated the Giants, 16-13, in overtime at Giants Stadium. Reeves became the first Giants head coach to lead his team to the playoffs in his initial campaign since Allie Sherman in 1963. Reeves was selected as NFL Coach of the Year by several organizations, including the Associated Press, which bases its honor on voting by coaches around the league. The Giants earned a wild card berth in the playoffs and defeated the Minnesota Vikings at Giants Stadium, 17-10, in the Wild Card game. San Francisco defeated the Giants, 44-3, at Candlestick Park in an NFC divisional playoff game. Following the San Francisco game, LB Lawrence Taylor announced his retirement, capping a 13-year career that altered the nature of the game. Taylor was elected into the Pro Football Hall of Fame at the conclusion of the 1998 season.

After a 3-7 start, the Giants climbed back into playoff contention with a six-game winning streak that resulted in a 9-7 record. The Giants came into Week 16 needing a victory over the World Champion Dallas Cowboys, combined with a Tampa Bay Buccaneers victory over the Green Bay Packers, to win a wild card berth. The Giants defeated Dallas, 15-10, but the season ended when the Bucs lost to the Packers, 34-19. Dave Brown won the starting quarterback job in training camp and responded by leading the team to a 9-6 record in games that he started. Rodney Hampton finished the season with 1,075 yards to become the first Giant in history to record four career 1,000-yard seasons. The 1994 season was the first in many years that the Giants roster did not include Lawrence Taylor or Phil Simms. Taylor's jersey number 56 was officially retired at halftime of the Giants-Minnesota Monday Night game on Oct. 10. Simms was released on June 15, prior to the start of training camp.

1995
The Giants concluded the 1995 season with a 5-11 record, their worst mark since 1983 when they were 3-12-1. The Giants lost seven games that were decided on the final drive of the game. In six of those games, the Giants were either tied or leading at some point in the fourth quarter. A highlight of the 1995 season was the play of Rodney Hampton, who turned in the best season of his six-year career with 1,182 yards rushing on 306 carries. Hampton became the Giants all-time leading rusher (5,989) on 10-29 at Washington on his third carry of the game, a workmanlike two-yard run for a first down. Phil Simms jersey number 11 was officially retired at halftime of the Giants-Dallas Monday Night game on Sept. 4, 1995.

For the first time since 1982-83, the Giants finished with a losing record in consecutive seasons as they closed out the 1996 campaign with a 6-10 record. Following the 23-22 defeat to New England in the season finale, the Giants dismissed head coach Dan Reeves. On January 15, the Giants hired Jim Fassel as the 15th head coach in the team's history. The Giants stood at 5-7 on December 1 after a 20-6 upset of the defending world champion Dallas Cowboys and headed into a game against the Philadelphia Eagles with a chance at the NFC playoff field. In one of the lowest moments of the year, the Giants were officially eliminated from playoff contention with a 24-0 loss to the Eagles. The Giants improved to 6-8 but dropped two consecutive home contests and secured a last place finish in the NFC East for the first time in a non-strike season since 1983. The Giants defense played solid all season, but the offense struggled, finishing last in the National Football League. The Giants ground game failed to generate a 100-yard rushing performer and averaged just 100.3 yards per game, the lowest non-strike total since the Giants had 100.3 in 1964. The Giants defense held the opposition to 10 points or less in six games and had a streak of 7.5 straight games (30 quarters) without allowing the opponent's offense a touchdown pass.

In his first season as head coach of the Giants, Jim Fassel led his team to a 10-5-1 record and the team's first NFC East Championship since the 1990 Super Bowl season. The Giants started the year with a 1-3 record before rebounding to become the 15th team in NFL history to finish in first place in their division the season after finishing in last place. The Giants finished the 1997 season with a 7-0-1 Division record to become the first team ever to go undefeated in NFC East Division play. Second-year QB Danny Kanell filled in for an injured Dave Brown and led the Giants to a victory over the Dallas Cowboys in Week Six. Kanell was eventually named the new starting quarterback and finished with a 7-2-1 record. His season was highlighted by a three-touchdown performance at Philadelphia in a key NFC East victory on December 7. The Giants defense blossomed into one of the NFL's strongest, finishing first in the league with a franchise-record 44 takeaways. The Giants defense led the league in interceptions with 27 and finished third in the NFL with 54 sacks. The season ended when the Minnesota Vikings overcame a 19-3 second half deficit to pull out a 23-22 victory at Giants Stadium in a Wild Card game. Fassel was named NFL Coach of the Year by numerous publications, including The Sporting News, which is determined by a vote of NFL coaches. Jessie Armstead set a team-record with 134 total tackles and was named a starter on the NFC Pro Bowl squad. DE Michael Strahan set a career-mark in sacks, finishing tied for third in the NFL with 14. Strahan was also named a starter for the NFC Pro Bowl squad. At the end of the season, George Young announced that he was leaving the Giants to become Vice President of Football Operations in the National Football League office. Ernie Accorsi was named the team's new General Manager.

After overcoming a 3-7 start, the Giants remained in the hunt for a playoff berth until the final week and finished with an 8-8 record. The Giants won five out of their last six games, including a 20-16 victory over the previously undefeated (13-0) and eventual Super Bowl Champion Denver Broncos. Entering the final game, the Giants needed a victory over Philadelphia, combined with a Tampa Bay loss and an Arizona loss, to qualify as the third wild card participant in the NFC playoff field. The Giants beat the Eagles at Veterans Stadium, but the Buccaneers and Cardinals were victorious to spoil the Giants playoff hopes. Kent Graham replaced Danny Kanell at quarterback after the team fell to 3-7 and finished with a 5-1 record in the starting role. Gary Brown emerged as the Giants top running back, reaching the 1,000-yard mark with a career-best 1,063 yards that included six 100-yard games. Jessie Armstead and Michael Strahan were selected to represent the NFC in the Pro Bowl for the second straight season. Armstead eclipsed the 100-tackle mark for the third straight year with 101 tackles (75 solos). Strahan set a career-high with 15 sacks as he triggered a Giants defense that led the league with 54 sacks.

For the second straight year, the Giants entered the final week of the regular season with a chance to make the NFL's postseason field. The difference between the two seasons is that in 1998 the Giants won five of their last six games. In 1999, victories over the Jets and at Buffalo raised the Giants' record to 7-6; however, the Giants dropped their last three games to finish 7-9. It was the team's first losing season in three years under head coach Jim Fassel. The final blow was a 26-18 loss at Dallas, a game that followed the Giants' elimination from the playoff race with Green Bay's victory over Arizona earlier in the day. In spite of the obvious disappointment, a few bright spots emerged for the Giants in 1999. The Giants set records on offense, led by Amani Toomer, who established a team single-season record with 79 receptions (breaking Earnest Gray's record of 78 receptions set in 1983). Toomer fell 26 yards shy of the team record of 1,209 receiving yards, set by Homer Jones in 1967. Also, for the first time in the 75-year history of the team, the Giants had four receivers record over 50 receptions in a season: Toomer (79), Ike Hilliard (72), Tiki Barber (66), and Pete Mitchell (58). Jessie Armstead and Michael Strahan were selected to represent the NFC in the Pro Bowl for the third consecutive season. Armstead surpassed the 100-tackle mark for the fourth straight year with 124 tackles (97 solos) and recorded a career-high 9.0 sacks. Strahan recorded 56 tackles (41 solos) and posted 5.5 sacks. QB Kerry Collins started the final six games of the season after replacing Kent Graham in the lineup following the 10th game.

The Giants enjoyed their finest season in a decade, winning the NFC East and home-field advantage in the playoffs with a 12-4 record before defeating Philadelphia and Minnesota to advance to Super Bowl XXXV. In their first Super Bowl appearance in 10 years, the Giants lost to Baltimore, 34-7. The Giants took a seven-game winning streak into the Super Bowl, a surge that began after Jim Fassel issued his now-famous playoff guarantee on November 22. The Giants finished 7-1 in the division and 7-1 away from Giants Stadium. The seven road victories tied a franchise record set in 1930 (when three of the road games were in Newark, Staten Island and Brooklyn) and marked the first time since 1963 that the Giants lost just one game as visitors. The Giants averaged 125.6 rushing yards a game, a robust 37.5-yard gain over the 1999 average. Quarterback Kerry Collins was sacked 28 times; in 1999 Giants quarterbacks were sacked 42 times. Collins had the best season of his career, setting career highs in passes (529), completions (311), completion percentage (58.8) and touchdown passes (22). Halfback Tiki Barber set a Giants record of 2,085 all-purpose yards (1,006 rushing, 719 receiving, 332 punt returns and 28 on kickoff returns). Amani Toomer caught 78 passes (one less than the franchise record he set in 1999. Ike Hilliard led the team with a 14.3-yard average and eight touchdown catches. The defense was second in the NFL against the run (72.3 yards a game) and fifth in points allowed (15.4 per game). In 359 rushing attempts, opponents had an NFL-best two runs of longer than 20 yards. Jessie Armstead led the team with 102 tackles – his fifth consecutive season with more than a hundred tackles – and was selected to his fourth straight Pro Bowl. Defensive tackle Keith Hamilton had the best season of his nine-year career. He was a dominating run-stopper and he led the Giants with 10 sacks, an impressive feat for a tackle. Defensive end Michael Strahan had perhaps his finest all-around season and raised his sack total from 5.5 in 1999 to 9.5 this year.

After a strong 3-1 start, the Giants lost eight of their last 12 games and finished 7-9 and in third place in the NFC East, the third time in as many tries they failed to make the playoffs a season after reaching the Super Bowl. The terrorist attacks in New York and Washington on Sept. 11 – the day after the Giants lost their Monday night opener in Denver – made the rest of season a minor footnote by comparison. After the attacks, many players reached out to victims' families, firefighters, police officers and other rescue workers and their children. Despite the disappointing record, the season included many highlights, notably Michael Strahan setting a new NFL single-season record with 22.5 sacks. Kerry Collins became the first quarterback in league history to throw every one of his team's passes in two consecutive seasons. Collins setting team marks for passes (568) and completions (327). Tiki Barber accounted for 1,782 total yards, Mike Barrow set a team record with 135 tackles, Morten Andersen became the second-leading scorer in NFL history, Howard Cross set a new franchise record for games played (207), Amani Toomer caught more than 70 passes for the third season in a row, rookie Rodney Williams established a team record with a 90-yard punt against the Broncos and Jessie Armstead played in his fifth consecutive Pro Bowl (and was joined in Hawaii by Strahan and Ron Stone). Although they struggled with two three-game losing streaks, the Giants thrilled their fans with scintillating last-second victories over Dallas (in overtime), Arizona and Seattle. After the defeat in Denver – and a week off after the NFL's decision not to play the Sunday after the attacks – the Giants won three straight, against Kansas City, New Orleans and Washington. The winning streak was followed by consecutive heartbreaking 1-point losses to St. Louis and Philadelphia, and a defeat at Washington. The Giants then rebounded with victories over Dallas and Arizona before again dropping three straight, to Minnesota, Oakland and Dallas. They played their way back into playoff contention with dramatic triumphs over Arizona and Seattle, but closed the season with losses to Philadelphia and Green Bay.

THE GIANTS STADIUMS

The Giants shared the Polo Grounds with the New York Baseball Giants from the time they entered the league in 1925 until they moved to the larger Yankee Stadium for the start of the 1956 season.

In 1973, the Giants announced plans to move to a new stadium in New Jersey for the 1976 season, and the city of New York announced that Yankee Stadium was planning a two-year renovation after the 1973 baseball season. The Giants were allowed to play their first two games of the 1973 season at Yankee Stadium before moving to a new location.

THE POLO GROUNDS (1925-1955)

YANKEE STADIUM (1956-1973)

The Giants spent the offseason searching for a place to play their games. The Giants' first choice was the Yale Bowl, but the Yale Bowl representatives turned down the team's first request because it would have meant a blackout for the local schedule due to the blackout rule. The Giants' next choice was to play at Princeton University, but they also turned down the Giants. Things were so bad that when the league announced the 1973 schedule, it didn't even say where the games would be played. In light of the Giants' problems, Commissioner Pete Rozelle, with the help from national politicians, modified the blackout rule so that the rule was only in effect if the game was not sold out in advance. With the rule change came a change of heart by the Yale Bowl representatives. It was official. The Giants would play their first two games of the 1973 season at Yankee Stadium and would play the rest of the schedule and the 1974 season at the Yale Bowl in New Haven, Connecticut.

After the 1974 season, it was announced that the Giants were going back to New York City to play at Shea Stadium until the opening of Giants Stadium in 1976. The Giants played the first four games of the 1976 season on the road just in case there were any delays with the opening of the new stadium. The Giants made their debut at Giants Stadium on October 10, 1976 against the Dallas Cowboys before a sellout crowd.

THE YALE BOWL (1973-1974)

GIANTS STADIUM HISTORY

After calling four different stadiums home in their first 50 years in the National Football League, the Giants moved into Giants Stadium in 1976. The idea of playing at a stadium built in the Meadowlands first attracted the Giants attention when they realized that they could provide 15,000 more seats and help meet the increasing demands of the fans without a major switch in location. Giants Stadium is only 6.9 miles from Times Square, compared to Yankee Stadium which is 6.6.

In May of 1967, a local New Jersey newspaper first proposed the idea of building a Sports Complex. The idea of the complex could not begin until a major sports franchise could be attracted to the concept. With an aging Yankee Stadium, the Giants and the Yankees became immediate targets. The original construction idea called for separate stadiums for football and baseball with convenient parking and easy highway access just miles from New York City.

In 1970, the William Cahill administration began serious efforts to lure the Giants. On August 27, 1971, the Giants signed a 30-year lease for a 75,000-seat stadium to be built by the 1975 season. The New Jersey Sports and Exposition Authority was established by an act of the state legislature on May 10, 1971 to finance, construct and administer the complex. It was also decided that the complex would include a stadium for football and a racetrack. The Authority was granted powers through legislature to lease property, borrow money, issue bonds and conduct horse racing. To finance the complex the state was authorized to issue revenue bonds backed by the state-run racetrack proceeds. The complex was built and operated with no expense to the taxpayers.

Prior to construction of the facility, the project was hit with many obstacles. First, there were legislative disputes that resulted from objections to the complex, then environmentalists were concerned about the issue of wildlife preservations and air pollution from the increase of cars. Despite these problems, the Authority pushed the project along, hiring real estate consultants, accountants, bond attorneys and brokerage firms.

In September of 1973, New Jersey Governor-elect Brendan Byrne negotiated a new lease with the Giants, and the sale of bonds began and was completed in 1974. Simultaneous construction of the racetrack and stadium began in 1972. September 1, 1976 marked the opening of the Meadowlands racetrack. The Giants made their debut in Giants Stadium on October 10, 1976 against the Dallas Cowboys before a sellout crowd.

The 2000 season marks the first time in the history of Giants Stadium, which opened in 1976, that the Giants will play all of their preseason and regular season games on natural grass. On September 29, 1999, the New Jersey Sports and Exposition Authority, the New York Giants and the New York Jets released a statement saying the three entities had agreed to change the playing surface to natural grass for the 2000 season.

The permanent grass surface, which utilizes a revolutionary modular tray system, was installed at Giants Stadium by Clark Companies of Delhi, N.Y. A coupling system locks each of the 6,600 modular trays in place, forming a seamless grass field while allowing for precise field repairs. The individual trays, which each measure approximately 4' x 4', consist of a lightweight aggregate drainage layer, six inches of sand-based root zone and a Bluegrass mix of sod.

The current tray design, augmented by a heating, cooling and vacuum system, provides a quality surface for National Football League play from the preseason through postseason games. Worn portions of the field are replaced as much as three times during the season.

NEW YORK GIANTS IN THE PRO FOOTBALL HALL OF FAME

WELLINGTON MARA

CO-OWNER - FORDHAM - ENSHRINED IN 1997

Wellington Mara, along with CB Mike Haynes, coach Don Shula and C Mike Webster, made up the four-man class of the 1997 Pro Football Hall of Fame. Mara and his father Tim, who was the founder of the Giants and a charter member of the Hall of Fame, were the first father and son to be accorded pro football's highest honor. Mara, whose entire lifetime has been dedicated to pro football, has helped the Giants produce 18 NFL/NFC divisional titles and six NFL championships during his 62-season tenure that began with his graduation from Fordham in 1937.

TIM MARA

FOUNDER - NO COLLEGE - CHARTER ENSHRINEE IN 1963

Mara introduced the city of New York to pro football when he purchased the franchise for a reported $500 (others claim it was $2,500) in 1925, thus giving the National Football League a vital showcase in the nation's largest city. Mara withstood heavy financial losses his first year until the Giants were saved on the last home game of the season. Mara needed a good showing at the gate to keep the team alive. The most heralded college player of the era, Red Grange, showed up at the Polo Grounds as a Chicago Bear and helped draw a crowd of over 70,000 people to save the Giants. After seeing the crowd that formed, Mara decided that under the right circumstances, professional football could be a big success. Mara bore the brunt of the fight against the rival American Football League in 1926 and the All-American Football Conference from 1946-49. He helped build the Giants into a perennial powerhouse with three NFL and eight divisional titles. He was honored in 1963 as one of 17 charter members of the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

MORRIS (RED) BADGRO

END - SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA - ENSHRINED IN 1981

Badgro joined the Giants in 1930 and played six seasons at end. He made a name for himself as a superior defender, excellent blocker and big-play receiver. Badgro helped lead the Giants to the NFL's first championship game in 1933. He scored the first touchdown in NFL Championship Game history in 1933. In the championship game, the Giants spotted the Chicago Bears a 6-0 lead on two field goals at Wrigley Field. The Giants took a 7-6 halftime lead when Badgro caught a 29-yard touchdown pass from QB Harry Newman in the second quarter. He tied for the NFL receiving title in 1934 with 16 receptions for 206 yards, including one touchdown. Badgro was named to the All-NFL team three times: 1931, 1933 and 1934. Before joining the Giants, Badgro played with the Red Grange-led New York Yankees in the American Football League (12 games in 1927 and one game in 1928). He played pro baseball for three season, the first with the Tulsa in the minor leagues and then with the St. Louis Browns for two seasons. Badgro has the distinction of being the oldest player ever to be elected into the Hall of Fame. He was 77 when he was enshrined in 1981.

GIANTS IN THE HALL OF FAME

ROOSEVELT BROWN

TACKLE - MORGAN ST. - ENSHRINED IN 1975

Brown played for the Giants from 1953 through 1965 after joining the team as a 27th round draft choice, regarded as one of the greatest "sleeper" picks of all time. Brown held the starting tackle spot for 13 straight seasons. During that period, he was named to the Pro Bowl nine times and was an All-NFL eight straight seasons. In 1956, when the Giants won the championship game, Brown was named Lineman of the Year by the Associated Press. Brown was known as a big, fast blocker who could make the block downfield. He was also used along the defensive front on goal-line stands. Brown helped the Giants advance to the NFL Championship game in 1956, 1958, 1959, 1961, 1962 and 1963. After his playing career, Brown continued his Giants affiliation as a coach before being appointed as a scout, where he has served since the 1971 season. He was immediately named assistant line coach by the Giants after a phlebitis condition forced him to retire in 1966.

FRANK GIFFORD

HALFBACK, FLANKER - S. CALIFORNIA - ENSHRINED IN 1977

Gifford played for the Giants from 1952-64, although he voluntarily retired in 1961 season due to a serious injury suffered the previous season. He was known as one of the most versatile backs in NFL history. Gifford was the first pick in the draft by the Giants in 1952 after an All-America career at Southern California. He totaled 9,753 combined yards during his career. Gifford's record includes 3,609 yards rushing, 367 receptions and 484 points. He was named to the Pro Bowl as a defensive back in 1953 and as an offensive back the following year - a first in NFL annals. Gifford played in seven Pro Bowls during his career and was named All-NFL four times and NFL Player of the Year in 1956. He holds three Giants team records - touchdowns (78), highest average gain (500 attempts) rushing (4.30) and most receiving yards (5,434). A real triple-threat in his halfback heyday, Gifford threw 14 touchdown passes in 60 attempts on the halfback option. He retired after the 1960 season and then decided to return in 1962 at a new position, flanker. The Giants reached the NFL Championship game five times during his career, including 1956, when they won the world championship.

MEL HEIN

CENTER - WASHINGTON ST. - ENSHRINED IN 1963

Originally joined the Giants in 1931 and played 15 seasons for the Giants, a record of team service that is matched by only Phil Simms. He was named All-NFL eight straight years from 1933-40. Following a successful college career at Washington State, Hein wrote to three NFL clubs offering his services. The Giants bid the highest at $150 per game. Hein was a 60-minute regular for 15 years, playing in 170 games. Hein never missed a game in the National Football League or in college and high school. He took time out only in two games and was injured only once. Hein was named the League's Most Valuable Player after anchoring a line that helped guide the Giants to the 1938 World Championship with a 23-17 victory over the Green Bay Packers at the Polo Grounds.

GIANTS IN THE HALL OF FAME

CAL HUBBARD

TACKLE - GENEVA - ENSHRINED IN 1963

Hubbard played for the Giants from 1927-28, and then again in 1936. He was one of 17 charter enshrinees into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1963. Hubbard was named All-NFL six years in a row from 1928-33. He played for the Green Bay Packers from 1929-35 and the Pittsburgh Pirates in 1936 before returning to the Giants. He was acquired before the start of the 1927 season in order to help beef up the Giants defense. That season the Giants defense surrendered only 20 points as the Giants captured their first NFL championship. He was acquired by the Green Bay Packers in 1929 in a move that would haunt the Giants, as Hubbard led the Packers to a 12-0-1 record in 1929, edging out the 13-1-1 Giants for the league title. The Packers handed the Giants their only loss of the season by a 20-6 score.

SAM HUFF

LINEBACKER - WEST VIRGINIA - ENSHRINED IN 1982

Huff was originally drafted by the Giants in the third round in 1956 after an All-America career at West Virginia and became an immediate star as middle linebacker. He played in five Pro Bowls and was named All-NFL four years. Huff won recognition for his great individual efforts against the premier running backs of his era, Jim Brown of Cleveland, Rick Casares of Chicago and Alan Ameche of Baltimore. Huff was named Outstanding Lineman in the NFL for his play in 1959. He anchored a defense that helped the Giants reach the Championship game in 1956, 1958, 1959, 1961, 1962 and 1963. Huff was traded to the Washington Redskins before the start of the 1964 season and is currently a color analyst during Redskins radio telecasts.

TOM LANDRY

COACH - TEXAS - ENSHRINED IN 1990

Landry played with the Giants from 1950-55 as a defensive back and was an assistant coach with the Giants from 1954-59. The Giants 1956 Championship team not only consisted of players that would eventually find their way to the Pro Football Hall of Fame, but it also had a Hall of Fame coaching staff. Head coach Jim Lee Howell's staff had Vince Lombardi coaching the offense and Landry coaching the defense. When the Dallas Cowboys entered the league in 1960, Wellington Mara recommended that the Cowboys hire Landry as head coach. Landry coached the Cowboys from 1960 through 1988 and led Dallas to two Super Bowl victories and five NFC titles. Landry coached the Cowboys to 20 consecutive winning seasons.

GIANTS IN THE HALL OF FAME

ALPHONSE (TUFFY) LEEMANS

HALFBACK, FULLBACK - GEORGE WASHINGTON/OREGON

ENSHRINED IN 1978

Leemans played for the Giants from 1936-43. He was a second-round draft choice in the first-ever NFL draft in 1936 out of George Washington. Leemans was personally scouted by Giants co-owner Wellington Mara. Mara sent a telegram setting up a meeting with Leemans to convince him to accept a career in the NFL with the Giants. Leemans was the 1936 College Football All-Star game MVP. He led NFL rushers as a rookie in 1936 with 830 yards on 206 attempts. Leemans was named All-NFL in 1936 and 1939. An aggressive, dedicated do-everything team leader, he totaled 3,142 yards rushing, 2,324 yards passing, 442 yards receiving and threw 16 touchdown passes during his career.

VINCE LOMBARDI

COACH - FORDHAM - ENSHRINED IN 1971

Lombardi was head coach of the Green Bay Packers and the Washington Redskins after spending the 1954-58 seasons as an assistant with the Giants. Behind Lomardi's leadership running the offense, the Giants captured the League Championship in 1956. In 10 years as head coach, Lombardi had a 105-36-6 record, including five NFL titles and victories in Super Bowl I and Super Bowl II. He directed the Packers to five NFL championships in seven years (1961-62 and 65-66-67), a feat without precedent or parallel in pro football history. A guard, Lombardi played his collegiate football at Fordham, where he was one of the legendary "Seven Blocks of Granite."

STEVE OWEN

COACH - PHILLIPS UNIVERSITY - ENSHRINED IN 1966

A great defensive star of the 1920s, played for the Giants from 1926-31, plus a one-game return in 1933. He captained the 1927 team that won the National Football League title and held its foes to a record-low total of 20 points. Owen coached the Giants for 23 years. He was a co-coach with Benny Friedman in 1931, then assumed the full head coaching responsibility in 1931, a position he kept until 1953. Owens had a coaching record of 153-100-17, including eight divisional and two NFL title teams. Some of his coaching innovations include the A-formation offense, the umbrella defense and the two-platoon system. Owen went to college at Phillips University in Enid, Oklahoma. After a year coaching at his alma mater following his graduation in 1921, Owen joined the Kansas City Blues in 1924. Two years later, the team changed its name to Cowboys. With the Giants, Owens was a four-time All-NFL tackle.

GIANTS IN THE HALL OF FAME

ANDY ROBUSTELLI

DEFENSIVE END - ARNOLD COLLEGE - ENSHRINED IN 1971

Robustelli was originally drafted by the Los Angeles Rams in 1951 and played on two Rams Championship teams. In 1956, Giants co-owner Wellington Mara orchestrated a trade for Robustelli, who provided a tremendous lift in the Giants title drive that season. Robustelli, who stayed with the Giants through the 1964 season, played on a winning team in 13 of his 14 pro seasons. During his career, he played in eight NFL title games and seven Pro Bowls. He was named All-NFL seven years, two with the Rams and five with the Giants. Was acknowledged as the field leader on a Giants defense that was largely responsible for the Giants participation in six championship games and winning the 1956 league title. He also served as a defensive player-coach. Robustelli was a durable player who missed only one game in his 14-year career.

KEN STRONG

HALFBACK - NEW YORK UNIVERSITY - ENSHRINED 1967

Strong played for the Giants from 1933-35, in 1939 and from 1944-47. He excelled in every phase of the game - blocking, running, passing, punting, placekicking and defense. At the time of his retirement, Strong was the Giants all-time leading scorer with 324 points on 13 touchdowns, 35 field goals and 141 extra points. He scored 17 points to pace the Giants to the 1934 title over the Chicago Bears in the famous "Sneakers Game." Strong scored a league-high 64 points in 1933 and was All-NFL in 1934. He began his career with the Staten Island Stapletons in 1932. After four seasons, he joined the Giants. In 1936, he began a two-year stint in the rival AFL. Strong served as a placekicking specialist only when he returned to the Giants from 1944 until 1947. He scored 479 points in his career.

LAWRENCE TAYLOR

LINEBACKER - NORTH CAROLINA - ENSHRINED IN 1999

Lawrence Taylor played for the Giants from 1981 through 1993 after joining the team as a first round draft pick in 1981. He finished his 13-year career as the No. 2 all-time quarterback sack leader in the NFL with 132.5. That total does not include the 9.5 he accumulated as a rookie in 1981 before the sack was an official NFL statistic. Taylor established an NFL record by appearing in 10 consecutive Pro Bowls from 1981-1990. He was named NFC's Defensive Player of the Week nine times during his career (since that recognition was initiated in 1984) and was the conference's Defensive Player of the Month twice, in October 1986, and again in September, 1989. In 1989 he was a unanimous choice to the NFL's All-1980s team. Taylor had the finest statistical season of his career in 1986 and it earned him unanimous selection as the NFL's Most Valuable Player. That year, he had a career-high 20.5 sacks, 105 total tackles, five passes defensed and two forced fumbles. As a rookie in 1981, he set the tone for his Hall of Fame career as he earned every defensive and rookie postseason honor possible.

GIANTS IN THE HALL OF FAME

Y.A. TITTLE

QUARTERBACK - LOUISIANA ST. - ENSHRINED IN 1971

The Giants engineered one of the most profitable trades in their long history prior to the 1961 season when they sent guard Lou Cordileone to the San Francisco 49ers for Tittle. The then 35-year old Tittle promptly led the Giants to their 12th Eastern division championship. Tittle spent 11 seasons in the NFL and two seasons in the All-American Conference before coming to the Giants. In 1962, Tittle completed 200 passes in 375 attempts for 3,224 yards. His 33 touchdowns that season set an NFL record and his seven touchdown passes against the Washington Redskins tied another league mark. Tittle had his greatest year as a pro in 1963. THE 2001 GIANTS

GIANTS ALL-TIME ROSTER

This list is comprised of players who have been on the Giants' game-day active roster for at least one game. It does not mean they actually played in a game, but only that they were on the active roster on the day of game, even if they were inactive for that particular game. It also includes players who were on injured reserve and the physically unable to perform list and did not appear in a game.

MICHAEL STRAHAN'S 2001 PERFORMANCE

• Set an NFL single-season record with 22.5 sacks. The previous record of 22 sacks was set by Mark Gastineau of the Jets in 1984.

• Became the sixth player to record at least 20 sacks in a season since sacks became an official statistic in 1982. He was the first player with at least 20 sacks in a season since the late Derrick Thomas accomplished the feat for Kansas City in 1990 and the first with 21 since Chris Doleman, then with Minnesota, did it in 1989.

• The previous Giants record was held by Lawrence Taylor, who had 20.5 sacks in 1986.

• Has 84.5 career sacks, second in Giants history behind Taylor (132.5).

• Is fifth in career sacks among active players, trailing only Bruce Smith (126.0), John Randle (125.0), Trace Armstrong (99.0) and Robert Porcher (85.5).

• His 4.0 sacks at St. Louis left him a half-sack shy of the team's single-game record of 4.5 sacks by Pepper Johnson at Tampa Bay on Nov. 24, 1991.

• Tied John Abraham of the Jets for the NFL lead with six forced fumbles.

• Scored the third touchdown of his career on a 13-yard fumble recovery against Seattle on Dec. 23. He had previously scored on interception returns of 24 yards against Washington in 1998 and 44 yards at Philadelphia in 1999.

• Voted to his fourth Pro Bowl in five seasons.

• Voted NFL Defensive Player of the Year By The Associated Press.

• Named the NFL's Player of the Year by Paul Zimmerman of Sports Illustrated.

NFC Championship
Jan. 20, 1991 at
Candlestick Park (65,750)

One of the most exciting championship games in Giants history as the Big Blue blunted the Niners quest for a third straight Super Bowl on Matt Bahr's 42-yard FG at the gun... Key plays included Erik Howard's jarring tackle on Roger Craig which produced fumble, recovered by Lawrence Taylor with just 2:36 left to play, and a 30-yard run on a take punt by LB Gary Reasons which set up a FG to close the gap to 13-12 midway through the final period... Bahr booted an NFC championship record five FGs in the fray and DE Leonard Marshall won Defensive Player of the Week honors with four tackles, two QB sacks and two forced fumbles, with one of the sacks a hellacious hit on Joe Montana which knocked him out of the game with multiple injuries to say nothing of a classic headache.

Jan. 27, 1991 at Tampa Stadium (73,813)

As if the Giants' NFC title win over the 49ers was not exciting enough, this Super Bowl championship win over the Bills was every bit as thrilling and, in fact, has been called the best Super Bowl game ever... Gutty Giants bounced back from a 12-3 deficit to take a 17-12 lead after a Super Bowl record 9:29 drive in the third period, leaked for a go-ahead Bills' TD, and then won it when Matt Bahr drilled a 21-yard FG late in the game and when his counterpart, Scott Norwood of the Bills, misfired on a 47-yard attempt with four seconds left...Ottis Anderson rushed for 102 yards and won the MVP Award as the Giants also set an all-time Super Bowl record with 40:33 possession time.

Jan. 9, 1994 at Giants Stadium (75,089)

It was Giants football Dan Reeves' style, as the Giants won the toss and elected to defend the east goal, taking the wind (17 mph at kickoff) in the first quarter. The Giants scored on their first possession, a PK David Treadwell 26-yard FG, but the Vikings took a 10-3 halftime lead on a Jim McMahon-to-Cris Carter 40-yard TD pass and a PK Fuad Reveiz 36-yard FG. Giants RB Rodney Hampton exploded in the third quarter, scoring on runs of 51 and 2 yards. Hampton finished the day with 161 yards on 33 carries to tie the team postseason marks in each category. The Giants defense did not allow Minnesota to run a single play inside the Giants 20-yard line all day.

The '49ers ended the Giants' season in dominant fashion as SF scored on its first three possessions for a 16-0 lead. The Giants only score of the day came on a PK David Treadwell 25-yard FG in the second quarter, but the Giants trailed at the half, 23-3. After allowing just seven rushing TDs the entire regular season, the Giants defense watched SF RB Ricky Watters set an NFL postseason single-game record as he scored five rushing TDs. Watters rushed for 118 yards on 24 carries, while Giants RB Rodney Hampton rushed for just 12 yards. The game marked the end of Giants LB Lawrence Taylor's 13-year career as he announced his retirement following the game. The 44 points were the most ever allowed by the Giants in a postseason game.

NFC Wild Card Game
Dec. 27, 1997 at Giants Stadium (77,710)

In a stunning collapse, the Giants watched a nine-point lead evaporate in the final two minutes of the game as the season ended in a 23-22 loss to the Minnesota Vikings in a Wild Card matchup at Giants Stadium. The Giants were in front, 22-13, at the two-minute warning, but the Vikings were at the Giants 49-yard line following a 26-yard punt by P Brad Maynard. Vikings QB Randall Cunningham completed a 19-yard pass to WR Cris Carter to get the Vikings to the Giants 30-yard line with 1:38 left to play, and then he completed a 30-yard touchdown pass to WR Jake Reed to close the gap to 22-20. Minnesota executed an onside kick on the ensuing kickoff that bounced off WR Chris Calloway and into the hands of Minnesota WR Chris Walsh at the Vikings 39. Faced with a third-and-four situation, Cunningham fired a slant pass to Carter, who turned the play into a 21-yard gain to the Giants 34-yard line. A pass interference call gave the Vikings a first down at the Giants 21 with 50 seconds left. Vikings RB Robert Smith ran up the middle for 16 yards to the Giants five to set up PK Eddie Murray's game-winning 24-yard field goal with 10 seconds remaining for a 23-22 Vikings lead.

The Giants won their ninth consecutive game against Philadelphia without scoring an offensive touchdown, thanks to a dominant defensive performance. Rookie Ron Dixon gave the Giants an instant lead when he returned the opening kickoff 97 yards for a touchdown. The Giants increased their lead to 10-0 on Brad Daluiso's 37-yard field goal on the first play of the second period. Jason Sehorn made it 17-0 when he scored on a spectacular 32-yard interception return in which he fell to the ground while tipping the ball in the air, then jumping up and grabbing the ball before racing to the end zone. Dalsuio later added a 25-yard field goal. The Giants defense held Philadelphia to 186 total yards (46 on the ground) and 11 first downs.

In one of the most dominant performances ever in a championship game, the Giants raced to a 34-0 halftime lead and crushed the Vikings to advance to their first Super Bowl in 10 years. The Giants rolled up 518 total yards and 31 first downs, while the defense limited Minnesota's heralded attack to 114 yards and nine first downs. Quarterback Kerry Collins played the finest game of his career, completing 28 of 39 passes for 381 yards and five touchdowns. Ike Hilliard caught 10 passes for 155 yards and two scores. Collins' 46-yard pass to Hilliard gave the Giants a 7-0 lead just four plays into the game. After the Giants recovered a Minnesota fumble on the ensuing kickoff, Collins hit Greg Comella for another score and a 14-0 lead. In the second period, Joe Jurevcius and Hilliard caught touchdown passes and Brad Daluiso kicked a pair of field goals. Amani Toomer closed out the scoring with a 7-yard touchdown reception. Super Bowl XXXV
Jan. 28, 2000 at Raymond James Stadium (71,921)

For the first time in three Super Bowl appearances the Giants came up flat and lost to the Ravens. The Giants could not get untracked against Baltimore's highly-rated defense, gaining only 152 yards (66 on the ground) and picking up 11 first downs (2 rushing). Quarterback Kerry Collins struggled, completing only 15 of 39 passes for 112 yards and four interceptions. Brad Maynard punted a Super Bowl-record 11 times for a 38.4-yard average. The Giants defense played well, limiting the Ravens to 244 yards and 13 first downs. Baltimore took a 7-0 lead in the first period on a 38-yard pass from Trent Dilfer to Brandon Stokley. Matt Stover added a 47-yard field goal in the second period for a 10-0 halftime lead. The Ravens advantage grew to 17-0 when Duane Starks intercepted a Collins pass and returned it 49 yards for a touchdown early in the third period. The Giants responded with their only touchdown of the day, on Ron Dixon's 97-yard kickoff return. But Baltimore score immediately in the next kickoff, as Jermaine Lewis returned it 84 yards for a score and a 31-7 lead. THE GIANTS IN CHAMPIONSHIP GAMES

1927 GIANTS 13, Chicago Bears 7
Led by Steve Owen, the Giants finished with an 11-1-1 record, then stunned Red Grange, John Driscoll and the Bears 13-7 at the Polo Grounds. "It was the toughest, roughest football game I ever played in," Owen would say later. With the score tied 7-7, the Bears drove to the Giants' one-yard line, but Owen and Cal Hubbard spearheaded a goal line defense which held the Bears out of the end zone. Hinkey Haines then faked a punt from his own end zone and completed a pass to Charlie Corgan for a 58-yard gain that set up the winning score and elation for Tim Mara and the Giants.

1933 Chicago Bears 23, GIANTS 21
Jack Manders opened the scoring for the Bears before 26,000 fans in Wrigley Field, with a 16-yard field goal in the first period that ignited 60 minutes of fireworks. Manders kicked a 28-yard field goal for a 6-0 lead in the second quarter before Harry Newman hit Red Badgro for a touchdown pass and a 7-6 Giants halftime lead. Manders' third field goal regained the lead for the Bears, but Max Krause's touchdown and the conversion by Ken Strong put the Giants back in front, 14-9. A pass from Bronko Nagurski to Bill Karr gave Chicago a 16-14 lead before Strong lateraled to Newman, who then threw a touchdown pass back to Strong for a 21-16 Giant advantage late in the game. The Bears bounced back to win, however, when Nagurski's jump pass to Bill Hewitt was lateraled to Karr for the game-winning touchdown.

1934 GIANTS 30, Chicago Bears 13
With the temperature at nine degrees and the Polo Grounds covered with a sheet of ice, this became the famous "Sneakers Game" when Steve Owen provided his squad with basketball shoes to open the second half, when his club faced a 10-3 deficit. The Giants responded with four touchdowns which had a crowd of 35,059 roaring its approval. The Bears had a string of 33 games without a defeat entering the game, but fell behind 3-0 on a 38-yard FG by Ken Strong. A TD by Bronko Nagurski and a field goal by Jack Manders gave the Bears their halftime lead. After taking a 13-3 lead on another Manders' field goal, the Bears were swamped by a fourth-period Giant uprising which saw Ed Danowski throw a 28-yard TD pass to Ike Frankian and Ken Strong race 42 yards for another touchdown just moments later for a 17-13 lead. Danowski and Strong later scored again to turn the game into a rout.

1935 Detroit Lions 26, GIANTS 7
With a crowd of about 15,000 looking on, the Lions took a 13-0 lead in the first period when Leroy "Ace" Gutowsky plunged over from the 2-yard line and Earl "Dutch" Clark shook loose on a 40-yard touchdown romp. The Giants closed the gap to 13-7 in the third period when Ed Danowski connected with Ken Strong for a 42-yard touchdown pass. But the Lions' defense set up two more scores in the final period with a blocked punt and an intercepted pass. Ernie Caddel scored the first on a 4-yard slant and Buddy Parker the second on a 9-yard run.

1938 GIANTS 23, Green Bay Packers 17
The two rivals staged a thrilling game before 48,120 fans in the Polo Grounds, the largest crowd to see a championship game at that time. With the victory, the Giants became the first team to win the championship twice since the NFL split into two divisions in 1933. The Giants blocked two punts early in the game, and capitalized on both with Ward Cuff kicking a 13-yard field goal and Tuffy Leemans blasting over on a 6-yard plunge. Arnie Herber's 50-yard TD pass to Carl Mulleneaux got the Packers on the scoreboard, but Ed Danowski hit Hap Barnard for a 20-yard TD pass and a 16-7 lead. The Packers closed to 16-14 at halftime on Clark Hinkle's 6-yard TD before taking a 17-16 lead on Paul Engebretsen's third-period field goal. The Giants scored theg ame-winning touchdown on a 23-yard pass from Danowski passed to Hank Soar.

*Victory clinched the NFL Championship; there was no Championship game played at that time.

THE GIANTS IN CHAMPIONSHIP GAMES

1939 Green Bay Packers 27, GIANTS 0
The Packers earned a measure of revenge for the previous year's defeat in a game played before 32,279 fans at Milwaukee's State Fair Grounds. Cold weather and a 35-MPH wind made throwing the football a difficult exercise, but Green Bay scored quickly on a 7-yard pitch from Arnie Herber to Milt Gantenbein. Paul Engebretsen kicked a 29-yard field goal in the third period for a 10-0 lead, and the Packers wrapped it up with Joe Laws' 20-yard touchdown reception from Cecil Isbell, a 1-yard plunge by Ed Jankowski and Ernie Smith's 42-yard field goal.

1941 Chicago Bears 37, GIANTS 9
Attendance was only 13,341 at Wrigley Field, just two weeks after Pearl Harbor Day. The Giants led 6-3 in the first period on Tuffy Leemans' 31-yard pass to George Franck. But the Bears scored on a pair of field goals, then broke the game wide open in the second half on touchdowns by Norm Standlee (two, George McAfee and Ken Kavanaugh.

1944 Green Bay Packers 14, GIANTS 7
The Packers took a 14-0 lead at halftime before 46,016 at the Polo Grounds on touchdowns by Ted Fritsch – the first on a 2-yard plunge and the second on a 26-yard pass from Irv Comp with Don Hutson adding the conversions. Ward Cuff scored on a 1-yard plunge on the first play of the final period for the Giants, but the Packers hung on for the triumph.

1946 Chicago Bears 24, GIANTS 14
Sid Luckman was the big man for the Bears in this win before 58,346 at the Polo Grounds. He threw a 21-yard touchdown pass to Ken Kavanaugh to open the scoring, then ran 19 yards for a score later in the game. Dante Magnani's 19-yard pass interception accounted for the third Bear score, while the Giants scored on touchdown passes from Frank Filchock to Frank Liebel and Steve Filipowicz.

1956 GIANTS 47, Chicago Bears 7
The Giants won their first championship in 18 years by overwhelming the Bears. Fullback Mel Triplett scored early on a 17-yard run. Ben Agajanian then added a pair of field goals for a 13-0 lead. It was 34-7 at halftime after Alex Webster crashed over for a pair of touchdowns from inside the 5-yard line. Charlie Conerly threw two touchdown passes in the second half, the first a 9-yarder to Kyle Rote, the second a 14-yarder to Frank Gifford.

1958 Baltimore Colts 23, GIANTS 17 (OT)
Because of its drama and sudden-death conclusion, this is still called The Greatest Game Ever Played. With a crowd of 64,185 on hand in Yankee Stadium, the Giants led 3-0 on a 36-yard, first-period field goal by Pat Summerall. The Colts rallied for a 14-3 halftime advantage on a 2-yard run by Alan Ameche and Johnny Unitas' 15-yard scoring pass to Raymond Berry. The Giants scored in the third period on a 1-yard plunge by Mel Triplett that was set up by an 86-yard throw from Charlie Conerly to Kyle Rote, with Webster picking up Rote's fumble. The Giants went in front 17-14 on Conerly's 15-yard touchdown pass to Gifford in the fourth period. But the Colts tied the game with seven seconds to play on Steve Myrah's 13-yard FG and won in the overtime on Ameche's 1-yard plunge, the 13th play of a Colt drive.

1959 Baltimore Colts 31, GIANTS 16
A sellout crowd of 57,577 was on hand at Baltimore's Municipal Stadium for the big rematch of the divisional champions. The home crowd had plenty to cheer about early in the game Johnny Unitas hit Lenny Moore for a 60-yard touchdown pass. But the Giants surged back to stop the Colt offense. With Pat Summerall kicking three field goals (23, 26 and 23 yards), the Giants led 9-7 going into the final period. But the Colts stormed back with a furious onslaught as Unitas scored on a 4-yard run, threw a 12-yard TD pass to Jerry Richardson and Johnny Sample returned an interception for another score.

1961 Green Bay Packers 37, GIANTS 0
With a crowd of 39,029 looking on in Green Bay, Paul Hornung paced the Packers to a stunning triumph by scoring 19 points on a touchdown, three field goals and four conversions. On leave from his Army duties in Fort Riley, Kan., Hornung scored on a 6-yard slant in the second period to break a scoreless deadlock and set off a Packer splurge which accounted for 24 points in the quarter. The Giants were unable to recover from this onslaught and suffered their first shutout loss in nine seasons. Bart Starr's touchdown pass to Ron Kramer and a pair of Hornung field goals closed out the scoring in the second half.

1962 Green Bay Packers 16, GIANTS 7
Bitter cold weather at Yankee Stadium was no deterrent to 64,892 fans who turned out for the championship game. A trio of field goals by Packer guard Jerry Kramer (26, 29 and 30 yards) made the difference in a game where both defensive units turned in superlative jobs. The only Giant score was a result of defensive work when Erich Barnes blocked a Max McGee punt and reserve end Jim Collier fell on the ball in the end zone.

1963 Chicago Bears 14, Giants 10
The Bear defense turned the tide in this championship game, played in 10-degree weather in Wrigley Field. After taking an early lead on Y.A. Tittle's 14-yard touchdown pass to Frank Gifford and Don Chandler's 13-yard field goal, the Giants were then victimized by five Chicago interceptions, two of which set up the Bear scores. Larry Morris swiped the first one for a return of 61 yards, while Ed O'Bradovich's steal of a screen pass set up what turned out to be the winning score. Tittle suffered a knee injury in the first half, but gallantly returned to action in the second half, though he was hampered and hobbled by his injury.

1986 GIANTS 39, Denver Broncos 20
Led by the brilliant record-setting passing of Phil Simms, the Giants won their first Super Bowl with a 30-point second-half onslaught before 101,063 spectators at the Rose Bowl in Pasadena. Simms played the finest game ever by a Super Bowl quarterback, completing 22 of 25 passes for 268 yards and three TDs, setting an all-time NFL playoff mark by hitting 88 percent of his passes and winning the game's MVP award. Down 10-9 at halftime, the Giants rang up 24 unanswered points to take a commanding 33-10 lead in the fourth period. Simms threw touchdown pass to tight ends Zeke Mowatt and Mark Bavaro and wide receiver Phil McConkey. Linebacker Carl Banks was a star on defense with 10 solo tackles as the Giants concluded their greatest season ever with a 17-2 record.

1990 GIANTS 20, Buffalo Bills 19
The Giants won their second Super Bowl championship before 73,813 at Tampa Stadium by battling back from a 12-3 deficit in what many consider to be the best of all Super Bowls. Ahead 20-19 in the final moments of play, the Giants prevailed when Buffalo kicker Scott Norwood missed a 47-yard field goal attempt wide right in the final moments of the game. QB Jeff Hostetler, who replaced the injured Phil Simms late in the season, completed 20-for-32 passes for 222 yards and one touchdown. Veteran running back Ottis Anderson rushed for 102 yards and a touchdown and won the MVP honors. The Giants set an all-time Super Bowl record for time of possession with 40:33 in their ball-control offensive game plan.

2000 Baltimore Ravens, 34, GIANTS 7
The Giants lost for the first time in three Super Bowl appearances and saw their seven-game winning streak end before 71,921 fans at Raymond James Stadium in Tampa. The Giants endured a rough evening, falling behind 10-0 at halftime and 17-0 in the third period before scoring their only touchdown on Ron Dixon's 97-yard kickoff return. But the Ravens countered immediately with Jermaine Lewis' 84-yard kickoff return, which increased Baltimore's lead to 24-7. Quarterback Kerry Collins completed 15 of 39 passes for 114 yards and tied a Super Bowl record by throwing four interceptions. Tiki Barber led the Giants in rushing (49 yards) and receiving (six catches for 25 yards). The defense played well, limiting the Ravens to 244 yards.

GIANTS TRAINING CAMP
THE UNIVERSITY AT ALBANY

Founded in 1844 as the state's first school for the training of teachers and the oldest chartered public institution of higher education in New York, the University at Albany today is one of the top research universities in the nation. Designated as a University Center of the State University of New York, Albany has a broad mission of undergraduate and graduate education, research and public service.

Approximately 17,000 students are enrolled in eight degree-granting schools and colleges offering 220 academic programs from the bachelor's degree through the doctorate.

Through the 1980s, the University's education, research and service programs grew and matured. The Rockefeller College of Public Affairs and Policy was created in 1981 to bring together schools with an orientation toward public policy: criminal justice, public affairs, information science, and social welfare. In 1983, the New York State Writers Institute was established by Pulitzer Prize-winning author William Kennedy. Further growth took place in 1985 when the School of Public Health opened as a joint endeavor with the New York State Department of Health – the only school of its kind in the country so affiliated.

During the 1990s Albany firmly established its national reputation as a research university. A third campus was acquired – the East Campus – when The University at Albany Foundation purchased the former Sterling Laboratories, and turned it into a facility which houses health related and technological disciplines and a business incubator. In an important study titled The Rise of American Research Universities: Elites and Challengers in the Postwar Era, released in 1997, Albany was ranked 17th in research and scholarship among the nation's top public universities. With business incubators at the East Campus and the Center for Environmental Sciences and Technology Management, and the Center for Advanced thin Film Technology (CAT), the University at Albany's is a major force in the economic development of the Capital Region.

Located three miles from the center of the city of Albany, the main 585-acre campus was designed by noted architect Edward Durell Stone and completed in the 1960s. Dormitories for approximately 5,000 students are arranged in four-three story quadrangles with a twenty-story tower in each quadrangle. The Carillon Tower, placed in a sunken plaza, is the centerpiece of the academic campus.

The University's 19-sport intercollegiate athletics program for men and women upgraded to the NCAA Division I level in September 1999. Football is a member of the Northeast Conference, and competes in the I-AA classification.

COMMUNITY RELATIONS PROGRAMS

The Giants and Ronald McDonald House of NYC: A Winning Combination

The Giants and the Ronald McDonald House of New York City have enjoyed a great relationship over the last several years. Last season the Giants hosted their fifth annual "Meet the Giants" event to benefit the House. More than 300 supporters filled the Park Avenue Country Club in Manhattan to raise an amazing $150,000. To date, the Giants have raised over $400,000 for the Giants room located on the Sports Floor at the Ronald McDonald House.

Guests got the chance to talk, take photos and dine with the 2001 Giants, including the event's co-chairs, NFL single-season sack record holder Michael Strahan and former Giant, five-time Pro Bowl linebacker Jessie Armstead. Giants legend Harry Carson emceed the event, enlisting the help of Strahan and Armstead to auction off items such as tickets and travel accommodations to a Giants away game, signed jerseys and team autographed balls. Renowned sports artist Leroy Neimann also sketched a portrait of Tiki Barber on the spot to be included among the raffle items.

The Ronald McDonald House of New York City is a temporary home to families from all over the world who have traveled to the city primarily for pediatric cancer treatment available only in New York's hospitals. The House relies on the ongoing commitment of benefactors to continue its mission to provide a home-away-from-home for ill children and their families. The "Meet the Giants" event helps raise enough money each year so that families staying in the Giants Room located on the Sports Floor do not have to pay any type of fee.

In October, Tiki Barber, Dhani Jones and Jason Sehorn got their hands dirty carving pumpkins at the House's Halloween pizza party. Despite their situations, the kids still have a huge capacity for fun.

The Giants Halloween party is one of many activities the House holds during the year that aims to give relief, if only temporary, to the kids and their families. Last year's Halloween party was a kick off to the ongoing commitment that the Giants have made to the House.

Giants Walk to End Domestic Violence
Barber, Cross join in annual walk to support 'My Sister's Place'

The Giants again stepped up to the line of scrimmage to help My Sisters' Place, a Westchester County agency that is dedicated to ending domestic violence and assisting domestic violence victims and their children.

At a ceremony this past April held in conjunction with the annual walk to raise awareness about domestic violence and date abuse, the Giants presented a $20,000 check to My Sisters' Place. In addition, running back Tiki Barber and recently-retired tight end Howard Cross took part in the walk and led walkers in signing a pledge that "hands are not for hitting."

"This is the third year I went up there," Barber said. "It's a good way to raise awareness of an issue that's important in a lot of peoples' homes. Knowledge is everything, especially with domestic violence.

"I think one of the important factors is that there were a lot of kids there. They learn at an early age that abuse is not something you should tolerate and not something you should keep your mouth shut about."

Barber attends many charitable and civic events each year, but My Sisters' Place holds a special place in his consciousness.

"There was a woman there this year that had actually lived in the house (run by the agency) to get away from an abusive husband," he said. "For the people that have been directly involved, this is the most important thing in their lives. I think when we show support for something that is so paramount in their lives, it really makes them happy.

"I think this helps dispel a lot of false perceptions about athletes, that we're always violent and we take the attitude we have on the field home with us. It shows that we're normal people like everyone else, that we care about the women in our lives and our families. This was a good way to express that."

My Sisters' Place assists over 1000 women and girls each year to fashion a safer life. Core services include shelter, hotline, support groups, counseling, housing assistance, a Life Skills program, a children's program, a teen program called SAFER, and a Legal Center. In addition, the agency provides extensive education and training to over 6000 teens in the county about teen date abuse, training for doctors, nurses and mental health professionals, community education and a new Domestic Violence Institute.

The Giants help sponsor the Walk, continuing their commitment to ending domestic violence and to supporting My Sisters' Place programs. In 1997, the Giants and the Ed Block Courage Award Foundation provided key support to a recently opened My Sisters' Place Shelter, which was formally dedicated as a Giants Courage House.

Giant Rookies Trick-or-Treat during Halloween visit to Tomorrows Children's Fund at the Hackensack University Medical Center

Last Halloween, Giant rookies Jesse Palmer, Marcellus Rivers, Rich Seubert, Owen Pochman, Ross Kolodziej, DeWayne Patmon, Jonathan Carter and Will Peterson visited children undergoing cancer treatment at Tomorrows Children's Fund Institute, located in the Don Imus-WFAN Pediatric Center at Hackensack University Medical Center.

The players visited both those children who are receiving outpatient treatment, as well as those being hospitalized for cancer and serious blood disorders. "These kids aren't going to have a chance to go trick-or-treating, and so we decided instead to go and hand out candy to the patients and wish them a Happy Halloween," Palmer said. "It really lit up the faces of the children. It was a great day for both the kids and us."

Tomorrows Children's Fund is a non-profit, privately funded organization that is created and governed by parents of children with cancer and blood disorders. TCF addresses the critical needs of families facing the anguish of these disease by providing state of the art medical care, a warm, healthy and loving atmosphere for children in treatment, a wide range of services to relieve emotional and financial stress, and funding for research.

New York Giants players have a long tradition of donating their time to local hospitals, realizing that a few hours of their time can bring smiles to the faces of young children facing adversity hard to imagine. Since the inception of the Tomorrows Children's Fund in 1987, the Giants organization and its players have visited children there many times during each year.

Giants Chairman Bob Tisch and Running Back Tiki Barber are Principals for a Day

Giants Chairman Bob Tisch and runing back Tiki Barber were Principals for a Day at Benjamin Cardozo High School this past April. Their visit was part of the city-wide program bringing corporate executives and concerned citizens into the schools to learn about students and current conditions in the educational system. Mr. Tisch also had another connection with the school. His non-profit organization, Take the Field, which was established to rebuild the athletic facilities of the New York City public high schools which are in disrepair, is in the process of building a $3.5 million athletic field at Cardozo. Mr. Tisch and Tiki visited the facility, which will accommodate football, baseball, soccer, track, handball and tennis. The field was scheduled to be completed this past summer.

Giants Help Kick Off Readings in the Parks

Giants cornerbacks Will Allen and Will Peterson helped the City Parks Foundation and Verizon SuperPages kick off the fifth season of Readings in the Parks in Central Park this past May. Verizon Information Services donated $30,000 to fund the series of spring and summer readings, which bring together parents and children to promote literacy throughout New York City's five boroughs. The two Wills captivated PS 87 second-graders with a spirited reading of Janell Cannon's Stellaluna in the historic Swedish Cottage Marionette Theater. The event was the first of more than 50 readings that the City Parks Foundation will host this summer. More than 10,000 children are expected to attend this year's program, making Readings in the Parks the most extensive children's literacy program in New York City.

Giants make Halloween visit to Ronald McDonald House of NYC

This past April, safety Sam Garnes rTiki Barber, Dhani Jones and Jason Sehorn got their hands dirty carving pumpkins at the Ronald McDonald House Halloween pizza party. The Ronald McDonald House of New York City is a temporary home to families from all over the world who have traveled to the city primarily for pediatric cancer treatment available only in New York's hospitals. It provides a warm, low-cost housing alternative to parents and siblings already overwhelmed by the stress of illness and the financial challenge of receiving lifesaving treatment. Despite their situations, the kids still have a huge capacity for fun.

The Giants Halloween party is one of many activities the House holds during the year that aims to give relief, if only temporary, to the kids and their families. This year's Halloween party was a kick off to the ongoing commitment that the Giants have made to the House. One month later, the Giants hosted their "Fifth Annual Evening with the New York Giants". The event was held at the Park Avenue Country Club in Manhattan and raised over $1500,000.

FOOTBALL CLASSES A BIG HIT

No need to challenge – the call is clear...Football 101 and 201 scored big!

The Giants hosted their fourth annual Football 101 class last October, drawing a record 400 women from the metropolitan area.

The night kicked off with wine tasting provided by Gallo, one of the event's sponsors, and dinner. Then it was time to get down to business!

The NFL developed the club-level programs to educate women – who make up 47 percent of the NFL's fan base – on the fundamentals of football. Many of the women who participated in this year's program were already experts on the basics of the game.

"These women know more about football than I do," exclaimed Dhani Jones, who took part in his second Football 101 as one of the event's emcees.

Along with Jones, the other "professors" of the class included Howard Cross, Lomas Brown, Shaun Williams, Rodney Williams, Jason Garrett, Joe Montgomery, Amani Toomer, and Giants legends Ottis Anderson and Joe Morris. Pat St. John of CBS-FM, another one of the event's sponsors, also emceed.

Among the topics discussed were the history of the game, offense, defense, special teams, penalties, downs, official signals, and a week in the life of an NFL player during the season. The players then shared some of their football superstitions and helpful hints on enjoying a game.

During the class, there were also a string of time-outs called to raffle off footballs autographed by the "professors."

The women actively participated in the lessons by screaming out the answers to the questions posed by the players. There was also time at the end for the women to ask some of their own questions.

The guys filled their lessons with some incredible humor, and each player managed to find time during their turn to remind the crowd how old Lomas is.

Nicole won the grand prize raffle item of two tickets to the Giants game on December 15 vs. the Arizona Cardinals.

The program concluded with the women getting a chance to tour the field and the locker room.

Four-year veterans Bobby and Emily Vail said coming to Football 101 is a different experience every year. "I think after four years, we are getting a bit too advanced for Football 101," daughter Emily said.

A month later in November the Giants took their workshops for women to another level by introducing Football 201.

Just under 200 women participated in Football 201, where women got a more in-depth look at the game of football. The workshop was held on the field inside the Giants practice bubble and participants were shown the more physical aspects of what it takes to be a New York Giants team member.

Kerry Collins, Joe Jurevicius, Dhani Jones, Dusty Zeigler, Morten Anderson and former Giant Harry Carson were in attendance to teach this class.

Harry Carson got the evening started with warm-up and stretching. The women were then broken into groups of twenty and sent to a station where a player described and demonstrated some of the skills needed to play their position. Participants also experienced some the same drills used in team practice sessions as they rotated through the stations. The night concluded with 22 women lining up and executing four plays.

Proceeds from both 101 and 201 went to My Sister's Place/Giants Courage House, a domestic violence shelter located in Westchester, New York.

GIANTS HONOR COMMUNITY HEROES
Team joins NFL Charities in presenting Community Quarterback Award

Madeline Kerek of the Hudson Cradle Infant Home in Jersey City, N.J. was the Giants 2001 Community Quarterback Award winner.

The Community Quarterback Award, now in its third year of existence, is an annual commitment by the Giants and NFL Charities to honor outstanding volunteers in all 31 markets where NFL teams reside. Funded by NFL Charities, the Giants Community Quarterback Award recognizes youth and community volunteers who have demonstrated leadership, dedication and commitment to bettering the community in which they live.

Nominees may only serve in a volunteer capacity and may not receive any compensation, monetary or otherwise, for their work.

"The NFL created the Community Quarterback Award two years ago to recognize the people committed to improving the communities in which we live," said Beth Colleton, the NFL's Director of Community Affairs. "These people can't be compensated for their work. They do it because they love it and feel it's important."

Among 85 volunteers considered by the Giants, 10 finalists were selected. Each of the 10 finalists received $1,000 for his or her organization. Two runners up - Tanya Perry of the Fresh Youth Initiatives in New York and Leslie Cross of the Hackensack University Medical Center - each received $2,500 for the not-for-profit organization for which they volunteer their time. Kerek received $10,000 for the Hudson Cradle Infant Home.

Recently retired tight end Howard Cross and linebacker Dhani Jones spoke at the Giants Stadium luncheon where the honorees received their awards.

Kerek, 67, volunteers at Hudson Cradle, a home for prenatal drug exposed, HIV exposed, and abused/neglected babies. She does a remarkable job providing babies with comfort, care and developmental activities. She tends to the babies from the moment she arrives in the morning until she leaves. Never missing a day that she has promised to be there, her commitment to Hudson Cradle and the babies has enabled the infants to thrive. Many times, Kerek has sat and held a heroin-addicted baby for an entire day as it goes through the withdrawal process. Her patience and compassion for these young children is essential for their survival. She accepts the fact that the children have medical histories and social histories that, due to confidentiality, cannot be shared. Her enthusiasm, popularity, commitment, willingness, attitude and, most of all, her unselfish love for the infants sets her apart and makes her truly deserving of this recognition.

"It gives me great joy to go to Hudson Cradle," Kerek said. "Nobody knows this, but sometimes one of the babies looks up at me and says, `thank you Madeline for coming, we love you.'"

Perry has logged more than 630 community service hours. In 1999, as a Neighborhood Service Leader, she put to use her acute awareness of the struggles and conflicts connected to teen sexuality and pregnancy prevention by developing Baby Care Givers. The mission is to help teenage mothers by providing them with both practical support and educational services. Baby Care Givers works to re-connect teenage mothers with teens in similar situations, as well as connect them with a greater teen population.

Cross, 91, has been a volunteer at the Hackensack University Medical Center since December, 1999. Volunteering was suggested to him after the death of his wife. To date he has given over 1,268 hours of service. Cross is one of the most reliable volunteers, staying at the center almost every day for eight hours. His primary responsibility is working in the administrative offices. Cross also works in Health Information Systems and fills out birth certificates in the nursery.

The other finalists were: Carmen Della Bella of the Double "H" Hole in the Woods Ranch in Lake Luzerne, N.Y; James McGuire of Covenant House in New York; Scott Bisgier of Abbott House in Irvington, N.Y.; Mike Oshinsky of the Long Island Jewish Medical Center, New Hyde Park, N.Y.; Andy Lennert of the Monmouth Council, Boy Scouts of America, Oakhurst, N.Y.; Thomas Acquafredda of the United Hospital Medical Center, Port Chester, N.Y.; and Dr. Dan Fermaglich of Roots & Wings in Morristown, N.J.

Cross told the luncheon crowd that volunteers contribute and succeed not only because of their ability, but also their availability.

"I was available to play in games and in practices, and that made me more valuable to my team," said Cross, who missed only one game in his 13-year career. "The same is true when it comes to working in the community. If you're available, you can help."

Jones, who volunteers at many events, emphasized how much he enjoys community service.

"It's about being there," Jones said. "Some of us love to be there. I love to be there. It's part of what I signed up for as a professional athlete."

THE GIANTS FOUNDATION

MISSION STATEMENT
The Giants believe that the youth of today represent our community's future. The Giants Foundation was created to act as a network for financial and social support for disadvantaged youth and their families throughout the greater metropolitan area. All grant recipients must be 501 (c) 3 charitable organizations involved in areas such as education, health, youth-related services or civic affairs. The Giants Foundation was founded by the New York Giants Football Club.

FOUNDATION BOARD
Wellington Mara (president and Co-Chief Executive Officer for the Giants), Preston Robert Tisch (Chairman and Co-Chief Executive Officer for the Giants), John K. Mara (Executive Vice President and General Counsel for the Giants) and Jonathan Tisch (Treasurer for the Giants).

FUND RAISING – The Giants raise funds though their annual golf outing and through the sale of the Giants calendars, yearbooks and other related fundraising efforts.

GIANTS GOLF CLASSIC

May 28, 2002 marked the Eleventh Annual Giants Golf Classic benefiting the Giants Foundation. Through the Giants Foundation, local charitable organizations are the benefactors of the New York Giants Golf Classic. Friends of the New York Giants, along with past and present Giants players, gathered to participate in a shotgun start format.

After 18 holes of golf on the Canoe Brook Country Club, golfers and guests attended a dinner and live auction. Live auction items included trips to the Super Bowl, a father-son trip with the team to Washington on a chartered Giants train and Giants season tickets.

The day was filled with laughs, good food, teamwork and a bit of competitiveness. Friendships were formed, stories were told and money was raised to assist Giants Foundation in administering grants to local charities.

It is a great day that many people look forward to each year.

GIANTS ACADEMY

The New York Giants joined forces with Communities in Schools to open Giants Academy in September, 1994. The school, which is located in Newark began as a small project involving 6th, 7th and 8th grade students who were designated as "at risk" students. The program was initially housed in the Louise A. Spencer School and has since taken over the Newark Boys and Girls Club.

Communities in Schools is a national leader in promoting and facilitating the coordinated delivery of existing health, social, education and other support services at educational sites for the benefit of at-risk youth and their families. These services are delivered in a personal and accountable manner.

The mission of New Jersey Communities in Schools is to develop public and private partnerships that connect appropriate human services with at-risk youth in addressing such critical issues as school attendance, literacy, job preparedness, teen pregnancy, drug and alcohol abuse, teen suicide and school violence.

Giants Academy now encompasses kindergarten through 8th grade students. The program has been extremely successful not only in assisting the students with social issues but academically as well. A number of students have been awarded grants to attend private high schools on the east coast.

New York Giants players stop by the school from time to time to encourage the children to continue their hard work and commitment to live a drug and alcohol free life.

Students from Giants Academy also visit the Giants during Training Camp at the University at Albany each summer. This gives the children an opportunity to leave the city for a day and visit a college campus. It also gives them an inside look at what the players must endure to prepare for the season.

THE JIM FASSEL FOUNDATION

June 11, 2002 - What began as a chance meeting at Ground Zero culminated today in the Jim Fassel Foundation presenting a check for financial support to a woman with 10 children whose husband died in the Sept. 11 terrorist attacks at the World Trade Center.

Well, perhaps culminated is an incorrect word. Because Fassel, who has also helped fill emotional voids for Jean Palombo and her children, pledges to continue helping the family.

Fassel and Richard Cohen, president of Ermenegildo Zegna, who is active in the Fassel Foundation, greeted the Palombo family at Engine Company 219/Ladder Company 105 in Brooklyn - nine months to the day after the attacks. The units lost seven firefighters at the World Trade Center, including Frank Palombo, who was 41. He had been a New York City firefighter since 1979.

The Palombo's 10 children - eight boys and two girls - range in age from 19 months to 16 years.

Fassel did not want to publicize the amount of money given to the family, but he did say it was equal to Frank Palombo's annual salary.

"We're going to offer monetary support to the family, which they will obviously need as they move forward," Fassel said. "But Frank was a very forceful person in that family. Their father is gone. I can't replace their father. Nobody can. But to let them know we care and give them something special that maybe somebody else doesn't have - like coming to practice, or standing on the sideline with me at a game or coming into the locker room and meeting the players - those types of things you do for the young people.

"And we try to interact with them about their responsibilities, as a father figure, about what they have to do at home. I started by telling them, 'I want to know what your grades are.' Jean said, 'We might have to bring you over to the house for a little discipline once in a while.' I said I'd be happy to do that. I want to check on what they're going to do this summer. They all have a lot of activities. I just want to be in contact with them, have them at practice, have them to the games."

Fassel emphasized his commitment to the Palombo family will continue.

"We're going to do this for years to come," he said.

Parallel responses by Fassel in the aftermath of the attacks led to today's donation. After Sept. 11, Fassel established his foundation, which has as its mission to make certain that the families of the officers of the Fire Department of New York, the New York Police Department and the Port Authority Police department will not be forgotten. The foundation hopes to build a fund that the families can use as a resource in the years ahead.

In addition to establishing the foundation, Fassel visited Ground Zero on Sept. 17 to offer support to the rescue workers. He was entering the site when a group of firefighters from Ladder Company 105 were emerging from the rubble to take a much-needed break. Fassel posed for photos with the brave firefighters and in the course of speaking with them he learned about Palombo, a well-liked, hard-working man who had left behind a wife and 10 children.
